In the group of perennials we might plant are alyssum, arabis or rockcress, dictamus or gas plant, shasta and painted daisies, columbines and delphinium. Among the biennials—the plants that make a growth the first year, bloom the second and then die — are Canterbury bells, English daisy, forget-me-not, foxglove, hollyhock and sweet William.

Provide shade from bright sun for the tender seedlings. Build a frame to support a shade made from laths spaced about ⅝ of an inch apart. After the seedlings show their first true leaves, they can take more sunlight and the shade should be used only during the hottest part of the day — around noon.

This winter protect the plants with several inches of marsh hay or coarse straw.

University Tests Prove Glass Jars Ideal for Use in Home and Locker Freezing

3-Year Study Reveals Important Advantages of Home Canning Jars in Freezing Fruits, Vegetables, Meat and Poultry

What may come as a surprise and amount to a new discovery to many people, is seen in the striking advantages of glass jars for the home freezing of foods, as established by recent findings at the University of Massachusetts (Massachusetts Agricultural Experiment Station, Bulletin No. 465, June, 1952).*

While glass jars have long been familiar to home canners the country over, and have been used in the freezing of foods for several years, the fact that they are equally well suited for the latter purpose has not been widely known. These findings establish a number of essential characteristics and properties for a satisfactory package for home and locker frozen foods, all of which are afforded by regular home canning glass jars.

Glass containers have the advantage of being moisture vapor-proof, which prevents freezer burn or the drying of foods. They are likewise leak-proof, preventing dripping of syrup. Glass containers have the further value of protecting foods from absorbing and giving off flavors and odors. They do not impart flavor or odor to the food, nor do they absorb grease, oil or water. Still another advantage of glass containers is that they are durable and may be re-used many times as they generally are in home canning. Then, too, unlike other types of containers and packaging, glass is always clean, never messy, does not stick to foods and contents are easily identified even without a label. All these advantages add up to a perfect container for the freezing of foods in home freezer cabinets, freezer lockers and in the freezer compartments of refrigerators.

NO BREAKAGE

Some people have questioned the use of glass jars for freezing because of a supposed tendency to break at low temperatures. Not so, says the University's Bulletin. "Technically speaking, there is no available evidence to the effect that the breakage of such containers is increased at freezing temperatures."

Economy and convenience are other advantages to be realized by the use of glass containers for freezing foods. This is particularly true, it is pointed out, of home canners who are beginning to employ freezing as a means of food preservation either entirely or as a supplementary method.

ATLAS JARS

ATLAS Jars have been used for more than fifty years by home canners. These jars have all the advantages noted in the University Bulletin.

In addition, ATLAS Jars are double tested for strength and individually inspected for clearness and perfect workmanship. They come in all sizes and, with ATLAS Air Lids, make a perfect package for freezing as well as canning.

FREE INSTRUCTIONS, RECIPES

Complete instructions for successful home freezing, as well as helpful hints and special recipes are available in a profusely illustrated folder which may be obtained free upon request to Hazel Atlas Glass Company, Dept. D, Wheeling, West Virginia.

The Building of the Soo

By C. E. Hellquist

By C. E. Hellquist

Shortly after the railroad was built through here north-bound freight one dark night stopped with the caboose on the Red Lake bridge. One of the brakemen, Art (Tarzan) Shaw, stepped off the caboose steps into the river. He was a good swimmer so he made it to shore, but the fact that he swam the wrong way to get to shore irritated him and he quit his job. After a time however, he came back and continued working until he retired. Mr. Shaw was one of the reliable oldtimers who always did his work well. Many residents of our city will remember Mr. Shaw and his family living here a number of years ago.

After the Winnipeg line was completed there were rumors that the Soo was intending to build from Thief River Falls to Kenmare, North Dakota. Many tall stories were told around the cracker barrels in the country stores about surveying crews seen skulking in the brush here and there and the rumors were well founded.

Several tentative lines were surveyed west before the Wheat Line location was finally accepted by the Soo officials. Once approved the progress was rapid.

A large yard was located about three miles northwest of Thief River Falls, on the east forty of the John Kellberg farm, where material of all description was stock-piled for the building of the line during the summer of 1905. Carl Solberg was the watchman at the material yard.

There was no terminal facilities at Thief River Falls at that time and when trains were tied up at this point the locomotives were taken care of by an engine watchman and were turned on a wye, there being no turntable.

During the summer of 1905 a train yard and a six-track round house were constructed and a turntable installed. The round house contained a small machine shop and a boiler room. Sam Sheppard was the master mechanic when the round house was opened for service and he was relieved by George H. Horton. Cassius Sholes was appointed round house foreman and Hugh Jones was the first car repair track foreman.

When the round house was completed and ready for service John Skog arrived as the first machinist and Iver Holum was the first boiler maker. Mr. Skog states that he and the boilermaker did their work outside the first days because the area between the pit tracks in the round house was not filled. Mr. Skog, now retired, is living in the city. I have just been informed too that Cassius Sholes, now past 95, is still living, his home being at Sparta, Wisconsin.

The grading for the Wheat Line got under way early in the spring of 1905, although much rain delayed the work. The sand ridges were cut through and the sand hauled out on the swamps in small rail cars that were pushed over the rails by horses to the end of the fill to be dumped. Many farmers were hired to haul material for the various construction camps and as the roads were few, and mere trails in many places, the material toters did not have an easy job. However the grading of the line progressed satisfactorily and the laying of the track was started early in the summer of 1905.

50 [illegible] AGO

In its issue of August 25, 1904, the Thief River Falls News reported Soo Line building progress in several ways. The track laying crew had reached Red Lake county, "—and it will not be long before they reach Thief River Falls. It is quite probable that a night crew will be put to work in a few days and the work rushed day and night until the road is completed to Emerson."

"Forced a Crossing"

Here in Thief River Falls the grade was under construction and the News, ever hopeful for a fight, reported a skirmish in the mill yard.

"Soo contractors on Monday night tore up a portion of the Great Northern tracks in the yards of the Thief River Falls Lumber Company and forced a crossing," the News stated. "It is said that the Great Northern has intended to make the Soo put in a crossing at this point, which is at the end of the spur track in the lumber company's yard and extends over the Soo right-of-way a few feet. The Great Northern has had a man stationed at the end of the track for a few weeks past and he forbid the Soo people disturbing the track but was not obeyed. The Soo owns the right-of-way and the Great Northern has had possession. Whether or not this is the end of the trouble is not known but both roads are watching each other's movements very closely."

Workers Were Scarce

Editor Eastman seemed happy to report a Soo-Great Northern skirmish on another front.

"During the past few months the Soo contractors have had a considerable amount of amusement over the discomfiture of the Great Northern," he chuckled. "The cause of the hilarity was the fact that the Great Northern had been shipping from one to five carloads of men a week to Thief River Falls for railroad work. On the arrival of the men about half of them would start to work for the Soo and the balance would start to work for the Great Northern or for farmers. It seems that the Soo contractors could not secure transportation of men from Duluth or the Twin Cities and therefore sent spotters to talk to the men that the Great Northern shipped in to the county and got a share of them. The result has been very satisfactory for the Soo Line but has caused all manner of trouble to the Great Northern."

G. N. Depot Argument

In the meantime the Great Northern was winning the argument over securing right-of-way for a down-town location for its depot. The ordinance that would vacate a street for this purpose was given it second reading by a unanimous vote of the council in spite of the objections of residents of that area. The position of the company was stated by their right-of-way agent who told the council,

"—that unless the ordinance was passed as introduced it would be of no benefit to the railroad company and that the depot would not be moved down town unless all of the streets asked for were given. He also stated that if any damage was done to adjoining property that the railroad company would pay this and guarantee the city against and damage suit in the matter."

"The council is up against a rather tough proposition in this matter and is sure to cause the displeasure of a number of citizens no matter which action it takes," commented editor Eastman. "There is no question but they all would be very much pleased to see the depot removed to a more central portion of the city. Whether or not the property damaged for residence purposes will be enhanced in value as business property is a debatable question. It is to be hoped that the matter can be settled up in an agreeable manner and the depot removed to a more central part of the city."

Poaching Ended Forever

The News reminded its readers that the hunting season would open "next Thursday," September 1, and predicted a good season. "A large number of local sports are making arrangements to go out on that day and do some hunting," the News reported. "It is expected more will go out on the first day this year than ever before, and this is accounted for by the fact that few, if any, have been doing any hunting before the opening of the season. The hunting around here is going to be excellent this fall."

This prediction proved to be right and the good hunting was confirmed the following week. Credit was given to game warden Joseph DuChamp who "—has been much in the field and has kept close watch over the game. The sentiment for the protection of the game is also strong and it looks as if there never again would be much illegal shooting around here."

Not all of Mr. Eastman's predictions came true of course.

Robertson Lbr. Co. to Build 6 Houses on Maple Avenue S.

Dwellings Will Be of Varied Designs, Selling at $11,000 to $14,000

The Robertson Lumber Company has completed arrangements to build six dwellings in Merriam addition, construction to be started this fall, J. L. Petterson, manager of the local yard, announced this week.

Hugh S. Robertson, vice president of the company, who has completed negotiations for the purchase of the building sites and other details of the program, states that the company has purchased 14 lots facing each other on Maple av. south, and expressed the hope that the six houses to be built at once will be the start on a more extensive operation.

The houses to be built will be of varied design, in both two and three bedroom sizes, to sell for from $11,000 to $14,000. One of the first six will be built according to the "Weyerhaeuser Home of the Month" plans.

Stanton Dahlen, one of the promoters of Merriam addition, states that a new area, south of the section of blocks that are now nearly all sold, is being cleared and will be developed for building sites next year. He states that more new homes have already been built in Thief River Falls this year than in any recent year and that with those yet to be started, this will be an outstanding year for the construction of dwellings.

500 Railroad Men's Caps and Bonnets Sold First 2 Days

Fiftieth Anniversary Headgear Offered Again on Friday and Saturday

Ladies' bonnets and railroad men's white caps have been a common sight on Thief River Falls streets this week. They are being worn by boosters of the celebration September 24-26 of the 50th anniversary of the coming of the Soo Line to this city.

Sponsored by the local Business and Professional Women's club, the sale got off to a brisk start last Friday and Saturday, with Mrs. Myrtle Lendobeja, president, reporting that approximately 500 bonnets and caps have already been disposed of.

Mrs. Ed Hamerski, wife of the superintendent of the Winnipeg division of the Soo Line here, claims the distinction of having been the first to purchase one of the bonnets.

Mrs. Lendobeja stated that the headgear would again be sold Friday afternoon and evening and Saturday afternoon at four stands in the downtown business district.

A supply of only 500 of the bonnets had been secured, and the celebration committee suggests that women wishing to procure a bonnet should do so this week-end while they are still available.

Water Plant Hits New Peak in July

Produces over 1,000,000 Gal. Daily for Four Days

Due to the hot weather and lack of rain in July, necessitating continued sprinkling of lawns and gardens, the municipal water treatment plant in Thief River Falls set a new mark of handling more than a million gallons of water a day on four days, this being the largest volume the plant has ever handled.

Supt. Harold M. Johnson reported that use of water for the month aggregated 25,879,300 gallons, an increase of 8,841,300 gallons over the total of 17,038,000 gallons handled in July, 1953.

The biggest day's volume this year, Johnson said, was 1,184,700 gallons on July 19, more than double the 496,000 gallons handled on the corresponding day a year ago.

Johnson added that while the local treatment plant has a rated capacity of 2,000,000 gallons per day, it is handicapped at present by lack of adequate water storage facilities.

Ranum Co. to Build Warehouse for Hartz Stores

L. B. Hartz announced this week that the Ranum Construction Co. will handle the erection of the huge new warehouse to be built by L. B. Hartz Stores, Inc., on a site west of its present warehouse.

Pouring of footings for the structure, measuring 102 by 322 feet in dimensions, is expected to get under way within a few days.

Work has been started on preparation of a truck parking lot adjoining the projected building.

Rapid progress is now being made in the laying of ceramic tile at the new Northwestern Hospital addition. All tile is now placed on the third, or medical floor, and the second, or maternity floor. Tile work is now being carried on in the surgical area.

A sub-contracting firm from Red Lake Falls is now landscaping the area around the building. All construction shacks have been moved to the driveway area behind the hospital building. Considerable work has been done by the local light and power engineer in removing the "A" frame and tying in power into the new building.

Laying of floor tile on the third floor this week will complete all construction work on that floor. The freight elevator is now in operation and moving of new equipment to this area will begin next week. A sewing room for drapery work is being set up in one of the new ward rooms.

Two carloads of new patient room furniture has been received from the Simmons Company of Kenosha, Wisconsin. Approximately another carload of other equipment has also been received. Hospital authorities announce that all new equipment has been received sufficiently ahead of time so that the building, when complete, can go into immediate operation.

It is expected that the new hospital laundry will be in operation within two weeks. All new kitchen equipment furnished by the Alesen Company of Minneapolis has been installed and it will be possible to transfer the dietary activities of the hospital to the new building without any interruption of service.

Room numbers and names of rooms will soon be placed by the painting contractor. Attempt will be made to make these clear for the convenience for the public. At the time of the opening for public inspection it is planned to have placards made which will explain the purpose of such areas.

Forty-two men are now employed on construction.

White Way Lights Further Delayed by Wrong Fittings

Luminaires Finally Reach City But Do Not Fit Light Standards

The installation of the new white way street lighting system in the Thief River Falls business district, originally scheduled for completion by today, will be further delayed as the result of an error in filling the order for the luminaires or light fixtures.

When the luminaires arrived Monday after a lengthy delay, it was discovered that they did not fit the light standards as a result of being equipped with the wrong type of fittings.

John M. Schroeder, head of the Grand Forks firm bearing his name which is executing the contract, Tuesday morning wired the General Electric Co. plant in the east which made the luminaires to rush the correct fittings to this city by air express.

Sponsors of the 50th anniversary celebration opening here September 24 are hoping there will be no further delays to prevent the new lighting system being put into use by that date.

Civic & Commerce Jaycees Arrange Outdoor Meeting

Departing from their usual schedule, members of the Civic and Commerce association will hold an outdoor meeting in the tourist park Thursday evening at 6 o'clock, holding a joint session with the Junior Chamber of Commerce, J. M. Roche, secretary of the senior group, announced today. He added that the usual program of reports and talks will be dispensed with.

Plans for Fa[illegible] Celebration Taking Shape

Secretary of Interior Will Be Inducted into Red Lake Indian Band

The General Council of the Red Lake band of Chippewa Indians has voted to confer honorary membership in the band upon Douglas McKay, secretary of the interior, and Glenn L. Emmons, commissioner of Indian affairs, at ceremonies to be held here during the 50th anniversary celebration on Saturday, September 25.

Mr. McKay has accepted the invitation of the celebration committee to speak on that occasion and will deliver an address preceding the pageant that afternoon. A special reception committee including city and county officials is arranging for the adoption ceremony.

Harold Searles, director of the pageant, will be here Friday and Saturday of next week for further preliminary arrangements preceding the pageant rehearsals which will start the week following. Committees are active in the selection of the cast and the assembly of the many properties that will be used in the six episodes of the historic spectacle to be presented in the tourist park.

Company F. officials state the National Guard unit will assume responsibility for traffic control and parking and that the Armory will be available as headquarters for the pageant and the make-up of the members of the cast. The Armory will also be used for the celebration dances to be presented Friday and Saturday nights.

Invitations are going out this week to more than 100 retired and veteran Soo Line railroad men who have worked out of here to attend the celebration. They will be honor guests at the banquet to be presented Friday night and also will be given places of honor in the Saturday night parade.

Gilbertson Store Sold to Froseths

William Gilbertsons Have Operated Store 18 years

Mr. and Mrs. Ole Froseth late last week took over the ownership of the Gilbertson Cash Store on Eighth st. and Main av. from Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gilbertson, who have operated the store the past 18 years, and who are leaving to establish their residence in Moorhead.

Froseth, who stated that the store will be operated under the name of the Froseth Food Market, added that a remodeling project is now under way and that lines of merchandise and facilities will be expanded.

Mr. and Mrs. Froseth formerly operated a grocery at the east end of the First st. bridge for six years.

Over $2,000 Is Collected to Date for Polio

Additional Returns Still Being Awaited from Rural Districts

Slightly more than $2,000 has been collected to date in the Emergency March of Dimes in Pennington county, it was announced this week by Mrs. Robert Robarge, president of the Woman's club, which sponsored the campaign, and Mrs. Rudolph Sagmoen, co-chairman.

While the drive was scheduled to end yesterday, the hope was expressed that numerous additional responses will yet come in from the 1,270 letters mailed to rural residents of the county, only $216 having been received from that source up to Monday.

Also still to be heard from were the villages of Goodridge and St. Hilaire. Sponsors believe that when all returns are in, Pennington county residents will have contributed approximately $2,500, which they figure would be a satisfactory total.

With the record total of more than $1,500 collected in the recent Mothers March on Polio in Thief River Falls, Mrs. Robarge and Mrs. Sagmoen expressed the hope that rural residents would do as well proportionately, thereby aiding in replenishing the treasury of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, which is without funds to continue its program of patient care and other activities in behalf of polio sufferers.

24 New Teachers on T. R. Falls Faculty of More Than 80 Members

Public schools in Thief River Falls and 21 Pennington county rural schools will resume operations next Tuesday, September 7, following the long summer recess.

St. Bernard's school in this city will conduct registration of pupils Tuesday, with classes in grades 1 to 8 scheduled to commence next Wednesday, September 8.

The public school faculty in this city comprises more than 80 members, including 11 new high school teachers and 13 new grade teachers, Supt. W. G. Claffy stated that a general meeting of the entire faculty will be held Friday morning of this week.

Latest instructors to be appointed include Miss Ruth Thron of West St. Paul, elementary school music and high school chorus; Miss Mary McLaughlin, practical nurses training; and Mrs. Madeline Robarge, fifth grade.

Rotary Told About Opening of School

K. Ostby, H. S. Principal, Sees Larger Enrollment

Kalmer Ostby, Lincoln high school principal, discussed the opening of the fall term of school scheduled for next Tuesday in a talk given at the Rotary club luncheon meeting Monday noon in the Elks club rooms.

Ostby said that a substantially larger enrollment than a year ago is anticipated in the junior-senior high school, pointing out that 147 have registered for the seventh grade, 25 more than last year.

He added that about 200 are expected to enroll in the ninth grade of freshman class, which will be divided into six sections instead of five as was the case a year ago. The senior class this year, Ostby stated, will number between 140 and 145, up slightly from 1953.

Crookston Sugar Plant Dedication Is Held Saturday

$9,500,000 Refinery Has Capacity of 100,000,000 Pounds of Sugar a Year

Minnesota took a long stride forward Saturday to a top position in the nation's sugar production.

With dedication of the new 9½-million-dollar American Crystal Sugar Co. plant at Crookston, J. A. Summerton, company president, said the state probably will move into fourth place among beet sugar producers.

"When American Crystal came to Minnesota in 1925, it ranked 17th," he said. "This year, with the 100 million pound capacity of the Crookston plant, we will produce about 300 million pounds of sugar in the state."

Sen. Edward J. Thye stressed the importance of such plants to Minnesota farmers.

"We lose too much if we are not able to process our own crops at home," he said.

This year, the Red river valley will grow most of the 100,000 acres of sugar beets processed in American Crystal's Minnesota plants in Crookston, Moorhead, East Grand Forks and Chaska.

To Minnesota and North Dakota the sugar beet industry means a three-million-dollar annual payroll and 15 to 17½ million dollars in beet payments to farmers. The company's four plants represent a 25 million dollar investment.

The new 1,100-foot long Crookston plant will employ about 400 people with an annual payroll of $800,000. It was built by Fegles Construction Co., Minneapolis.

Sugar beets, a crop that in recent years has been expanding rapidly in the valley that once knew only wheat, grow almost to the doors of the huge refinery.

After the visitors had looked at the plant and its machines, they heard John M. Budd, president of the Great Northern railway, declare that the valley is one of the two most economical beet growing areas in the nation.

In the meantime the twenty or thirty fans at last night's meeting were requested to generate interest among the local hockey nthusiasts so that a representative group will be on hand for next week's gathering.

Post-operative Recovery Room in New Hospital Here

Marks Important Advance in Care of Patients, Says Administrator Peterson

A post-operative recovery room is one of the phases of the new Northwestern Hospital. Hospital services performed in this room represent one of the important advances in care of patients that began during the second World War, according to Harold W. Peterson, administrator. It originated partly as the result of the shortage of nursing personnel during the war.

The new post-operative recovery room will be equipped with special type stretchers, piped-in oxygen, blood pressure apparatus, blood transfusion and intravenous solution equipment, and suction apparatus. Its location is directly adjacent to the major operating rooms and patients will be taken care of there by a specially trained nurse until they have recovered from Anesthesia and are ready for transfer back to their regular rooms.

The position of the nurse in the post-operative room is quite technical and of critical importance Peterson said. The nurse must keep constant check on the color and blood pressure of the patient. Blood pressures must be taken as often as once every five minutes in order that patient's condition may be kept under constant vigilance.

The nurse will also administer blood transfusions and I. V. solutions under the supervision of the doctor. She must know when, and how to administer special medications as ordered during this period. She must keep constant watch on the patients for purposes of administration of oxygen, and know when and how to use suction apparatus as the condition of the patient may indicate. She must take special care at the time the patient is coming out of anesthesia in order to prevent improper dislodgement of intra-venous needles.

The new post-operative recovery room is equipped to care for four patients at one time.

Planning For Shelterbelt

Large supplies of young trees and easy availability of tree-planting machines make farm shelterbelt planning a lot easier this year.

Of top importance in establishing a tree planting is well-prepared ground. According to Marvin Smith, extension forester at the University of Minnesota, right now with fall plowing under way is the right time to think about shelterbelt ground preparation.

Shelterbelt ground should be plowed soon—the earlier the better, he says. Spring plowing of such ground usually is disappointing on two counts: few young trees survive and those that live grow very slowly.

Good ground preparation assures high survival of young trees and faster, more uniform growth of the protective shelterbelt.

Smith says that this year more trees were planted on Minnesota farms than in any other year in the state's history.

You will again be able to order trees through the County Agent's office this winter. Come in and pick up several good bulletins on farm wind breaks from my office.

"Trick" Pullets Into Laying

You may have to practice a little friendly trickery to get pullets to lay in the nests instead of on the floor. They may not dislike the kind of nests you provide, but if left to make their own choice they may lay somewhere else.

Here are a few general principles from Cora Cooke, Extension poultry specialist at the University of Minnesota to guide you:

1. Have nests of the same type as those in the laying house available to pullets on range.

2. Use only one type of nest in the house. If you have two kinds of nests the pullets will use only one type—no matter how crowded. They are "conformists" and each pullet wants a nest just like her sister's.

3. Choose a style of nest that will make your own work easier.

4. Set the nests low to start with and raise them as the pullets get used to using them.

5. If pullets tend to lay in corners, set the nests there and move them a little every few days toward the spot where you want them.

6. If you use wire-bottomed nests, start out with a layer of shavings or other nesting material on the wire. Remove a little at a time, until pullets will use nests with no litter at all. It takes time, but it will pay later on in time saved and in avoiding dirty eggs.

Freezing, Canning Sweet Corn

Here are some tips for you for preserving your sweet corn for winter freezing or canning. When preparing corn for canning or freezing, cut through the stem end at the point of the lowest layer of kernels. Cut off the tip about ¼" from the end of the cob. This opens up all the husks so they can be removed quickly, and the silks may be removed easily. A stiff new vegetable brush will help to remove the silk too. For safety's sake, when cutting corn turn the cut away from you. When freezing corn, there are a few points to remember:

1. Be very speedy in taking the corn from the garden to the freezer. If you must delay, keep the corn in the refrigerator.

2. Be sure to gather your corn at the right stage of maturity. If it is too immature, it will be watery when cooked. If too mature, it will be doughy. Corn can usually be considered at the proper stage of maturity if milk spurts out freely when the thumbnail is pressed into a kernel.

3. Use a recommended variety for freezing — Golden Freezer & Cream O'Gold are especially good.

4. Scald properly. Use a large kettle (12-15 quart capacity). Place corn in wire basket or large cheesecloth bag and submerge in boiling water. Keep kettle covered during blanching and have the heat on high. Always count the time from the second the corn is put into the boiling water. Whole kernel corn should be scalded 4½ minutes before cutting. Corn on the cob—scald 24 midget ears or 14 small ears for 8 minutes; 10 medium to large ears 11 minutes.

5. Chill thoroughly. Chill in cold running or iced water for at least the same length of time given for scalding.

6. To cook frozen corn for eating, partially thaw it first, allow from 6 to 8 minutes for 4 to 6 ears, counting the time from the second the corn is put into boiling water.

When canning corn, process in your pressure canner at 10 lbs. pressure, not 15 pounds. Process pints for 55 minutes, quarts for 85 minutes. As a matter of interest, all vegetables should be processed at 10 pounds rather than 15. Flavor is better, and there is not the tendency for vegetables to be overcooked.

Cut corn from cob deeply enough to remove most of kernel. Do not scrape cob. To each quart of corn, add 1 pint boiling water. Heat to boiling and pack, leaving ½" headspace.

Cream style corn and corn-on-the-cob are not recommended for canning, as they are too difficult to process.

Only Quality Tile Qualifies

If you're thinking of installing drainage tile, remember that the tile you buy must be "standard quality" to make you eligible for ACP drainage payments. Your ASC committeeman or county agent knows the standards. The new ASC ruling is part of a program by tile makers, the SCS, University of Minnesota agricultural engineers, and the ASC to see that only high-quality tile goes into the ground.

Fence Off Woodlot

It's wise to fence off all your woodlot trees so that no cows can get in but so the trees overhang a part of the pasture to give shade. So says Rodney A. Briggs, extension agronomist at the University. You can get only a tenth as good pasture in woods as out on good ground, free of trees and brush, he says. It's one of those things a fellow has to choose — a good woodlot can't be both pasture and woodlot.

Farmer Likes Contours On Land

One southwestern Minnesota farmer is very pleased with his first experience in contour farming. He is Maurice Rosenberg in the Nobles County Soil Conservation District. Soil washing and loss has bothered him and his farm for several years. But last spring, with the help of Harold Dineen of the SCS, he laid out and planted 57 acres of corn on the contour. Now, he feels pretty secure about those 57 acres — certain that they'll be safe from erosion and prying winds.

Forage Diseases Costly

Diseases of forage grasses and legumes lose more than a billion dollars — that's $1,000,000,000 — a year for farmers and ranchers — not to mention disappointing thousands of hungry dairy cows, steers, sheep and pigs. But University and USDA researchers hope to whittle this down in future years with new resistant varieties and improved growing practices.

Argyle Takes Thieves in RRV Loop Playoffs

A pair of home runs over the left field barrier by Argyle's stocky right-handed swinging Louie Erickson, plus the five-hit pitching of big Jim Henkes, gave the Maroons an 8 to 5 win over the Thieves in the final game of the Red River Valley league playoffs here on Monday night.

The Thieves' management played the game under protest, contending that righthander Jim Henkes, who had been drafted from the Red Lake Falls Lakers as a replacement for the injured Bill Beck, was an ineligible player. The protest is to be acted upon at a league meeting in Warren on Wednesday night.

In Monday's final, the Thieves, on a walk, a double by Joey Poole, and an infield out, gained a 2 to 0 1st inning lead; and the Thieves increased that margin to 3 to 0 in the top of the 3rd frame when Poole, after tripling to right-center, scored on a wild pitch. Argyle moved into the scoring column in the last half of the 3rd inning when a walk to Ray Tollefson, a single to Dick Palmer, a wild pitch, and Henkes solid smash into left field, plated two runs.

The game was even-stephen in the 5th when Gordy Olson, hit by pitched ball, stole second, advanced to third on a passed ball, and scored on Erickson's safety into left field.

Sid Vraa, on the mound for the Thieves struck out thirteen batsmen during the first five innings of play.

Leading off for Argyle in the 7th inning, Erickson tagged the first ball pitched for a towering home run into left field, giving the Maroons a 4 to 3 lead. A walk, a wild pitch, an error, and a passed ball scored Palmer with Argyle's second run of the inning. In the 8th, with one out, Jerry Labine was hit by pitched ball, Olson doubled to left-center, and, after Tollefson had popped to second base, Erickson unloaded the bases with a drive over the left-centerfield fence.

The Thieves made a threat to get back into the game in the 9th inning when, with one out, Poole walked and Shorty Perkins singled. Olson muffed Leslie's hard drive, with Poole and Perkins scoring on the miscue. Olson ended the game by grabbing Hoppe's bid for hit, giving Argyle an 8 to 5 win.

In a thrilling pitcher duel on Sunday night, between righthanders Dick Palmer of Argyle and Gene Leslie of Thief River Falls, Argyle, on a pair of runs in the 9th inning, edged out the Thieves, 3 to 2.

Argyle opened the scoring in the first inning when Olson walked. Tollefson lined a single into right field, but Olson was nipped at third base on throw from Swede Lund to Skjod. Erickson doubled to left field, with Tollefson stopping at third. Palmer grounded out, short to first, with the runners holding. While on the mound, Leslie dropped the ball, and on the balk call, Tollefson came in with a score. Elseth struck out to end the inning.

Palmer, showing fine form, hurled a two-hit shutout until the eighth inning. With one out, Lund was nicked by a pitched ball. Williamson beat out a slow roller between first and second, and when Elseth made a wild throw to first base, Williamson moved on to second and Lund to third. A "squeeze play" went awry, with Sid Vraa missing the bunt, but on the run-down between third and home on Lund, Labine hit Lund with the ball, and the Thieves' manager came in with the locals first tally. Poole's ground ball to second base scored Williamson, and the Thieves led, 2 to 1.

Argyle came back in the last half of the 9th inning to pull out the game. Don Ethier was hit by a pitched ball; Olson struck out, with Ethier stealing second base. Tollefson was out on a fly to left field. Erickson gained a life when Skjod bobbled a ground ball along the third base line, with Ethier moving into third base. After Erickson had trotted down to second base, Palmer, a good hitter, poled a curved-ball down the left-field foul line, scoring Ethier with the tying run and Erickson with the winning run.

BJORKMAN'S

The End of The Road

The Army, in the person of Dickie Palmer; Red Lake Falls, in the person of pitcher Jim Henkes; and an assortment of players from Argyle, all combined to give the Maroons an 8 to 5 win over the Thieves in the league playoff finals here Monday night. Argyle, as a result of their win, will represent the league in the regional tourney at Ada this week, and will meet Ada in a first round game on Friday night.

The Thieves players were quite bitter about Monday night's game, and the management has filed a protest with the league officials, contending that Argyle's use of Jim Henkes was improper. Regardless of the decision that will be reached at the protest meeting at Warren on Wednesday night, the outcome will be unfortunate.

Several weeks ago Argyle's Bill Beck, a shortstop turned pitcher, fractured an ankle, and the Argyle management requested a battery replacement for Beck. It appears that the league directors agreed to such a replacement. In the meantime, Palmer, who had been Argyle's "regular" hurler before he entered the Army, came home on leave and became eligible to play with the Maroons. Palmer hurled for Argyle in the preliminary playoff games, and went on to defeat Red Lake Falls in the semi-finals, and following that game it was reported that Palmer was due to report back to Fort Lewis as his leave had expired. With Palmer about to return to camp, Argyle contacted Jim Henkes as to his availability for the finals against the Thieves.

Meanwhile the Argyle management, reaching the proper channels, secured a three-day extension for Palmer, and the strong-armed righthander was a vital factor in pitching and hitting the Maroons to a 3 to 2 victory over the Thieves on Sunday night. On Monday night, when righthander Henkes won the "big" one, Palmer played second base.

From here it appears that Argyle was technically right, but morally wrong; and the Thieves have the satisfaction of knowing that they played the game according to the rules.

The best ball player in the league is our Joey Poole, and we would like to see Argyle, or the league directors, take that honor away from the Thieves!

Good Luck, Ken

Local football fans, on Friday night, will be listening to, and some will perhaps be watching, the All-Star football game being played in the Parade Stadium between the North and the South. Of particular interest to the fans up here will be the play of Red Lake Falls' Ken Bombardier, who will be running in the backfield for the North squad.

Ken, a fine all-round performer, being a capable track man and a first-rate baseball player, has been given rave notices by the Twin City papers; and with that powerful North line in front of him, and with such backfield assistants as Detroit Lakes' Rich Borstad, Ken should give the fans a treat. Ken, who is dedicated athlete and credit to Red Lake Falls, the 31st district, and the eighth region, may go a long way as a U of Minn. performer.

One for the Book

Dr. Myron Johnson, the golfing dentist, made local golf club history on Sunday afternoon when, playing in the club's mixed four-ball tournament, he scored a hole-in-one on the 4th hole. What makes Doc's feat so historic is the fact that it marks the second time this season that he has scored a hole-in-one on the 4th hole.

About a month or so ago, while competing in the golf league matches, Dr. Johnson banged in an ace on that hole; and now on Sunday, playing with Mrs. Johnson and Bob and Mrs. Wurst, he scored another ace.

News Item

It's newsworthy to report that Frank Rinkel's Northern Chevrolet team, for the second time this season, won a trap shoot match. In the league matches last Thursday afternoon, the Chevvies, with Walt Jung scoring a 25, Roy Jorgenson, a 24, Dr. Ed Bratrud a 23, Jim Metcalf a 22, and Frank Rinkel a 21, posted a creditable 115 total.

Oh yes, that team that the Chevvies beat last week was the Times squad.

Incidentally, it appears that Stan Wilson's Wilson Bros. squad has taken charge of the trap shoot league standings. Stan's boys came up with another fine total, a 122, as they defeated the Pharmacy, and that win gives the Wilson's a three-point lead for the league title with with but two matches remaining on the schedule.

Prowler Grid Team to Open Play Sept. 10

Coach Ralph Skjod's Squad Includes Eight Returning Lettermen

Prowler football coach Ralph Skjod, and his assistants Joe Mrkonich, Al Adams, Dick Edlund, and Swede Lund, has been busy sending the blue-and-gold gridiron hopefuls through two-a-day practice session in preparation for the schedule-opening game on September 10th, when the Warren Ponies play here.

From last year's regional champion Prowler squad, coach Skjod has eight lettermen returning—Sid Vraa, Pete Froehle, Jimmy Sauve, Louie Wedul, Mark Bjorkman, Dick Burtness, Jack Quesnell, and Ronnie Reese—for another year of competition. Bill Frahm, a letterman end last year, will not see action because of a back injury, and there is even some doubt as to whether or not Frahm will be available for basketball.

The biggest problem confronting coach Skjod and his aides will be the rebuilding of the Prowler backfield. Losing such capable backfielders as Lyle Guttu, Bobby Helgeland, Ray Berg, Dick Kruse, and Darryl Durgin by graduation, takes quite a chunk out of the Prowlers' ground-gaining ability. In an effort to bolster the backfield, coach Skjod has been experimenting with Mark Bjorkman, Pete Froehle, and Jim Sauve as backfield mates to quarterback Sid Vraa. Bjorkman, Froehle, and Sauve were guards last year, but on their appearances to date, the trio should generate considerable running power for the Prowler attack.

State Safety Chief Asks Stiffer Policy on Traffic Offenses

Tightening of the law enforcement net around all drivers whose actions are responsible for traffic accidents, and increased imposition of jail sentences against persons convicted of driving after suspension or revocation of their driver's licenses were two of several measures urged today in a letter sent by Earl M. Larimer, Minnesota's new highway safety director, to some 440 municipal judges and justices of peace throughout Minnesota.

Primarily Mr. Larimer's letter solicited from the courts themselves as to how the state's stepped-up highway safety program can be improved and how better and more uniform co-operation between the courts and the state and local traffic enforcement officers can be attained. The highway safety director particularly urged all judges and justices of peace to help the accentuated statewide campaign to invoke the law which authorizes suspensions of from 90 days to one year of the license of any motorist whose negligence has been responsible in causing any accident resulting in death, personal injury or serious property damage.

"It is our intention to invoke this section of the law in every case where a driver is convicted of a violation of traffic laws whenever it appears that such violation contributed as a cause of an accident," Mr. Larimer said. He explained that in order to carry out this policy it will be necessary for the courts to advise the drivers license office of all cases where an accident has resulted from a traffic law violation. This can be done by noting the word "accident" on the certificate of conviction. The drivers license office will then check the accident reports to determine the seriousness of the accident and the proper length of time for which the individual's drivers license will be suspended.

In his letter Mr. Larimer said that, because of the frequency of cases in which drivers have been detected operating motor vehicles after their licenses had been revoked or suspended, "I sincerely recommend that jail sentences, which are discretionary with the court be used more frequently in cases where a person is charged with driving after suspension or revocation."

"Such violations are a deliberate violation of the law," he added. "Revocation and suspension constitutes one of the most potent weapons that can be used in traffic control. However, it is of little meaning unless the persons who have lost the privilege of driving are actually stopped from operating motor vehicles on public highways. The most effective way ... is the imposition of sufficiently heavy sentences to discourage people from driving after their licenses have been revoked or suspended."

Mr. Larimer assured the judges and justices of peace of the complete cooperation of his office and the drivers license bureau in supplying full information on the driving record of any motorist brought into their courts, in order that the judges may have this record information available before passing sentence on any traffic law violator.

At "Plowville"

REP. CLIFFORD HOPE

Rep. Hope, chairman of the House agriculture committee, will deliver the principal address Saturday, Sept. 18, at "Plowville '54". It was announced today by Program Chairman Ray Blegen.

The speech is expected to be one of the highlights of the Minnesota soil conservation field days and championship plowing matches, which will be held Sept. 17 and 18 in Lincoln county under the sponsorship of the state soil conservation districts and WCCO Radio.

Hope, Republican congressman from Kansas, has been a member of the House since 1927.

Forest Products In State in 1953 Hit $162 Million

The Forest Industries Information committee has this week published a chart at its offices in Duluth which shows the estimated value of forest products harvested in Minnesota in 1953 was over $162,000,000.

According to John V. Hoene, executive secretary of the committee, this chart shows eleven primary forest products and three types of by-products furnished by Minnesota forests.

The production of pulpwood and its manufacture into paper, structural and flexible insulation products accounts for the largest value.

Mr. Hoene stated that his survey shows aspen (or Poplar), the former "weed" tree, is the leading pulpwood species in Minnesota — representing over 43 per cent of all pulpwood used. Use of spruce has gone down to 20 per cent where once it was the principal species.

7 Deaths Forecast in State Traffic over Labor Day

Safety Council Urges Drivers to Be Careful During Weekend Holiday

A. V. Rohweder, president of the Minnesota Safety Council, today predicted that seven lives will be lost over the four-day Labor day weekend.

"Although the council's estimate for this four-day period is seven traffic fatalities," he said, "the final and exact figure, as shown on Tuesday, September 7th, will be the result of each individual's effort to avoid accidents and his desire to be counted among the living the day after the holiday."

Rohweder based his holiday toll prediction on the records compiled by motorists on Minnesota's streets and highways during the Labor Day weekend deaths in the past two years, with eight being killed in 1953 and six in 1952. If he had chosen to base it on the deaths reported over the Labor Day weekends of the past five years, his "guesstimate" would have risen to 10 fatalities.

The two-year experience was chosen by Rohweder because he believes that the present downward trend in traffic accidents and deaths will continue. With but four days remaining in the month of August when he made his holiday fatality prediction, there were some 40 fewer deaths than during all of last August, when a total of 77 deaths were charged against Minnesota motorists.

"Despite the disastrous record during the first five months of this year," he concluded, "when 37 more deaths were reported than during the comparable period in 1953, we have been able to gradually stem the tide of destruction and I believe we are beginning to more than 'hold the line.' And, I sincerely hope that last September's terrible toll of 90 deaths—the highest for any one month in the state's history—will not only be cut in half, but will be reduced by at least two-thirds or more. It can be done if every motorist will take it upon himself to drive with courtesy, caution and old-fashioned common sense."

Truth cannot be contaminated by error.—Mary Baker Eddy.

School's Open-Drive Carefully, Is Advice

School's Open - Drive Carefully!

That is the warning which will be sounded this week as thousands of Minnesota boys and girls return to their classrooms after the summer vacation.

Local police departments and American Legion Posts throughout the state are joining hands with the Minnesota State Automobile Association (AAA) in a special appeal to motorists to use extra caution while driving in school zones.

In Minnesota's major cities, colorful AAA posters will be placed at strategic locations to carry the message as a constant reminder to all who drive.

E. Ray Cory, Austin, president of the State Automobile Association and national chairman of AAA's traffic and safety committee, explained the purpose of the campaign. Said he:

"This campaign is designed to serve as a reminder to all drivers of the need for extra caution at this time of year. With the opening of school, thousands of Minnesota youngsters will be returning to their classrooms."

"Many of them will be in traffic for the first time," he added, "and they are unaware of the traffic hazards they face. Motorists should regard every child as a danger signal, and always drive at a speed which will permit a sudden stop. No driver wants to be responsible for a tragedy involving an enthusiastic, playful child who didn't think about traffic hazards. It's up to the motorist to think for him, too."

State highway patrolman Sgt. George J. Kaisersatt, who is department chairman for the American Legion's safety activities, listed four driving rules which he said every driver should memorize at this time of the year:

1) Don't try to pass other cars on crowded streets;
2) Obey all stop signs;
3) Watch out for youngsters playing in the streets or in the vicinity of playgrounds;
4) Avoid speeding.

"School safety patrols and police will be on the job at many bad traffic corners," Kaisersatt said, "but all crossings cannot be protected this way. Many children will face traffic at unprotected places ... so be on the lookout. School is open and the best advice for any motorist is to drive carefully."

No. Central May Continue Service to Border City

North Central Airlines this week applied for authority to continue its service to International Falls until the Civil Aeronautics Board reaches a decision on the company's application for year-round service to the city.

The airline now serves International Falls on a seasonal basis only, from June 1 through Sept. 30.

It appears unlikely, however, that a CAB decision on the year-round application, filed in February, will be reached before Sept. 30, date on which the service is scheduled to end. North Central, therefore, asks temporary exemption from provisions of its present authority, thus permitting continuation of the service beyond Sept. 30 and until CAB decision is issued. Public hearings on the application were concluded last spring in Washington, D. C.

North Central Airlines operates three round-trip flights daily between International Falls and Minneapolis-St. Paul via Hibbing and Duluth, with twice-daily connecting service at Duluth for Chicago and intermediate cities. The third round-trip flight was added Aug. 1 as the result of increased passenger business, up 55 per cent over last season.

Christmas Seal Workers to Meet

District Meeting Set for Crookston Sept. 14

Eight counties will be represented at Crookston, Tuesday, September 14, when Christmas Seal chairmen and persons actively interested in tuberculosis control programs meet in the afternoon and evening for a district workshop.

Main purpose of district meetings now being organized in 16 Minnesota communities is to give people an opportunity to discuss their own area TB and health problems and to talk over their own program plans, according to the announcement from state Christmas Seal headquarters.

Counties included in this area are Norman, Mahnomen, Polk, Red Lake, Pennington, Marshall, Roseau and Kittson. Workshop sessions begin at 1:15 p. m. at Sunnyrest sanatorium.

Tuberculosis accreditation of Polk county — a county which has earned recognition for progress in reducing TB death and infection rates — will be one feature of the 6:30 dinner meeting in the Red and Gold room of the Crookston hotel.

Officers of the Pennington County Tuberculosis and Health association are: Dr. Baldwin Borreson, superintendent of the Oakland Park sanatorium, president; Mrs. L. B. Hartz, vice-president, and Mrs. George Erikson, secretary.

Job had patience, but he never had to wait for a tireless talker to emerge from the telephone booth.

Statewide Rally of DFL Sept. 25

Expect 10,000 to Attend Meeting in Minneapolis

The wives of Democratic-Farmer-Labor Party indorsed candidates on the state and national tickets will put on their niftiest aprons on September 25 and help 150 members of the AFL Cooks and Waiters Union from all over Minnesota serve baked beans and wieners to more than 10,000 persons, setting a new Minnesota record for feeding the largest number of persons at one time.

The occasion will be the party's big statewide "bean feed," the Rally for Victory, in the Minneapolis Auditorium, launching the final drive of the party to put its nominees over the top in November.

People who have purchased tickets are urged by Mrs. Dorothy Jacobson, chairman of the slogan committee, to dream up their slogans and get them in to the party headquarters, 10 South 3rd Street in Minneapolis, so they will not miss out on their chance to win the 1954 Plymouth Club Sedan, or the television set or the portable radio, which are offered as prizes.

3,000 Red Lake Indians Will Be Paid $50 Each

President Eisenhower signed into law Friday a bill authorizing a $50-per-capita payment to 3,000 members of the Red Lake band of Chippewa Indians in Minnesota.

The money will come out of tribal funds on deposit with the treasury. The measure was sponsored by Rep. Harold C. Hagen.

CAMPAIGN UNDER WAY

While secretary of agriculture Ezra Benson was telling a Virginia audience Saturday that the Eisenhower administration "was the real friend of the farmer, despite what you will hear from the political fox holes in the next two months." Adlai Stevenson was telling a South Dakota audience that the new farm bill was a "cynical and total breach of promise, which apparently is no longer a political offense, at least among the Republicans."

Well that gives us a pretty fair start for a calm consideration of the questions involved in this campaign issue.

In this argument the Republican administration is clearly at a disadvantage in the farm states of the central west. The present condition of agriculture in these states does not justify bragging about the record.

For the nation as a whole there is prosperity—1954 probably will go down in the record as one of the better years, for business generally. For the farmers, however, it is not one of the better years.

Farm products prices are off. The farmer is getting a smaller share of the consumer's food dollar. Farming costs remain high. Such a combination of facts is justifiable cause for unhappiness. Right or wrong, these are the considerations that influence voters.

It may be that, as Ezra Benson maintains, getting rid of the depressing surpluses is a necessary preliminary to a balanced production and a fair market for the farmer. As viewed by the side-line spectator, the program may appear to be realistic and sound. But the Republicans will be at a disadvantage in talking hopefully to farmers about some future prosperity. The Democrats, speaking about the present painful facts, tell a far more convincing and an easier-to-listen-to story.

GOOD PLACE NOT TO BE HASTY

Chinese Reds have talked big about their intention to invade Formosa, the "mainland" island home of the Chinese Nationalists. Considering the difficulties involved in an operation of this kind there appears to be little reason for alarm over such threats.

Formosa is a large, heavily populated and well defended island lying a couple of hundred miles off the Chinese coast. While it no doubt could be destroyed and conquered, the cost of such a conquest, especially in terms of retaliatory attacks, would probably be far greater than it's worth.

But between China and Formosa are many small islands now held by the Nationalists, some of them within just a few miles of the Chinese coast. Many of these probably could be taken by the Chinese Reds with comparative ease and they probably are not of sufficient importance to the Nationalists to justify their defense. And there is sharp difference of opinion as to how far we should go in attempting to hold a line against further Red advances in an area where such a line cannot be easily maintained or strongly justified.

It is easy to understand why the Reds have chosen the Formosa area as the scene for the next act in the war of either words or bombs. India and other Free Asiatic nations apparently are not going to make an issue over the fate of a few islands long the coast that probably should be considered as logical outposts of the mainland forces. We probably would appear ridiculous if we were to make a serious attempt to defend them.

All of which points up the need for a more specific definition of our intentions in dealing with the Chinese Reds. Better we move cautiously in protecting the interests of Free Asia until we know how far the Free nations of Asia will go in defending themselves.

Probably a line should be drawn which the Reds would not be permitted to cross without a fight, but it would not be wise for us alone to draw that line. By proceeding alone we probably would find ourselves alone in trying to defend it.

If a line is to be drawn it should be drawn by the United Nations, acting with the consent and the assured support of the Free nations of Asia. Established in this way, it is doubtful that such a line would be attacked, and if it were, by united effort it probably could be defended.

DAKOTA OIL

North Dakota will have a market for at least a part of its oil shortly, when a refinery, now nearing completion at Mandan, goes into production. Up to this time North Dakota oil has been shipped to distant refineries for processing. Now, processed at home, the product will have a transportation advantage in the local market. And up to this time oil has not brought prosperity to North Dakota. It's discovery came at a time when the industry was going into a period of over-production. The industry has had a surplus problem somewhat similar to that of agriculture. Prices have been maintained only by production and marketing curbs.

Because of this condition within the industry the development in North Dakota has been retarded and it probably will not enjoy a normal expansion until the general condition improves and demand catches up with supply.

In the meantime prospecting continues and test wells are being drilled in the search for new fields. While oil is of little value in the Dakota field at the present time, the industry evidently is optimistic about future needs. The fact that oil and gas are there in proven quantities gives assurance of future development, strengthening the position not only of our neighboring state but the entire area that is sure to benefit as fuels become more easily available.

As the harvest progresses the extent of the damage to the small grain crop by rust and worms becomes more apparent. There is some exceptionally good crop in the area but much of it is exceptionally poor and the average is not good. The poor average result is made more discouraging by the fact that up to a few weeks ago the prospect was so exceptionally good. It is easier to be content with little when what you get is more than you expected.

Looking Backward

1924—THIRTY YEARS AGO.

When the fire department was fighting a blaze in the millyard, the fire horses rolled down the bank into the river, but escaped uninjured.—Bert G. Walker, resident of the city 29 years, died in St. Cloud at the age of 59. — Rev. S. L. Tallakson of Grand Forks was installed as pastor of Trinity church here.—Miss Maude Johnson arrived to resume her duties as music supervisor in the local schools.

1934—TWENTY YEARS AGO

S. P. Orwoll was elected commander of the local American Legion post, and George Baken was named adjutant.—The L. B. Hartz stores bakery will open for business Sept. 10 on East Third st.—Richard G. Mabey left to attend a convention in Chicago.—Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Pederson returned from a vacation trip to Wisconsin.

1944—TEN YEARS AGO

Mr. and Mrs. Hans Anton were honored by a large group of friends at their golden wedding anniversary in St. John's Lutheran Church.—Stanley Mortenson was sworn in Aug. 25 as a member of the Minnesota bar.—Memorial services were held in Trinity Church for Cpl. Miloy Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Nelson who succumbed to war wounds in France August 2.—Sgt. Arthur Ona, previously listed as missing in action in Italy, was reported dead by the War department.—Dr. H. H. Hedemark won the city golf championship, defeating defending champion H. O. Chommie.

"UNPUBLICIZED" FAIR ATTRACTIONS

Opportunity to meet and chat with the internationally popular Eugenie Anderson and the lovely Mrs. Charles Mayo of the famous Rochester United Nations "family team;" to see some of the world's great art treasures; to get better acquainted with a great international newspaper—maybe you haven't heard much about these unusual State Fair features, but they're there. In the pleasantly rejuvenated quarters under the mammoth grandstand, Ten priceless paintings from the widely acclaimed permanent collection of Minneapolis Institute of Arts supplement eight other art exhibits in the lovely new mezzanine gallery — including Gainsborough, Renoir, and other French, English, and American old masters. The bright newspaper beacon in the world gloom is The Christian Science Monitor with an attractive, inviting booth. Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Mayo will be at No. 27, the United Nations booth, reassuringly gay with the colorful flags of 60 peace-loving nations. Culture and humanitarianism obviously are not least among countless attractions at the Minnesota State Fair, ending September 6.

These are words of WD-45 Tractor owners.

From coast to coast, farmers who own the WD-45 are praising the performance of this great new tractor. And there's no doubt about the reasons for such high praise — it's performance . . . and price!

The new POWER-CRATER engine gives you the power you've always wanted. This mighty power plant plus AUTOMATIC TRACTION BOOSTER lets the WD-45 pull three bottoms almost effortlessly through fields often considered impossible to plow.

And conveniences, like SNAP-COUPLER, POWER-SHIFT wheels, and TWO-CLUTCH POWER CONTROL add up to a tractor that's unmatched in features and performance . . .

One demonstration will prove it. And the price will save you hundreds of dollars. Let us show you.

Another "First" for Custom Motors"

FOR THE FIRST TIME: Through the installation of a new "Tru-Up," designed and made by the Hunter Engineering Company of St. Louis, provides this community with a new service that has been available only in a few metropolitan areas up to now.

See the New Hunter Tru-up at Custom Motors

Question: WHAT IS A HUNTER TRU-UP?
Answer: A device designed to correct an "out of round" condition in a tire.

Question: WHAT IS AN OUT OF ROUND TIRE?
Answer: When a new tire leaves the factory it is perfectly round. It has to be because the mould is perfectly round. In some cases, however, due to uneven stretching of the fabric the tire will develop high spots or take on the shape of an egg. This can happen at any time but usually develops after the tire has been driven 2,000 miles or more.

Question: ARE MANY TIRES OUT OF ROUND?
Answer: The percentage of out of round tires is low but there are still a large number in use today.

Question: CAN AN OUT OF ROUND TIRE BE BALANCED?
Answer: Yes, but no matter how well it is balanced it will still cause the car to vibrate. Picture an egg rolling end over end.

Question: CAN THIS CONDITION BE CORRECTED OR MUST THE TIRE BE DISCARDED?
Answer: By the use of a Hunter Tru-Up an egg shaped tire can be made perfectly round again. In so doing the life of the tire will be increased on an average of 30%, your car will be safer and the whole front end system will wear longer.

Question: DOES A TIRE THAT HAS BEEN TRUED UP NEED TO BE BALANCED?
Answer: Yes, just as any tire should be balanced. If the tire is perfectly round and properly balanced it is bound to roll smoothly.

Question: HOW OFTEN DOES A TIRE HAVE TO BE TRUED UP?
Answer: Once. A tire will not again get out of round as by the time this condition develops the fabric has taken its permanent form. If the tires are round, balanced and the alignment on the car correct there is no reason for excessive tire wear.

3,500,000 Farmers Go on Social Security Rolls Jan. 1st, 1955

Starting next January 1, more than 3½ million farmers will go onto social security rolls.

The new social security law, passed in final hours of the 83rd congress after a long senate-house deadlock, will mean retirement benefits— and increased paperwork—for most of the nation's self-employed farmers.

Here's how it will work:

The farmer will figure, on the basis of his income tax return, whether he is covered by the new law.

If his gross income for the year is less than $400, he will not be in the social security plan. If his gross income is between $400 and $799, but his net income is under $400, he will not be covered.

If his gross income is between $400 and $799, and his net income is in the same range, he must pay a 3 per cent tax on that income into the social security fund.

If his gross income is over $800 but less than $1,800, and reports his income tax on a cash basis, he can pay his tax either on the basis of his net income or on the basis of half his gross income.

This alternative provision was written into the bill to help farmers whose net incomes are so low they pay no income tax, and thus would not ordinarily figure out the net figure. Such farmers, however, usually can figure their gross income without too much trouble.

Thus if a farmer has a gross of $1,700, and a net of, say, $1,000, he can pay his 3 per cent self-employment tax either on half his gross ($850) or on his net ($1,000).

He would pay $25.50 on the first basis, $30 on the second—but of course he gets more benefit credit if he pays the higher figure.

If a farmer has a gross annual income over $1,800, he must pay his self-employment tax on either net income or, if the net is less than $900, on $900.

Thus a farmer grossing $2,000 and netting $1,000 would pay his 3 per cent tax on the $1,000 net, making his payment $30.

But a farmer grossing $2,000 and netting only $800 would pay his tax on the basis of $900, making his payment $27.

A farmer who is a sharecropper—renting another man's land and paying rent in the form of part of his crop—is considered self-employed under the law, and would have to figure his tax and pay it.

Farm laborers are covered under the new law of they earn more than $100 from any one employer in a calendar year. Congressmen figure this will bring about two million more farmhands under social security.

The paperwork involved in these arrangements won't have to be tackled right away. First payments by farmers under the new law will be made in April 1956 at the same time that 1955 income taxes are paid. Coverage begins Jan. 1, however, so where new records are going to be necessary farmers will have to start keeping them.

Asia and Africa, with more than 60 per cent of the world's population, produce only a little more than 30 per cent of the value of the world's agricultural output.

THE MINNESOTA STORY

Prepared by the
Minnesota Historical Society

THE SEARCH FOR COPPER

A new land is always a hopeful prospect for those who seek minerals. The seeker-after-gold came in with the early fur traders. The search was, naturally, for precious minerals for only these could be mined and carried out of a new land so far from civilization.

No gold, in quantities that could be profitably mined, has been found in Minnesota. There have been two large gold rushes to the area of the boundary waters, one in the 1860ies and another thirty years later.

Iron was discovered early in the life of the state but the great ranges were not really known until after a generation of intensive search.

Both the Indians and white men looked for copper and found very little of it. The nearest copper was reported at Isle Royale. It was known at the time that the boundary treaties were made with Great Britain following the Revolutionary War.

The story, which was confirmed by later action, was that Benjamin Franklin, a treaty commissioner, had learned of the copper on Isle Royale and desired that this island be included in the United States. Thus the line that came through the middle of great lakes to the east was bent north on Superior to include the island. This provision complicated the boundary question for many years. It was not until 1842 that the international boundary in the area later to become Minnesota was finally settled.

FIRST PEOPLE IN

In the year 1800 there were no white men in the area now part of Minnesota, except those engaged in the fur trade.

In 1805 the entire force of the Northwest Company, the great frontier trading agency, in the area west of Lake Superior consisted of three accountants, 19 clerks, two interpreters and 85 canoe men. With these men there were 29 Indian or half-breed women and about fifty children.

These people probably constituted the whole white population at this time, but 150 years ago. These people, resided at, primarily, three places. These were the trading posts at Sandy lake, Leech lake and at Fond du Lac on the St. Louis river.

The post at Sandy lake was built in 1794. There was a stockade a hundred feet square at the southeast end of the lake. Pickets 13 feet high surrounded the post. There were three gates and several buildings. The superintendent had a house 20 feet square and the voyageurs had quarters almost as large. There was a substantial stone house and another large log structure which served as a store, workshop and residence of the clerks.

The Leech lake post was larger than the one at Sandy. In the center of this post was a flag pole about fifty feet high on which floated the flag of Great Britain. Such was Minnesota in its very earliest days of trade and settlement.

FLAMES AT HINCKLEY

Many communities in Minnesota are observing anniversaries of their founding in 1954. There is one Minnesota town that is observing the day of its destruction.

Hinckley stands out in the history of the nation as a community which suffered one of the greatest losses in property and life due to a forest fire. While Hinckley might observe that day of its greatest fire, it cannot restore the conditions and events of that dreadful time.

July and August were very dry in 1894. On the first day of September the people of Hinckley were engaged in their usual frontier tasks. There was a disturbing calm. Ashes sifted slowly down over the town. In the afternoon there was a little breeze. This changed to the fury of a tornado. The flames rose high in the woods. They entered the town. In seconds, homes and buildings were ignited and in minutes they collapsed. People fled in all directions. Many were saved in a gravel pit in which water was standing.

A passenger train arrived in the town. Freight cars were added and four to five hundred people were put aboard. The train went through fire and smoke to the Kettle river. The bridge was burning. On one side there was sure destruction and on the other side, safety. The train pulled across the bridge. Two minutes later it collapsed.

Two hundred eighteen people, most of them burned beyond recognition, were buried in a long trench at Hinckley. Four hundred in the community and the adjacent area perished.

HEN IN THE SCHOOL

The first schools in Minnesota were established to help the Indians. They were started by missionaries. There were also some educational facilities for the children found at early army posts.

The first general public school was started at St. Paul in August, 1847. The first teacher was Miss Harriet Bishop who was sent west by an educational and missionary group inspired by the leadership of Harriet Beecher Stowe.

The building was a log shack, formerly a stable and then a blacksmith shop. It was about ten by twelve feet in size. Pegs driven into the logs sustained boards for seats. There was a rickety chair for the teacher.

In one corner of the room a hen was trying to hatch some of her eggs. The teacher and students were careful that she might finish her maternal duties.

There were nine pupils when the school opened and only two were white. The attendance increased to thirty and then to forty.

In 1848 a schoolhouse was built in St. Paul. The territory appointed E. D. Neill as superintendent of public instruction. In his first report in 1852 he stated that there were six schools in Minnesota and the largest building was 24 x 34 feet in size and built at a cost of $600.

Minnesota Turkey Crop Bigger in '54

Crop Reporting Service Sees 35 Pct. Increase

Minnesota's turkey crop this year probably will eclipse all previous records and boost the state into first place in production of light breeds.

The state-federal crop reporting service now estimates 1954 turkey output at 7,583,000 birds, 35 per cent more than last year.

The total is 21 per cent higher than was indicated last January in surveys of grower intentions.

The big increase is a 61 per cent rise in the light varieties, mostly Beltsville whites, which are being marketed the year around as broilers and fryers.

The trend to lights also is reflected in grower intentions to market almost two-thirds of the crop by Nov. 1, well ahead of the traditional Thanksgiving-to-Christmas "turkey season."

In the nation, farmers are raising 61,045,000 turkeys this year, an increase of only 9 per cent over 1953 but still a record. Large varieties are up 6 per cent and small varieties, 16 per cent.

Minnesota now ranks second behind California in total production of turkeys but will move ahead of Virginia into top spot in production of light breeds on the basis of the latest department of agriculture forecast.

More than $70,000,000 was spent in Minnesota last year for nearly 14,000,000 hunting licenses and more than 17,000,000 fishing licenses.

I am an engineer and this is my family. We have much to be thankful for—good health, our good country, a comfortable home, a good job and good friends and neighbors.

My greatest pride and happiness comes from my home and my family—Susie, my wife, and little Susie and John. We have ups and downs, like other families, but on the whole we fare pretty well. Best of all, we have each other.

I read an article in a magazine which said no nation could be completely destroyed which maintained the integrity of its homes. Nations begin to decay when they lose the stabilizing influence of the family.

That is not going to happen to our home if we can help it, and I think we can. We try to make it the best place on earth for each other and a pillar of strength for our community and country. We laid its foundations in God and religion.

Families that are bound together by love and religion do not break up. These ties grow stronger with the passing years. So we go to Church and worship God, and put our lives and hopes in His hands.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The Building of the Soo

By C. E. Hellquist

By C. E. Hellquist

The Wheat Line, extending westward 300 miles, was constructed during the summer of 1905, including the Egeland-Armourdale branch of 22 miles.

Laying of rails was started from where Dakota Junction is located north of Thief River Falls in the early summer of 1905. Engineer Phil Danter was at the throttle of the locomotive behind the Pioneer. We do not know the number of the locomotive or who was the fireman and brakemen. Conductor George Nicholson was in charge of one of the construction jobs from the Thief River Falls end of the work. Engineer Emmett Chapman and conductor Andy Grogan hauled material to the Pioneer at the front. Engineers John Linth and Ernest Vandervort also hauled material to the front.

The engineers who were hauling material were instructed by W. H. Corbett, Superintendent of Construction, to keep going until they caught up with the track laying outfit at the end of the track. There was also a track laying outfit started from the Kenmare end of the line. Frank J. Bickle was engineer on one job on this construction from the west end.

Bickle told a story about finding one of the brakemen filling a number of barrels alongside the track with water from the locomotive tank. He asked the brakemen whom the water was for and the reply was it was for the natives. That was the last of that. Bickle would not go through the hardship of siphoning water out of the sloughs for the natives.

We have been informed that the Pioneer outfits from the east and the west met and connected the rails during the late fall of 1905 at a point near where Mylo, North Dakota, is located. We do not know the names of the construction foremen on these jobs. Every man employed was of importance—the brakemen who signaled the engineer when moving the Pioneer and also the men on the flat cars who were feeding rails and ties into the conveyors on each side of the train to be laid on the track by tie buckers and rail handlers. Then there were the track men who spiked the rails to the ties and the gang that leveled the track so trains could travel over it. Each one had a certain job to do.

The new towns grew like mushrooms as was true during the building of all railroads. This was especially true when building the Wheat Line. New business buildings and grain elevators were constructed on the townsites and were open for business soon after the track was completed through the towns.

Those were the days of the boomer railroaders, colorful characters who worked on many railroads. There were usually a number of boomer brakemen employed at each terminal. They stayed on each job until they had a pay day or two, when they would quit their job and move on to another railroad, always seeking greener pastures.

Engineer Emmett Chapman lost the bell from locomotive No. 401 one stormy night when hauling material for the yard north of Thief River Falls. Locomotives of that type did not have the conventional cab. The fireman was out by the coal all by himself and the engineer and head brakeman were in compartments on each side of the boiler. This type was known as the deckless engine.

PIGGLY WIGGLY

50 YEARS AGO

All Was Peaceful

The Thief River Falls News of September 1, 1904, devoted little space to the building of railroads. The Soo had reached the new town of Brooks. The Great Northern was making progress with its line extending north. But there was no railroad war to worry about and apparently peace and harmony prevailed.

W. C. Smiley had driven to Brooks and was greatly impressed by the track-laying operation. The News quoted him as saying, "It is quite a sight and that they put down the rails at a very rapid rate. It is expected that the Soo will reach here in about a week and will remain here for about five days as they will have to put up the iron work on the bridge across the Red Lake River here. There are between two and three hundred men employed in the track laying crew."

The Great Northern was not moving so fast. According to the News: "Track laying on the Great Northern extension north of here was again resumed Tuesday and the work will probably be continued until Roseau county is reached. Some of the work north of Middle River cannot be done until it freezes up and it is quite likely that it will be close to Christmas before the work is completed. The crew is a small one and not very rapid progress is made."

The Village of Scotland

The new village of Scotland was to have a newspaper. "The proprietor will be Julius Pleth, townsite promoter, banker and general overseer of the embryo village. Charles W. Latta, formerly local editor of the St. Hilaire Spectator, will be editorial manager of the new aspirant for public favor. This makes the seventh newspaper for Red County."

Shortly after this new village of Scotland became Plummer. In its issue of September 29 the News reported the change.

"The postal authorities at Washington objected to the new Soo town which Julius Pleth is booming being called Scotland for the reason that there is a Scotland, Mississippi, and the mail has already commenced to go wrong. Mr. Pleth received word from the Soo authorities that the name would be changed to Plummer."

"This will be rather hard on those citizens of the new town who have invested in stationery and signs," sympathized the News, "but it is fortunate that the change came as soon as it did. There is now a post office of Plummer, located at the dam one and one-half miles from the new town. Mr. Finrow, the present postmaster, has been recommended as postmaster for the new town and he will have to change his location."

And that was the end of Scotland.

Cheered for the Rust

The grain crop was not good in 1904. Wheat had been hit particularly hard by rust, but hopeful editor Eastman was sure this would prove to be a good thing.

"Hurrah for the rust in the wheat," he cheered, "and hurrah for anything else that will discourage the raising of wheat in this locality."

He pleaded for more dairying and livestock and grasses and potatoes.

"Our land, when properly cleared and subdued, has cost $25 to $30 an acre and it well worth $50 per acre to the farmers who will turn it to the best account, but he cannot on this land make more than a poor living raising wheat. Potatoes at 20 cents a bushel are a better crop than wheat at $1, and potatoes, clover and timothy will make the man rich that sticks to it."

"Farmers quit wheat," he urged. "Get all the stock you can. Put your land into clover and tame grass, raise oats and potatoes, calves and pigs and watch your county grow into as rich a farming section as there is in the United States."

The market for that week was, wheat $1.02; Oats 38c; Barley 40c; Flax $1.44; Butter 10c; Eggs 15c; and Potatoes 40c. Swift's sugar cured ham and bacon was offered for sale at "C. Wiener's Fancy Groceries and Confectionery" at 14c a pound. Leaf lard in pails was 10c a pound. Not much incentive for going into dairying and livestock at these prices.

Rumors of Oil

Eastman was put out too because rumors of oil being discovered east of the city were being circulated. A Crookston paper had mentioned the rumor and Eastman saw it as a scheme to fool people into buying land.

"The Crookston Journal publishes a pipe-dream to the effect that oil has been discovered on some of the land of the eleven townships which were not sold at the recent sale and will again be offered in Crookston next October. The item was published evidently with the view of creating a sensation and getting a number of people excited. There is a lot of good agricultural land left but anyone who expects to find an oil well on his claim had better not come up."

Hot Politics

The year 1904 was a hot year politically and the News gave much space to candidates and issues. Minnesota was in the Republican column in the election of Theodore Roosevelt that year but elected John A. Johnson, a Democrat, governor. There was party designation all the way down to the county level and candidates for county offices ran as Republicans or Democrats. Dignified Daniel Shaw announced his candidacy as follows:

"Gentlemen, I desire to announce myself as a candidate for the office of county commissioner, subject to the will of the Republican voters at the primary election to be held September 20, 1904. I therefore respectfully solicit the support of the voters of North, Norden, Sanders and the City of Thief River Falls."

STRANGE DOINGS IN THE ANIMAL KINGDOM

A Spring Valley hen labored and brought forth a 7x9-inch egg weighing more than four ounces . . . A Staples calf came into the world under the lucky sign of a perfect white figure 7 on its forehead . . . Deanne Gardner, her folks, and Ichabod the Cat started from Redwood Falls on a vacation trip; Ichabod disappeared at Olivia; strange sounds from under the car hood at Brainerd led Deanne to a very warm and decidedly disgruntled Ichabod, whom she promptly put on a leash . . . It really wasn't a snake, but the coiled cucumber in Kenneth Turner's New Ulm garden gave visitors a start . . . Little Miss Sharlene Serreyn has made a pet of a young wild fox at Lakefield.

Some Hope Remains of Continuing A[illegible]ine Service after [illegible]ov. 1

While the Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington, D. C., last Friday ordered the discontinuance by North Central Airlines of Service to Thief River Falls and other cities on two Minnesota segments effective November 1, the issue is not yet definitely determined, according to Gordon Rosenmeier of Little Falls, attorney who represented the cities of Thief River Falls, Bemidji and Brainerd at the recent hearing in Washington.

The CAB decision, Rosenmeier said, recognized North Central's change of position and its offer to continue service on the Grand Forks segment provided Northwest Airlines service to Grand Forks is discontinued, but stated that this issue was not before the board and could not be determined as long as Northwest had not volunteered to discontinue service and Grand Forks had not agreed to it.

Hal Carr, president of North Central, indicated in Minneapolis that the company would proceed with a formal application to CAB for permission to continue to serve this segment and to suspend Northwest Airlines service to Grand Forks. He hoped to arrange for a hearing on the matter before the November 1 deadline.

Actions taken Friday were in line with a recent recommendation by Examiner Joseph L. Fitzmaurice.

Earlier, North Central had asked to be relieved of service at Grand Forks and the other six cities which, on flights out of Minneapolis-St. Paul, had composed its "segment 5." The airline said the route had proven unprofitable.

After the examiner had made his recommendations, however, North Central said it was under new management and wished the renewed authority.

N. W. Concert Assn. to Open Membership Campaign Sept. 10th

With the objective of selling 650 tickets, 100 more than last year's total, the sale of season tickets for the 1954-55 programs of the Northwest Concert association will get under way Friday, September 10, it was announced today by Dave Vaaler, who was reelected president of the association at a board meeting last Thursday evening.

He stated that season tickets, which will be sold at $5 for adults and $2.25 for students under the age of 18, will cover five programs if 650 subscribers are secured; otherwise four concerts will be presented.

Vaaler said that no house-to-house canvass will be made, but that application blanks and information concerning the attractions that will be available are being mailed out this week. Those wishing to buy tickets also may obtain them at the Larson Company, the Ben Franklin store or the Dave Vaaler agency, 103 East Third st.

At its meeting Thursday, the board arranged with George Mikkelson of the University of Minnesota concert and lecture service for the opening attraction to be presented in October by Doc Evans and his Dixieland band, a group of six accomplished instrumentalist and a vocalist depicting the different stages in the development of jazz music.

The remaining numbers in the series, Vaaler said, will be chosen in accordance with the wishes of the association membership from nine programs available thru the concert service.

Directors added to the board Thursday include Dr. John Sarno, Mrs. Robert Robarge and Mrs. A. E. Jacobson. Dr. D. M. Travnicek was re-elected vice president, and Mrs. Jeanette Wright was named secretary-treasurer, succeeding Mrs. N. A. Holen, resigned.

Emergency March on Polio Brings in $2,706 to Tuesday

Mothers March Collects Record Total of $2,115, Committee Announces

With some scattered returns still to be received, the emergency polio fund campaign conducted in Pennington county under the sponsorship of the Woman's club had brought in a total of $2,706.68 up to Tuesday morning, it was announced by Mrs. Robert Robarge and Mrs Rudolph Sagmoen, co-chairmen.

Call backs during the past week by workers in the Mothers March of Polio in the residence districts of Thief River Falls resulted in collections from that source mounting from $1,415 to a total of $2,115.67, setting an all-time record for polio campaigns in this community. The committee in charge expressed appreciation of the assiduous efforts of the solicitors.

Collections in the rural area aggregate $303.85, and the village of St. Hilaire contributed $81.16. Boy Scouts under the leadership of Frank Baird are now collecting the canisters previously placed in business places, and dimes cards are also being turned in.

Tours Planned to Advertise 50th Anniversary Fete

John Anderson and Orvis Olen to Direct Tours to Area Towns Sept. 15-16

Two, and possibly three, tours to neighboring towns to advertise the 50th anniversary celebration Sept. 24-26 have been scheduled for next Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 15 and 16, it was announced today by Ken Gustafson, general chairman.

He asked that all those who expect to be able to take part in the tour notify the Civic and Commerce office, phone 750. Three tours are planned if a sufficient number take part, otherwise there will be only two.

Starting off with a breakfast in the Rex Cafe at 8 o'clock next Wednesday morning, the first tour will travel south and east, traveling by way of Red Lake Falls down to Fertile, back to Highway 2, over to Bagley and back by way of Clearbrook, Gonvick, Oklee and Plummer. In charge of the tour will be Orvis Olen.

John Anderson will head Thursday's tour, which also will start with an 8 a. m. breakfast in the Rex. It is hoped to have a sufficient number of participants to make tours north from Thief River Falls to towns along the Soo Line and Great Northern railroads, and also towns from Warren to Hallock.

Former Plummer Man Opening Shop in City Next Week

Edwin Langlie, a native of Plummer and an officer of Berger Electric Inc. of Bagley, announced today that he will open Langlie Lectric next week in Thief River Falls, operating for the present from his home at 723 So. Crocker av. He stated that he also will do heating work and that he plans later on to enter the plumbing field. He has had 12 years experience, and served five years in the U. S. Army. Langlie's wife is the former Ardith Knight of Thief River Falls.

Start Installing Light Standards

When it developed last week that the fittings for the luminaires on the white way lights could be adapted to fit the light standards, the work of setting up the lights got under way late in the week, and about 20 out of the total of 102 had been installed up to Tuesday morning. Approximately 20 concrete bases remain to be poured in the business district.

I. E. Dyrdal of rural Thief River Falls Tuesday brought to the Times office two novelties in the form of an eggplant and Mexican beans raised by his brotherin-law, L. J. Benson of St. Paul.

School Board Awards Job on Knox Addition

Low Bids on Addition and Work on Athletic Field Total $195,091

The Thief River Falls board of education at a special meeting Friday evening awarded to four low bidders the contract to construct a one-story addition to the Knox school building, and for the improvement of the new Lincoln high school athletic field.

The bids totaled $195,091, to which are to be added architects' fees, and the cost of installing bleachers and water service, on the field, not included in the contracts awarded. The architects informed the board that the costs are relatively close to advance estimates.

The general contract was awarded to Dean L. Witcher Inc. of Minneapolis, on his bid of $145,110 covering the school and preparation of the athletic field. Five other bids were received, ranging as high as $179,589.

Lee Plumbing and Heating Co., lowest of three bidders, was given the mechanical contract at $26,167, while L. W. Best of this city was awarded the electrical contract for the school at $8,970, and Christensen Electric Co. of St. Paul was given the contract to install lights at the athletic field at a cost of $14,844.

Work on the Knox school addition is scheduled to start shortly, Supt. W. G. Claffy announced, adding that the completion date has been fixed at August 15, 1955. The addition will provide a combination auditorium and gymnasium, kindergarten room, lunch room, kitchen, nurse's office, shower rooms and storerooms. No additional classrooms will be included.

The Witcher firm built the new National Guard armory in this city, and a few years ago built the Trinity church parish education building.

Over 800 Bonnets, Caps Sold to Date

Sale Will Be Resumed Friday and Saturday

With well over 800 bonnets and railroad men's caps sold to date, and most of them being worn regularly, the 50th anniversary celebration of the coming of the Soo Line September 24 to 26 is receiving a good deal of publicity in this community.

Mrs. Myrtle Lendobeja, president of the Business and Professional Women's club, sponsor of the sale, announced that approximately $350 worth of the headgear was sold at $1 each last Friday and Saturday at four downtown stands.

The supply of mens' caps ran short last week-end, but an additional supply will be available Friday and Saturday of this week, when the sale will be resumed.

Anniversary Pageant Group Hard at Work

Will Confer This Week With Harold Searls, Director of Spectacle

With all committees busily engaged on their appointed tasks, the celebration September 24, 25 and 26 of the 50th anniversary of the coming to Thief River Falls of the Soo Line is rapidly taking final shape, it was announced today by Ken Gustafson, general chairman.

Harold Searls of Bemidji will spend the week-end in this city conferring with the Woman's club pageant committee on details of the historical pageant to be presented in the amphitheatre in the tourist park on the afternoons of Saturday, September 25, and Sunday, September 26.

Committee chairmen appointed to assist with the pageant include Mrs. Don Lawrence, costumes; Mrs. Rudolph Sagmoen and Mrs. Robert Robarge, casting of characters; Mrs. Harold Rasmussen, properties; and Mrs. Phoebe Stewart, makeup. Others will be announced later.

Working with the women's committee on other details of the huge spectacle is a group of 20 men under the chairmanship of Clarence Mattson.

Other committees named by Chairman Gustafson, most of them holding over from the June celebration include finance, Bill LaFave, M. C. Gulbranson and A. F. Berge; publicity, Don Olson; program, W. E. Dahlquist; parade, Alex Cloutier, chairman; and Olaf Eide, Dick LeMoine, Kenneth Halldin, Don Houfek and Dick Meyer, marshals; bands, Dr. O. D. Belch.

Banquet, George Werstlein, chairman; Les Campbell, Ole Engelstad and C. E. Hellquist; reception, Judge Paul A. Lundgren and city and county officials; decorations, R. J. Dryden; bingo, Morris Howick; dances, Mel Burfell; button sales, Roy Jorgenson; and cap and bonnet sales, Mrs. Myrtle Lendobeja.

70 Attend C & C, Jaycee Outing

More than 70 members of the Civic and Commerce association and Junior Chamber participated in a joint outing in the tourist park last Thursday evening, and enjoyed a dinner of fried chicken and corn on the cob. No business was transacted at the meeting.

Tools Are Stolen at Local Armory

Police were notified Monday that burglars had broken into a tool kit at the National Guard armory over the week end and had stolen a number of tools. The tools, property of Becklund Plumbing and Heating Co. of Detroit Lakes, were painted red with aluminum stripes for identification.

These Men Shared in Police School in City

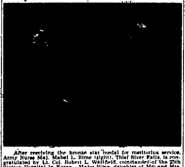
Pictured above are four of the men who shared in the successful police school conducted in Thief River Falls last week. At left is Sheriff Arthur Rambeck, who with Police Chief Elton Cummings, second from right, handled arrangements for the sessions; Lynn Swanson of the Youth Conservation Commission, next to Rambeck; and Walter Sirene of the FBI at right, both of whom appeared on the program.

Other speakers, not present when the picture was taken, include Wm. Effertz of the FBI, Sgt. Neil Deemer of the highway patrol, who discussed traffic problems; and Floyd Makowski of the highway patrol radio station in this city, who told of the services the station is prepared to render to law enforcement officers.

Lunch was served at each of the afternoon sessions by wives of local officers, the food being furnished by local wholesale houses.

Primary Election Scheduled for Next Tuesday, Sept. 14th

Army Nurse Wins Bronze Star Medal



After receiving the bronze star medal for meritorius service, Army Nurse Maj. Mabel L. Rime (right), Thief River Falls, is congratulated by Lt. Col. Robert L. Whitfield, commander of the 25th Station Hospital in Korea. Major Rime, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Rime, 310 Conley ave., was cited for her service as chief nurse at the hospital. Overseas since May 1953, she graduated from the Ancker Hospital's school of nursing and worked for Ancker Hospital in St. Paul before entering the Army Nurse Corps in 1941. U. S. Army Photo.

Only One Local Contest; Brisk Campaigning for District, State Offices

Voters will go to the polls next Tuesday, September 14, in Pennington county and thruout Minnesota to cast their ballots in the biennial primary election, in which candidates will be reduced to one from the Republican party and one from the DFL party for state and district offices, and to two aspirants for county and legislative offices on the non-party ballot.

Polls will be open from 7 a. m. until 8 p. m., and in Thief River Falls residents of all four wards will vote in the municipal Auditorium. Voters are cautioned that they are not permitted to vote for candidates of more than one party on the consolidated ballot, which carries the names of both DFL and Republican aspirants.

Detracting somewhat from local interest in the election is that there is a primary contest for only one Pennington county office, that of register of deeds, for which three candidates have filed, including Oscar A. Nelson, incumbent; Fred Lorentson, former holder of the office; and Stan Cockrell of this city.

Political oracles, however, are forecasting a heavy statewide vote due to several hard-fought contests involving candidates of both parties. Orville L. Freeman, convention-endorsed candidate, and Paul A. Rasmussen, long prominent in the Farmer-Labor party, have conducted a strenuous campaign for the DFL nomination for governor, while on the Republican ticket Governor C. Elmer Anderson is unopposed.

Local interest attaches to the race for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor, owing to the fact that the eight candidates include Kern M. Olson of Thief River Falls. Another aspirant is Theodore T. Wold of Minneapolis, former local restaurant operator.

Another former local man, Forrest T. Anderson of Grand Rapids, is one of three candidates for the GOP nomination for the office of attorney general, from which J. A. A. Burnquist is retiring after many years of service.

A brisk campaign also is being conducted by five candidates for the DFL nomination for Ninth district representative in Congress. They include Mrs. Coya Knutson of Oklee, Oscar A. Johnson of Crookston, Thomas A. Letnes of Nielsville, Curtiss T. Olson of Detroit Lakes and T. Austin Telgen of Moorhead.

On the Republican ticket, Harold C. Hagen, long-time incumbent, is opposed for the nomination by August J. Duren of Fergus Falls.

Grygla's 3rd Annual Fall Festival Sept. 11

Recent highway improvements in the Grygla area will be celebrated at the community's third annual fall festival Saturday, September 11. A wide variety of entertainment for young and old will be provided during the day.

The morning will be devoted to sports events including bicycle, relay and foot races, with cash prizes for the winners. There also will be exhibits in the community hall of grain, garden and culinary items and a land-judging contest is scheduled.

Tape recordings of interviews with area residents will be made at 1 o'clock in front of the Co-operative store, and these will be broadcast later over KTRF.

Set for 1:30 is the festival parade, including bands, floats, baton twirlers, clowns and the Middle River drill squad.

At 2:30 the baseball grounds will be the scene of a tug-of-war between Marshall county and Beltrami county residents, followed at 3:30 by a baseball game between Grygla and the Plummer Red Sox.

The Nelson Road Shows carnival will be on hand all day to entertain the youngsters.

Police and Legion Join AAA in School Safety Campaign

Police Chief Cummings Urges Motorists to Drive Carefully as School Opens

Let's make this a safe school opening — without injury to even one of the hundreds of children returning to school this week.

That was the plea sounded in Thief River Falls today as boys and girls trooped back to classrooms after the summer vacation.

Chief of Police Elton Cummings issued the appeal to motorists for extra caution as he opened a timely safety campaign which has as its slogan: "School's Open — Drive Carefully."

The local police department and American Legion Post are cooperating with the Minnesota State Automobile association (AAA) in the campaign. Special posters are being placed at strategic locations throughout the city to remind motorists of the need for extra caution in their driving.

"While police and School Safety Patrol members here will provide excellent protection at hazardous corners near schools," Chief Cummings said, "all corners cannot be guarded, and motorists must assume added responsibility. With the reopening of schools, I ask all drivers to use utmost caution, particularly in areas where children are going to and from classrooms."

Robert Ulshafer, AAA representative for this area, urged parents to help their children select the safest route to school.

Harold Johnson, commander of the local American Legion post, said he hoped all motorists would heed the campaign warning to drive carefully.

Group Accident Insurance Plan Offered Students

Parents of Pupils Are Asked to Study Plan and Make Wishes Known

In connection with the recent adoption by the Thief River Falls board of education of a group school child accident insurance plan, each student attending the local schools today is being given a descriptive folder, application blank and envelope to bring home to his parents.

Supt. W. G. Claffy stated that the students are to return the envelope to their schools Thursday with the parent's signature indicating whether or not he wishes to have his child covered by the plan. He requested the cooperation of the parents in this respect.

The policy, which costs $1.25 per year, covers the child while within a school building or on school premises. It also provides for injuries suffered while going to and from school, including bus or auto accidents during school hours. The policy pays all medical expenses up to a maximum of $2,500.

Rude-Kverno Nuptials Spoken At Trinity Church

Trinity Lutheran church was the scene of a pretty wedding ceremony Saturday evening, August 28 when Miss Gail Kverno of this city and James A. Rude of Bemidji were united in marriage. About 250 guests witnessed the double ring ceremony read by the Rev. J. J. Jacobson. Lighted candelbra, baskets of white gladioli and mums and white gladioli graced the altar. Lighted tapers marked the aisle.

A half hour prelude of nuptial music and Lohengrin's "Wedding March" was played by Mrs. Art Hamilton. Marilyn Johnson, soloist, sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride's gown was of exquisite imported Swiss organdy and eyelet embroidery. The neckline was edged with scallops of embroidery, as were the elbow-length mitts. The gown featured tiny puff sleeves and two panels of eyelet embroidery down the front. The chapel-length train was also of the embroidery. The bride's fingertip veil of illusion was held by a small cap of tiny organdy flowers and she carried a white Bible topped with a lavender orchid and with showers of stephanotis. Her jewelry was a matching set of pearl earrings and a single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom. Mr. Kverno gave his daughter in marriage.

Miss Marlos Hanson of this city was maid of honor, and Pauline Hanson, also of this city was bridesmaid. The attendants were gowned in ballerina length frocks of pale yellow and lavender net over taffeta with matching stole fastened to the bodice and yellow and lavender pumps to match their dresses. They carried crescent bouquets of yellow roses and yellow and lavender baby mums. Their jewelry was a single strand of rhinestones.

Judy Spray, flower girl, wore a ballerina length frock of lime green taffeta with lace bodice. She carried a basket decorated with yellow and lavender mums.

Warren Erickson of Grand Forks was ring bearer.

Attending the groom was Robert Rude of Bemidji, brother of the groom, as best man and Lowell Stagg of Bemidji. Dick Olson of Grand Forks, cousin of the bride and Oreal Halland of this city, cousin of the groom were ushers. They all wore white boutonnieres in their lapels.

Mrs. Kverno chose a navy blue dress with white accessories for her daughter's wedding. Her corsage consisted of red roses and white carnations. Mrs. Rude, mother of the groom wore a nylon dress of navy blue with navy accessories. Her corsage was of red tea roses and white carnations. Mrs. Leonard Johnson and Mrs. Carl Kverno, grandmothers of the bride also were corsages and were ushered in preceding the mothers of the bridal couple.

The reception following the ceremony was held in the church parlors. Assorted garden flowers decorated the room. The tea table was set with a center piece of five tall candles surrounded by white garden flowers. Gloria Cloutier, Angeline Vrna, Delores Hagen and Florence Walker served the tea table. Mrs. Gerald Stempfley of Windom, aunt of the bride poured. Mrs. O. Stanley Johnson of Grand Forks aunt of the bride, served the four tiered wedding cake, which was displayed on a special table. A miniature bride and groom topped the cake. Claudia Olson of Grand Forks, cousin of the bride, was in charge of the guest book. The gifts were arranged in the reception room with Carole Stemfley, cousin of the bride and Vivian Spray in charge. Miss Rose Ella St. Martin served the fruit punch.

Following a nine day wedding trip to the Black Hills, Badlands and the North Shore Drive, the newlyweds will make their home in this city.

The bride's going away attire was a light blue nylon knit suit with navy and white accessories.

Lutherans Plan Erskine Session of Welfare Group

"Have we got what it takes to be good adoptive parents?" The Lutheran Welfare Society of Minnesota must answer this question daily. It considers each request for service to be individual and different from all others.

In 1953 Lutheran Welfare placed 165 children for adoption, making it one of the larger adoption agencies in the state. Lutheran Welfare is aiming to cut the length of time between the original application for a child and the time the couple takes a child home. To accomplish this the adoption staff has been increased.

The story of adoptions at Lutheran Welfare will be discussed in detail at the 1954 Lutheran Welfare workshop to be held on September 14 at the Evangelical Lutheran church in Erskine. Rev. P. E. Onstad is pastor.

The workshop is open to the public, and will be held from 9:30 a. m. to 4 p. m.

THE MINNESOTA STORY

Prepared by the

Minnesota Historical Society

THE FIRST FAIR

The first people to come to Minnesota, more than a hundred years ago, were ambitious in many, many ways. The chief interest of the state was in land and what it could produce.

Minnesota was the North Star State. People recognized the fact that in no other place in the United States had population penetrated so far into a cold country. Agricultural production and methods had to be much changed from those of the states and areas from which people had migrated. The ambition was to raise two things, corn and apples. It has taken nearly a hundred years to produce varieties of corn which will mature in every part of the state. Many good apples have been developed from the efforts of those who so industriously tried to grow them.

The early people were anxious to sustain their own enthusiasm and to tell the world of their progress. The first fair in the territory was held at St. Anthony on October 17-18, 1855. The largest number of white people heretofore assembled in the territory were there. There were exhibits of grain and corn, potatoes that weighed three pounds each and an 18 pound radish. There were good horses, thrifty cattle and some fat hogs. This was the occasion of the first showing of a dairy breed cow in Minnesota. There was especial interest in the three apples which Gidean Pond, the missionary, had brought in from his home on Lake Calhoun.

• • •

TWO HUNDRED TOWNS

The early people into Minnesota did not get mail with any degree of regularity. In summer there was mail service up the big river to St. Paul and smaller postoffices were later established throughout the area. In winter, weeks would go by without mail or communication of any kind with distant points.

Five years after the territory was created that was a network of mail service throughout an area which extended from the Mississippi to the Red River of the North and the Iowa boundary to the Head of the Lakes. In 1856 settlement of the area and the strong demand for towns and town lots had created more than two hundred villages in Minnesota, each with its postmaster.

The rates of postage have not changed too much in a hundred years.

A "letter" was considered to be half an ounce. The inland postage for 3000 miles or less was three cents for that first half ounce and three cents for each additional half ounce.

The letter postage to Oregon and California was ten cents for the half ounce.

The postage on the early daily newspapers was 39c a quarter for each subscriber. The weekly newspapers were at the rate of 25 cents a year. Circulars could be sent to any part of the United States for a penny each.

THE TELEGRAPH COMES

Minnesota became a territory by official action of congress on March 3, 1849. The people of the area were hopeful of a new government. But that year the ice stayed late in the Father of Waters and it was not until April 9 that a small packet could work its way into the landing at St. Paul. Before the mail had been opened the people knew of the creation of the territory for the whistle's of the small boat as it approached St. Paul set off the enthusiasm that started a frontier celebration.

It was more than ten years before Minnesota ceased it dependence for news upon word of mouth and slow boats. Some mail came by stagecoach, up the river on the ice or from the east on the mailman's back.

The telegraph was extended to St. Paul in 1860. The builders of the line had hacked their way through woods and contended with the rattlesnakes along the Mississippi river cliffs. Minneapolis was slow about meeting its share of the cost of the line so the capital city had the upper hand for awhile.

The first business telegram was sent out on August 29, 1860. The next day M. S. Wilkinson and Judge Aaron Goodrich sent a message by "lightning" to the governor of New York. Weeks changed to hours. The railroad stations to come lured youth of the frontier to the ticking instrument. School boys learned the Morse code. The wires went westward and eventually to every town that had lines of steel rail.

HARD TIME MONEY

A hundred years ago the people of St. Anthony were busy building a bridge across the Father of Waters. This was said to be the first bridge across the big river above St. Louis. It was built at large cost for those days, and was intended to tie the east side of the river to the rapidly growing community of Minneapolis on the west side.

This bridge would accommodate the horse drawn vehicles of the day but most of the traffic was by those on foot.

Shortly after the bridge had been completed the hard times of 1857 struck the new land. Those on the frontier were especially poor and without means. The early business men of St. Anthony and those across the river were forced to devise some kind of currency to maintain trade and give a medium of exchange. Thus, there was developed a kind of note or warrant which was accepted and used by the people of the community.

This frontier, hard-time, currency had, of course, no value outside of the community. One resident of Minneapolis had to make a trip down river and he had no money. The man who collected tolls at the bridge had change, quarters, dimes and nickels of the coin of the realm. He who was about to travel took to walking across the bridge. On every trip he offered a dollar in the local currency. He pocketed the change. In twenty trips he acquired enough money of recognized value to begin his journey.

Good Fences Help Farm Profits

Poor fences and carelessly-left-open gates eat into your profits, but there's an easy remedy.

That remedy is good fences and gates. They can prevent stray cattle wandering into standing corn, alfalfa, and grass seed plots or onto the highway to become accident-causers and candidates for the rendering works.

The answer is good fences, built to last 20 or 30 or more years. Long fence life now is possible by chemically treating poles cut from your woodlot or purchased from a neighbor.

Native trees peeled and dried during the summer can be effectively treated by wood preservatives right now, at this time of year. This tip comes from Parker Anderson, extension forester at the University of Minnesota.

Our office has free booklets on treating home-grown lumber for long-lasting fences and how to build them.

TCA Good For Quackgrass Kill

Probably cultivation is the least expensive way to check quackgrass in a large field but often it's not possible to cultivate because of danger of erosion or long periods of wet cool weather or the time involved.

You may want to use a chemical weed control. One of the best, TCA, is most effective when applied in a worked field in late summer or fall.

If the field has been plowed, 22 pounds of acid-equivalent per acre will do a good control job, according to Edwin H. Jenson, new extension agronomist specializing in weed control at the University of Minnesota.

If the land is not plowed, he says, it will take 66 pounds or more to do the job. This high spraying rate will cost more, of course, and greatly increase the danger of injuring the crop to be grown on the treated area next year.

Crops such as flax, potatoes, oats and corn can be grown successfully on land that has been treated with TCA at 22 pounds per acre the fall before. But, a farmer shouldn't try to grow barley, wheat or soybeans on such land because the fall treatment will affect the soil and may injure them.

School has started, and that means hungry children. Would you like to try a new cookie for their lunch box, or for an after-school snack? Try "Snicker doodles." These cookies are fun to say — fun to make — and best of all — fun to eat.

Mix together thoroughly — 1 cup soft shortening, 1½ cups sugar, 2 eggs.

Sift together and stir in 2¾ cups sifted all - purpose flour, 2 teaspoons cream of tarter, 1 teaspoon soda, ¼ teaspoon salt.

Chill dough. Roll into balls the size of small walnuts. Roll in mixture of 2 tablespoons sugar and 2 teaspoons cinnamon. Place about 2" apart on greased baking sheet. Bake until lightly browned — but still soft. (These cookies puff up at first, then flatten out with crinkled tops.) Oven temperature 400 degrees. Baking time 8-10 minutes. Makes 5 dozen 2" cookies.

GROWING WITH YOUR CHILD

Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota

Too Many Tall Tales?

"Honestly, mom, it was as big as a house!" "No, I didn't break it." "Well, our TV screen is forty inches wide." Parents almost universally have some experiences with their children which involve the issue of truth versus falsehood. The lines which separate exaggeration from out-and-out lying are often hard to draw precisely, but the child habitually given to misstatements deserves and needs some attention in order to determine what kind of problem he is having.

There is the "entertaining" type of exaggeration; here often the child is talking for effect, having fun with language and words and ideas, and may not be at all confused, really, as to truth of the matter. Parents can usually safely share the child's fun with him, although they may want to let him know that they do not "believe" factually the tales he tells.

There is also the factually untrue tale based on a young child's lack of knowledge, experience, or verbal fluency. This should rank as a mistake rather than a lie; obviously, when the child understands more completely and can explain and describe more completely, his report will be more accurate.

The Tall Tale designed to get attention or to command the center of the social stage should remind parents that children may really need a little more attention or prestige feelings than they have. Something real to talk about makes it less necessary to invent attention getting fictions.

The kind of untrue statement which may be more serious in hinting that all is not well with the child's life is the self-defense outright "lie." Commonly, the underlying motivation for this kind of untruth is some kind of fear — fear of punishment, fear of disapproval, fear of loss of esteem. This may be a signal to the parents that something is bothering the child. He needs, at this point, help and understanding, although punishment for the deed may also be indicated. This is also a good time to look at the punishment policy to make sure that it is not too severe or unfair to the child.

Fable: One there was a man who didn't seem to enjoy telling his troubles.

Northern Minnesota Grows Tall Corn

This is a field of FUNK "G" 188 HYBRID CORN, GROWN ON THE CHRISTENSEN FARM OPERATED BY WALDY CHRISTENSEN AND HIS SON CLYDE, located five miles east and two miles south of Thief River Falls. Notice how the corn dwarfs Mr. Waldy Christensen standing at the end of the field. The corn averages eight to nine feet tall and each stalk has two or three big long cobs of corn that is now denting. Mr. Christensen says, this is the best corn they have ever raised on their farm, and besides producing the large amount of good big cobs you also get an enormous amount of good leafy forage where it is used as silage. This is one of the many good fields of FUNKS "G" HYBRID CORN in this territory.

Strandquist . .

By Mrs. Ed. Stennes, Strandquist

Vernon (Red) Thompson and wife, traveling by car, arrived Saturday from Kalispell, Mont. They will visit relatives and friends as he expects to be inducted into the service this fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Stromberg and daughter arrived from the Cities last week but had bad luck over by Brooks when an axle broke on their car. Luckily they had stopped to change drivers when the accident occurred. They expect to stay in this community this winter so their little daughter will add to the enrollment of our school.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Stennes had to break into grandma's house last Thursday morning and found her lying on the kitchen floor unable to get up. Mrs. Harold Hope and Carol of Stephen and Mrs. Ed Stennes took her to the Warren Hospital where it was diagnosed as a slight stroke. At this writing she is expected to be returning home soon.

Mrs. Thomas Ramstad of Thief River Falls has been visiting relatives and friends in the community on Thursday.

Elaine Lefroth was the lucky little girl to win the doll given by the Myhre show company for the most votes.

Charley Anderson, who operated a farm southwest from Strandquist for many years was sent to the State Hospital at Fergus Falls for treatment last week.

Charley was an intelligent individual who enjoyed companionship and conversation but has been handicapped with almost total loss of hearing. Together with his loss of hearing his physical condition became such that he could not properly operate his farm and care for his livestock and was forced to abandon the farm. He moved to town about a year ago and the last months has lived in a rest home. Due to failing health he was moved to the Warren Hospital for treatment. His many sympathetic friends from this vicinity wish him a speedy recovery.

This news reporter has been severely reprimanded for misstatements made in a short item published in last weeks issue of this paper. According to the critics, the local group of teen-agers who became involved in legal difficulties with law enforcement officers were called to Warren for a "hearing" and paid a small sum of money called "costs." Not being versed on technical terms pertaining to law I used the word "trial" instead of "hearing" and "fine" instead of "cost." I am extremely sorry and offer my apology.

This group of youngsters, in my opinion, are not any worse in behavior that dozens of other young folks in our or any other community. Like other teenagers they seek adventure and thrills, like we as parents did when we were of that age. In this modern age, however, youngsters travel much farther and faster and are subject to many more temptations. Due to these changes in our social life it becomes necessary for all of us and especially the younger generation, to be extremely careful that none of the traffic and liqour laws are violated. The article published last week was not written for the purpose of defaming any individual but to alert the teenager to be careful while away from home and to have in mind the parent who spends sleepless nights awaiting their return. A ninety day probation with a 10 p. m. curfew is not to the liking of youngsters and should also be thought of when temptations present themselves.

A gathering of the congregations of the Clearwater parish was held Sunday, Aug. 22nd for Rev. and Mrs. Halvard Lie. The group was to have met at the Lie farm home south of Trail but the rain prevented that so it was held in the Clearwater Church. There was a large crowd which packed the church and program was given.

A gift of money was presented to Rev. and Mrs. Lie from their many friends.

Rev. Lie responded with a "thanks" for the gift and for everything that had made his work among us pleasant.

A pot luck lunch was served by the Clearwater Ladies Aid and a social time followed.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Christianson and family and Merritt Christianson spent last Sunday evening at the Edgar Roed home near McIntosh. Olive Roed came home with them to spend a week with her cousins.

Mrs. H. T. Hanson came to the Orville Christianson home for a visit last Tuesday. She has been staying at the Harry Hanson home for some time.

Mrs. Arnold Stovold, Carol and Gay and Karen Bauman visited at the Orville Christianson home on Sunday.

Another "First" for Custom Motors"

FOR THE FIRST TIME: Through the installation of a new "Tru-Up," designed and made by the Hunter Engineering Company of St. Louis, provides this community with a new service that has been available only in a few metropolitan areas up to now.

See the New Hunter Tru-up at Custom Motors

Question: WHAT IS A HUNTER TRU-UP?

Question: WHAT IS AN OUT OF ROUND TIRE?
Answer: When a new tire leaves the factory it is perfectly round. It has to be because the mould is perfectly round. In some cases, however, due to uneven stretching of the fabric the tire will develop high spots or take on the shape of an egg. This can happen at any time but usually develops after the tire has been driven 2,000 miles or more.

Question: ARE MANY TIRES OUT OF ROUND?
Answer: The percentage of out of round tires is low but there are still a large number in use today.

Question: CAN AN OUT OF ROUND TIRE BE BALANCED?
Answer: Yes, but no matter how well it is balanced it will still cause the car to vibrate. Picture an egg rolling end over end.

Question: CAN THIS CONDITION BE CORRECTED OR MUST THE TIRE BE DISCARDED?
Answer: By the use of a Hunter Tru-Up an egg shaped tire can be made perfectly round again. In so doing the life of the tire will be increased on an average of 30%, your car will be safer and the whole front end system will wear longer.

Question: DOES A TIRE THAT HAS BEEN TRUED UP NEED TO BE BALANCED?
Answer: Yes, just as any tire should be balanced. If the tire is perfectly round and properly balanced it is bound to roll smoothly.

Question: HOW OFTEN DOES A TIRE HAVE TO BE TRUED UP?
Answer: Once. A tire will not again get out of round as by the time this condition develops the fabric has taken its permanent form. If the tires are round, balanced and the alignment on the car correct there is no reason for excessive tire wear.

Prowler Eleven Will Undergo 1st Test vs. Warren Here Friday

Prowler football coach Ralph Skjod, and his first assistant Joe Mikonich, have been sending the blue-and-gold squad through intensive drills the past two weeks, hoping to have the team in condition for the season-opener here on Friday night when coach Clint Perkins will bring his Warren Ponies to the Lincoln field. Friday night's game, with the kickoff slated for 8:00 p. m., will find coach Skjod starting a Prowler offensive lineup that will contain seven lettermen.

Judged on the pre-game practice sessions, and the signal drills, it appears that the Prowler offensive lineup will have Evan Jones and Dick Miller at the ends; Dick Burtness and Ronnie Reese at the tackles; Eddie Filiatrault and Brad Teal at the guards; Louie Wedul at center; Sid Vraa at quarterback; Mark Bjorkman at left half and Jim Sauve at right half, and Pete Froehle at fullback.

Of these players, Burtness, Reese, Wedul, Vraa, Bjorkman, Sauve, and Froehle earned letters last year. Of these lettermen, only three, Vraa, Wedul, and Burtness are playing positions that they filled last year; Reese, a backfielder last year is a tackle this season; and Bjorkman, Sauve, and Froehle, who were standout guards last year, are backfield aspirants this year.

Since the resumption of the football series with Warren, which was discontinued in 1942 and resumed in 1951, the Prowlers have played three games with the Ponies, scoring three decisive wins. Last year the Prowlers defeated the Ponies 40 to 0; in 1952 the locals won by a 34 to 7 score; and in 1951 coach Wayne Johnson's club won by a 35 to 0 score.

3 Drunk Drivers Are Fined Monday

Three Others Are Fined for Careless Driving

Three area residents each were fined $100 and $5 costs when brought into municipal court Tuesday on charges of operating motor vehicles while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

Those penalized include Olaf Strutrude of Goodridge, who was arrested by local police, and Ollie Mattison of Brooks and Merle Hagen, who were brought in by the highway patrol.

Charged with careless driving, Samuel Richard Utley was fined $50, and David Johnson $10. Both were brought in by police. The highway patrol charged Clifford Johnson with careless driving, and he was fined $10 and $4 costs.

Boyd Wilson paid a $5 fine for speeding, and Clifford Sater forfeited $25 bail when he failed to appear on a charge of driving a car without having a drivers license.

Roseau Woman to Share in Estate

An estate of $140,740 was left by Mrs. Grace M. LeFurge, a widow living at 2136 Park, Bald Eagle Lake, according to an inventory filed Friday in Ramsey county probate court.

Mrs. LeFurge died July 21, 1953, at the age of 75. Her will makes several specific bequests of personal belongings and leaves her real estate, listed at $17,077, to be divided equally between a niece, Helen H. Engebretson, Roseau, and a nephew, Richard B. Hodgman, Kansas City, Mo.

The balance of the estate is divided in various proportions among 11 relatives.

Hockey, Baseball Meetings Called by Club Leaders

Bill LaFave, president of the Thieves senior hockey organization; and Harold Johnson, general manager of the Thieves senior baseball group, announced a pair of important meetings will be held in the Court Room in the basement of the Auditorium this week.

On Wednesday night, at 8:00 p. m., the senior hockey organization will hold a general discussion meeting and an election of four directors to the board.

On Thursday night, at 8:00 p. m. the baseball group will conduct a meeting, and they hope to have a large turnout of fans so that a board of directors for the 1955 season may be selected, and so that definite plans for next year may be made.

Sportsmen's Club Told of Pheasant Crop at Meeting

Club Thanks Kern Olson for His Interest Shown in Conservation Work

Nearly 70 members attended the September meeting of the Pennington County Sportsmen's club last Wednesday evening in the Civic and Commerce room in the Auditorium. Dr. James Disse, president, conducted the program.

Game Warden Carl Sundstrom reported that the 235 six to eight-weeks old pheasants raised and distributed by the club are doing well, and that the farmers who have the birds on their land have done a good job of providing food patches.

Kern Olson, retiring president of the Minnesota Wildlife Federation, gave an account of the recent state meeting in St. Cloud, and emphasized the importance of the wetlands acquisition program. Ed Rustad, in behalf of the club, complimented Olson for his efforts in behalf of conservation.

Bob Bell explained the sportsmen's insurance policy sponsored by the federation, and said that those interested should contact Dr. Disse.

A colored motion picture showing the wild life of Australia was shown thru the cooperation of the Forkenbrock Motor Co. Lunch was served by Ole Ness and Joe DuChamp.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

All Red River Valley League Team

Now that the baseball season has officially closed, and with the Ada Athletics the regional champions by virtue of their 13 to 2 win over Erskine in the regional finals on Monday night at Ada, we'll go out on a limb and pick the players that impressed us as being the Red River Valley league's best: first base, Shorty Perkins of the Thieves; second base, Joey Poole of the Thieves; shortstop, Dick Williams of Red Lake Falls; third base, Vern Wahstrom of Viking; outfielders, Swede Lund of the Thieves, Ken Bombardier of Red Lake Falls and Johnny Ruth of Crookston; catcher, Louie Erickson of Argyle; and pitchers, Jim Henkes of Red Lake Falls and Gene Leslie of the Thieves.

Argyle's Bill Beck, if he hadn't fractured an ankle in mid-season, would have been a contender for shortstop honors; and Crookston's smooth-fielding and hard-hitting first baseman, Glen Gumlia, would have been a selection if he had been in the Pirates lineup more often.

Incidentally, the Red River Valley league didn't do very well in the regional tourney at Ada this past week. That Ada didn't think very highly of the league's representatives was indicated when the Athletics, in their first round game against Argyle, used their "home talent" lineup, and had Tony Sipe, their "second string" pitcher, on the mound. Ada won, 8 to 4. Argyle, after losing their first round game, came back to eliminate Nielsville, 4 to 2, behind the steady pitching of Gene Leslie, the Maroons' draft choice from the Thieves. Argyle was taken out of the tourney on Sunday afternoon when they lost a high-scoring, 15 to 9, decision to the Erskine Merchants.

It's evident that if the Red River Valley league is to become a factor in the regional tournament, the member teams will have to strengthen their pitching staffs by bringing in "outside" hurlers. The Red River Valley loop hasn't much chance of competing with the Norman-Polk circuit at present.

Red's Pore Li'l Boys

Did you see the preview of the eighth region's high school football season that Bemidji's Kenneth Red Wilson reported to the Minneapolis Trib? According to Red, coach Ralph Skjod's Prowlers are "loaded" with lettermen and are, by long odds, the team to beat.

Red explained that the Bemidji Lumberjacks, after three successful seasons, lost eight of last year's "starters," and as a result the Jacks will be engaging in a re-building program and will be satisfied if they win four of the eight games on their schedule. What Red could have added, but didn't, was that the second team that Bemidji had last year could have represented most of the region's high schools as the varsity team, and they would have done well. Don't worry, Red will have enough boys to field a Bemidji team again this season.

Bemidji will open their schedule on Friday night, playing Grand Forks Central, and then we'll get an inkling of the ability of Jack Whiting, Dick Carter, and Don Brown, the Jacks' fine backfielders who are returning for another season.

Two Meetings that are "Musts"

Local sports fans should make a note of the fact that a pair of important meetings are scheduled for this week. On Wednesday night, September 8th, the once-postponed senior hockey league meeting will be held in the court room in the basement of the auditorium; and on Thursday night, September 9th, the city's baseball organization will hold a meeting in the court room.

These two meetings are of vital interest to the progress of senior hockey and baseball in the city. The hockey meeting will elect four new members to the board of directors; and the baseball meeting will elect an entire new board of directors and officers.

It's somewhat of an innovation to have baseball meeting at this time of the year, but a number of local fans believe it is in the interest of the club to organize for the 1955 season now. The board of directors can make plans for next season, can arrange a schedule, etc.

The Prowlers vs. the Ponies

Coach Ralph Skjod's Prowler football squad, with last year's trio of hard-charging guards playing in the backfield this year, will open their 1954 schedule on Friday night when, under the lights on Lincoln Field, they meet the Warren Ponies. With Pete Froehle at fullback, Mark Bjorkman at left half, and Jim Sauve at right half, and ably directed by quarterback Sid Vraa, the Prowler offense should function at a yards-consuming pace.

The Prowlers, in their practice sessions to date, have been concentrating on their offensive plays, running from a split T formation, and as a result the squad will move into the Warren game untested as a defensive unit. The Ponies will prove dangerous too, for in Russ Melgaard, a 185-pound all-around performer, and Ray Burwell, a district and regional track performer, coach Clint Perkins will have a nucleus for a strong running attack. The Prowlers, during the season, won't meet very many runners that can match Melgaard and Burwell.

Miscellany

We see by the Winnipeg Free Press where Don Collins, the goalie for the Roseau Cloverleafs and the Winnipeg Maroons the past two seasons, will attend the try-out camp of the Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds. If Collins makes the club, and he will have to beat out a Tom Donachey, who was all-league goalie last season, he will play his hockey in the Northern Ontario Hockey Association. That will be okay with the Thieves, for the nimble Collins has been a frustrating influence for the locals in Northwest Hockey league play.

Mercury Drops to 35 This Morning

Unmatured flax fields in this area, of which there are a considerable number, were endangered this morning by frost when the mercury on the KTRF thermometer dropped to the 35-degree mark, after recording a low of 36 last Friday morning.

Temperatures Tuesday were suggestive of fall, the high reading for the day being 56.

Light drizzles of rain fell several days during the week, further delaying belated harvest operations.

Hospital Addition— Shown to Public on September 25-26

Guides Will Explain Features of Building to Local Residents

Every effort is put forth by the contractors and by the hospital administration to have the new Northwestern Hospital addition open for public inspection on the afternoons of Saturday and Sunday, September 25 and 26, in connection with the Soo Line celebration.

It is not expected that all new equipment can be fully in place by that time, nor that the whole structure will be cleaned by the housekeepers. However, it is expected that painting, ceramic tile and floor tile work will be completed and that sufficient equipment may be put in place to afford a good idea of what the building will look like, said Harold W. Peterson, administrator.

Guides will be furnished to explain the location and purpose of the many areas peculiar to hospitals. It is expected that patients will be admitted to the new addition shortly following October 1st.

Bell Telephone Co. Given Award on Safety Record

The Bell Telephone companies, including Northwestern Bell Telephone company, have won the award of honor of the National Safety Council for its 1953 safety-in-industry record, according to A. J. Rau, phone company manager.

This citation, highest award the council makes, was also won by the Bell companies in 1951 and 1952. It is based on frequency and severity of accidents.

In qualifying for the award, Bell system men and women incurred less than one accident for every million man hours of work. In the way of severity of accidents the lost-time rate was less than one day for every 10,000 man hours of work, nine times better than the average for all industry.

Planning Series of Debates by 9th Dist. Candidates

L. J. Lee of Bagley, 9th district chairman of the Democratic-Farmer-Labor party announced today that Fred Behling, Moorhead, his counterpart in the Republican party, has accepted Lee's suggestion that the nominees of the two parties for congressional and state office appear in public debate and open forum meetings, during the period between the primary and the general election, November 2.

Lee said he expected to meet with Behling soon after the primary to arrange the schedule and the rules. This suggestion and acceptance when carried out will mark the first such joint public appearances and debates of issues by candidates for congress and state office that have been held in a generation in Minnesota's 9th district.

TOTAL OF 92 DROWNINGS IN STATE TO AUGUST 31

Drownings as of the end of August totaled 92, as compared with 125 the last year. This represents 33 less drownings in Minnesota this year over last. An analysis of our tabulation of this year discloses the tragic information that we have had 17 drownings of children 6 years of age or less.

Potato Harvest Workers Will Be Needed Shortly

Information to Be Made Available at Offices of Employment Service

The Red River Valley potato harvest will again require several thousand pickers and loaders, according to R. S. Eldevik, manager of the Thief River Falls office of the Minnesota state employment service.

A daily potato harvest bulletin listing supply and demand for the Red River Valley will soon be available at the Thief River Falls office and with local employment representatives at Plummer, Oklee, Red Lake Falls, Warren, Stephen, Hallock, Middle River, Greenbush, Roseau and Warroad. This bulletin will give current information regarding the need for pickers and loaders.

Although some harvesting of table stock is underway, it is expected that there will be little actual harvesting until the week of September 13th. Harvesting will probably be general thruout the valley by September 20th. Workers are cautioned not to migrate into the valley before jobs are available. Last year, many workers came too early and, as a result, had to either return home or pay extra board and room.

Brunch Flight at Airport Sunday

A "brunch flight" will be held at the airport Sunday, September 12, starting at 10 a. m. National Guard jets will take part between two and two-thirty o'clock. "Brunch" will be served for one dollar. The public is invited.

New Type of License Plates on Sale Oct. 1

In 1955 all passenger car plates will have a "new look" come October 1. The license number will be a combination of two alphabetical letters and four numerals and the plates will be a rich maroon color with gold letters and number (the state colors). This is all a result of a new numbering system devised under the direction of Mrs. Mike Holm, secretary of state and registrar of motor vehicles, and W. E. Howes, assistant registrar of motor vehicles.

In the Ninth congressional district, the first letter to appear on the plates will indicate the congressional district and the second letter will indicate the deputy registrar within the district who is authorized license plates. A list of all deputies within this congressional district and their alphabetical assignment is as follows:

KA	1000-8999	Bemidji.
KB	1000-8499	Crookston.
KC	1000-9999	Fergus Falls.
KD	1000-1499	Fergus Falls.
KE	1000-9999	Moorhead.
KF	1000-2999	Moorhead.
KG	1000-8299	Thief River Falls
KH	1000-7599	Detroit Lakes.
KJ	1000-3999	Roseau.
KK	1000-2499	Red Lake Falls.
KL	1000-3699	Bagley.
KM	1000-4199	Ada.
KN	1000-3199	Breckenridge.
KP	1000-2199	Baudette.
KR	1000-3599	Hallock.

In explanation, the nine congressional districts within the state have been 1,050,000 vehicles into more or less equal divisions. Each congressional district is identified on the plate by an alphabetical letter in the first position. Each distributing office, or deputy registrar, is indicated by the second alphabetical letter on the plate, followed by four digits.

All applications received by mail at the state capitol will be assigned license plates bearing the first letter "L" which has no significance whatever except to denote plates sent by mail from the capitol.

If you cannot get to the office of a deputy registrar within this district you may mail your application to any deputy registrar within the district along with your registration card, including thirty-five cents which is the only remuneration the deputy registrar gets for his services, and your plates will be mailed direct to you by the registrar, thus insuring that you will receive plates indicating the congressional district in which you reside.

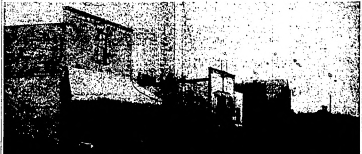
Christmas Seal Workers to Meet at Crookston

Dr. Sumner S. Cohen, assistant medical director at Glen Lake Sanatorium, will be the main speaker at a dinner following the day's activities of the eight-county Christmas Seal workshop, Tuesday, Sept. 14, at Crookston.

Dr. Cohen, actively interested in tuberculosis prevention and control, has done extensive work with new TB drugs. He was also one of the main speakers at the National Tuberculosis Association meeting at Atlantic City last spring.

At the 8-county dinner meeting, to be held at the Red and Gold room of the Crookston hotel, Dr. Cohen will present Polk county with a certificate of tuberculosis accreditation for the county's progress in reducing TB deaths and infection rates.

There Was Grass Growing in the Grygla Streets at that Time



Grygla will celebrate the black-topping of its highway at Highway Appreciation Day festivities Saturday. It is an occasion that the people of the Grygla community will enter into whole-heartedly. They have waited many years for a good road connection with the rest of the world and their hopes have now finally materialized.

Nearly fifty years ago, when the above picture was taken, Grygla was an inland settlement in the brush country thru which, it was predicted, a railroad soon would be built. The railroad never was built but the inland settlement made progress nevertheless, with the usual peaks and depressions that marked the progress of all other communities.

Grygla no longer is in the brush country. It is in a community of large farms, well diversified and highly mechanized; a community that for many years has been self-sufficient and continues to make steady progress.

The above picture was loaned to the Times by Mrs. A. O. Fladeland, a pioneer of the Grygla community. Her hubband, Arne Fladeland, was the owner of the corner store where the Cooperative store now stands. He is in the picture, seated on the walk with his dog.

Leaning against the building in back of his is Ole Peterson, still living in the Twin Cities. Others seated in front of the store are Helmer Sarbo, Martin Windaness and John Maney.

Down the street in front of the next building is Otto Johnson and his sister Luella. Otto and his brother George operated a hardware store in this building in which also was included the post office.

Next in order was the John Viken blacksmith shop, the hotel operated by Pete Maney and, at the end of the row, the building that over a period of many years has represented the community's main source of wealth, the creamery. It was organized in 1905 by Albert Loyd.

There is not much in this picture that resembles the still hopeful and always hustling village that will celebrate Highway Appreciation day Saturday.

Dairy Industry to Be Meeting Topic in Minneapolis

Marketing of Dairy Products to Be Discussed in Mill City Auditorium

A state-wide, industry-wide meeting on dairy marketing problems has been scheduled for Thursday, September 23 in the west wing of the Minneapolis Auditorium.

The session is being sponsored by the state's dairy industry, through the Minnesota dairy industry committee, to focus attention on the current crisis in the sale picture for dairy products.

Announcements of the all-day meeting describe it as the dairy emergency conference on marketing problems. Invitations are going to dairy farmers, processors, retailers, bankers, editors, main street businessmen and "everyone interested in the future of the dairy industry in Minnesota."

Speakers at the session include:

Professor DeGraff, professor of food economics at Cornell University, who has been crusading for a more enlightened program of public information on dairy products.

Berry Akers, editor in chief of The Farmer, St. Paul, who just recently returned from an extensive tour of European countries as a member of President Eisenhower's commission to study potential foreign markets.

Lester J. Will, manager of the American Dairy Association, who will lead a panel of advertising and merchandising experts in discussing the strategy and plans for expanding the consumption of dairy products.

Myron W. Clark, state commissioner of agriculture who will summarize the day's discussions.

Additional attractions during the meeting include a free lunch, entertainment and movies. One of the first appearances of the newly crowned Princess Kay of the Milky Way, Eleanor Maley of Grand Meadow, will be on the program.

HOW LARGE?

How large should a school district be? There is no generally accepted rule or pattern. The only certain thing seems to be that most of them are now too small but are steadily increasing in size. We are moving toward an organization of districts that include all of the area served by a high school. That is the recommended pattern and this trend will probably be encouraged over a period of years by the way in which state aids are distributed.

Itasca county offers an example of area organization that meets the special needs of that sparsley settled country. Practically all of Itasca county, an area roughly 100 miles square, is organized as one district in which 15 schools are operated. Of those 15, seven are in the city of Grand Rapids. At one time this area was served by 103 one-room schools.

The fact that this form of organization is working out well in Itasca county does not necessarily mean that it is the proper pattern for organization elsewhere. It does serve as an example for possible solutions however and in this corner of the state, where many communities are confronted with school operation problems that at least resemble those in Itasca, the program that appears to be working out well in that county might serve as a guide to what could be done.

LABRADOR ORE

The first ship-borne load of iron ore from the Quebec-Labrador area docked Saturday at Cleveland, Ohio. It was a small shipment, and by itself not much of a factor in terms of competition for the Lake Superior ores that have enjoyed a monopoly in the Lake Erie ports. As the first of many thousand ship-loads however, that will deliver the ore from these new fields now being developed, that first little shipment is significant.

A few years ago this would have been discouraging news here in Minnesota. Our iron ranges have been the main sources of the Lake Superior ores, which, in turn, have been the main source of supply of the nation's steel industry. The news today however is not disturbing.

Whatever may be looked upon as discouraging in this report of new competition is largely offset by the developments within our own state in the processing of our low grade ores. Seven of the major steel producing companies of the United States and Canada are investing more than a half a billion dollars in taconite processing plants in our state, and that is a vote of confidence in our future ore industry that should make all of us feel good.

Processing plants now under construction or in the planning stage are designed for an eventual production of 30 million tons of high grade ore a year. This conversion of a practically unlimited and also comparatively worthless mineral supply to a product of high market value will mean far more to Minnesota than the mining of 70 million tons a year of high grade ores from our open-pit mines. It will mean a more stable operation and payroll, and a better base for the future economic development of the range area.

It is significant that these developments are coming at a time when the steel industry is not suffering from a lack of ore. The industry so far this year has been operating at about 70% of capacity and more iron ore is already available than is needed.

But the industry is looking ahead to future needs. Last year was a big production year with a steel output of 125 million tons. By 1980 the need will be at least 150 million tons it is estimated. Our taconite plants will not be producing at anticipated capacity until 1970. The development that is getting under way today is a vote of confidence in a tomorrow that is many years in the future.

What is there about a bald head that is so appealing to flies at this time of the year?

WHAT'S WRONG WITH THIS?

An estimated increase of nearly one and one-half million pupils in the elementary schools of our country and more than 200,000 more in the nation's high schools puts heavy pressure on already crowded facilities. Many communities, where population has mushroomed, are resorting to makeshift solutions, using public buildings, churches and stores as temporary classrooms.

Along with the replacement of old structures, the need for added space to provide for this increased enrollment is going to keep the builders busy for some time to come. But who would have it otherwise?

TIME TO KEEP COOL

President Eisenhower's let's-keep-our-shirts-on comment to the suggestion made by Senator Knowland that we sever diplomatic relations with Russia should be comforting both at home and abroad. By his hot-headed statement the Republican majority leader again demonstrated his incompetence as the official voice of the party in the Senate.

Careless talk of this kind, by men holding responsible positions in our government, weakens our position immeasurably in dealing with this situation. Because it gives credence to the charges that we are war-mongering it frightens our friends and adds to the difficulties of those in the diplomatic service who are trying to find a peaceful solution to our problems.

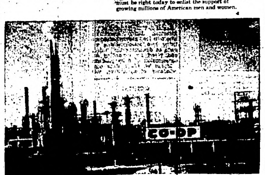
How far from Toad Lane?

Co-ops have come a long way since 1844. That was the year in which the Rochdale Society opened its first co-op, a store on Toad Lane in Rochdale, England.

This first co-op had 28 members. Today, in contrast, a single cooperative may have several thousand members and own a complete oil refinery worth millions of dollars.

How far from Toad Lane! In growth, thousands of miles to all parts of the earth. In size, millions of members. But in the principles of organization . . . democratic control, patronage refunds, universal membership and education . . . co-ops have remained faithful to those laid down by the weavers of Rochdale.

These principles must have been right at that time or the co-op idea would not have spread. They must be right today to enlist the support of growing millions of American men and women.



Published to help you better understand why co-ops are organized . . . how they work . . . and their place in American business.

"There's no tractor to compare with it"

These are words of WD-45 Tractor owners.

From coast to coast, farmers who own the WD-45 are praising the performance of this great new tractor. And there's no doubt about the reasons for such high praise — it's performance . . . and price!

The new POWER-CRATER engine gives you the power you've always wanted. This mighty power plant plus AUTOMATIC TRACTION BOOSTER lets the WD-45 pull three bottoms almost effortlessly through fields often considered impossible to plow.

And conveniences, like SNAP-COUPLER, POWER-SHIFT wheels, and TWO-CLUTCH POWER CONTROL add up to a tractor that's unmatched in features and performance . . .

One demonstration will prove it. And the price will save you hundreds of dollars. Let us show you.

SNAP-COUPLER and POWER-CRATER are Allis-Chalmers trademarks.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our beloved daughter, Violette Lu, who left us 7 and years ago, Sept. 12.

She is gone, but not forgotten,
And as dawns another year,
In our lonely hours of thinking,
Thoughts of her, are always near.
Days of sadness, will come o'er us,
Friends may think the wound is healed.
But they little know the sorrow,
That lies within our hearts concealed.

—Sadly missed by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fort. 36p

Thumping and Bumping?

then let us "TRU" your tires

- Did you know that six out of every ten tire-wheel assemblies are out-of-round?
- The out-of-round characteristics of your tires give you that THUMPING AND BUMPING you feel, that wheel balancing CANNOT remedy.
- The high spots on your tire tread make them out-of-round and they get worse every mile driven, in many cases finally ruining your tires and causing excessive steering assembly wear.
- Bring your car in and let us "TRU" your tires to give you the smooth, vibrationless ride you are entitled to.

Coverage of Social Security Extended

The sweeping new amendments to the Social Security act, signed into law on September 1, by President Eisenhower, will affect virtually every family in the area serviced by the Grand Forks office, according to Walter D. Kistler, district manager.

"The protection of old-age and survivors insurance is now extended to 9 out of 10 families in the community," Kistler said, "and the benefit payments, not only to future beneficiaries but also those now on the rolls, have been substntially increased.

The amended Social Security act, Kistler explained, contains the following provisions:

1. Extends coverage, beginning January 1, 1955, to about 10 million more gainfully employed people, including farm operators, architects, funeral directors, professional engineers, and accountants (including certified, registered or licensed, and full-time public accountants.) Coverage on a voluntary basis to ministers certain members of religious orders, and to Christian Science Practitioners.

2. Increases benefits to all present and future retired workers and to their dependents and survivors. Persons now receiving monthly payments do not have to take any action to get these increases. They will be made automatically. These increases will show on the September checks which will be mailed early in October.

3. Determines benefits on a more advantageous basis by permitting a worker to drop out as many as five years of low earnings in computing his average earnings and by increasing to $4,200 effective January 1, 1955, the amount of annual earnings that can be counted toward benefits.

4. Effective January 1, 1955, permits employed and selfemployed beneficiaries under age 72 to have earnings up to $1200 in a year without loss of social security payments to beneficiary 72 or over will be able to receive all his payments regardless of the amount he may be earning).

5. Preserves for totally disabled workers any benefit rights they may have earned before they become disabled and provides for their referral to State Agencies, for rehabilitation services.

In conclusion, Kistler called attention to a provision in the amended law which affects survivors of workers who died after *June 30, 1940, and before Septem*ber 1, 1950, without having acquired enough covered employment to become insured under the old law. "If you are the surviving aged widow, widowed mother with minor children (under 18), or aged parent of a worker who died between the above dates, and you were not eligible for survivor's benefits before," Kistler said, "the new law may make it possible for you to get payments. If the deceased breadwinner in your family had at least 1½ years of covered work, you should contact the Grand Forks social security office and inquire about your surviver's insurance benefit rights."

Rail Retirement Pay Is Increased

President Eisenhower Tuesday of last week signed legislation increasing retirement pay for railroad workers and generally liberalizing their benefits under the Railroad Retirement Act.

The new law authorizes a maximum pension of $350 a month, as compared with $300 heretofore.

That increase and all other provisions of the bill Eisenhower approved became effective Wednesday. Under the new program, both workers and their employes will contribute more to pension funds.

Sen. Thye Cites Increased Social Security Benefits

System to Be Extended to about Ten Million More Persons in 1955

Senator Edward J. Thye of Minnesota praised the changes made in the Social Security Law to broaden its coverage and increase its benefits as "one of the most constructive acts" passed by Congress in the session just ended. In a statement issued at his Washington office, Senator Thye gave the following summary of the new legislation.

Benefits—increases averaging $6 a month to all 6.5 million persons now on social security rolls will become effective in September. Minimum increase for all 5 million retired persons is $5 a month, so that lowest payment to them hereafter will be $30. The 1.5 million dependents will get a somewhat lower figure. Formula covering benefits for persons retiring in future will be revised to provide for much larger increases. For instance, maximum individual payment will go up from $85 to $108.50, and for a couple from $162.75.

Taxes—tax base on which 2 per cent levy is paid each by employe and employer and 3 per cent on self employed individual will be raised from $3,600 to $4,200 a year, effective January 1, 1955. This will mean a $12 tax boost for an employe earning $4,200 or more next year and also for his employer, and $18 tax boost for the self-employed individual.

Coverage—Social security system will be extended to about 10 million more persons effective January 1, 1955. Included on a compulsory basis will be 3.6 million farm operators, 2 million farm hands, about 100,000 engineers, architects and accountants, about 250,000 domestic workers, about 100,000 home workers and about 50,000 persons in the fishing industry. Included on a voluntary basis will be 3.5 million state and local government employes, who will have to decide in a referendum whether to go under the Federal system, and 260,000 ministers.

Disability freeze—A new provision is added which guarantees that an individual who has no earnings for several years because of a disability does not suffer any reduction in his retirement payment as a result.

Included in the new Social Security Law is a change, embodying provisions of a bill introduced last year by Senator Thye, increasing from $900 to $1200 the amount that may be earned by a person in Social Security without loss of benefits. The age at which such limitation on earnings is removed entirely was also changed from 75 to 72 years.

There are two million more women than men in the United States.

New Report Cards for Hunters in '54

Simplified Form Adopted for Use in Fall Season

Attention—hunters!

Take a closegander at your 1954 small game hunting license when you get it. There have been some changes made. It all involves the hunter's report card portion, which underwent a face-lifting for the purpose of simplification. Dr. Arnold B. Erickson, game research supervisor for the bureau of game, explained in detail in the July-August Conservation Volunteer. Here's a brief summary:

The new card makes it easier for the hunter to report—the old list of 22 kinds of migratory waterfowl has been reduced to six simple categories (ducks, geese, coots, rails and gallinules, woodcocks, and Jacksnipe (Wilson's snipe). The '54 version also asks hunters to check on weather or not Federal Duck Stamp was purchased; how many days ducks were hunted, and in what county duck hunter spent most time. The card also requests members of any leg-band waterfowl shot.

Changes aside — the main thing is for hunters to send in the completed report card—whether the hunter was successful or not! It is largely by means of these reports that the game and fish division determines how much game has been taken and what the prospects are for future seasons.

If most people waited until they had cash to buy things, they'd never have anything. That's why I cheer for this budget plan— For home improvements you can pay monthly for both material and labor . . . spread it over a three year period and as much as $2500. Most improvement jobs hit around half of that. If I fail to mention it you'll be doing me a favor by asking about it.

TO FOLKS WHO WOULD LIKE TO BUILD A HOME —

I have engineered a lot of new home programs. Not only have I acquired some good knowledge on the subject but I have accumulated files of information, plan books, new ideas and open landscaping plans. With all of this information I have also retained some good contacts in the matter of home financing.

If you can get your superstructure up before snow flies you can work on and off all winter. This not only makes for good economy but if you use skilled carpenters you help them to winter income.

Ask any man who is still paying rent why he hasn't bought a home and he'll usually invite you to kick him upstairs for not having started 10 years ago. You've got to roll up your sleeves and START the idea rolling. Few men have ever lost a dime in building a home. Many, many millions have MADE money by taking the step. Come in and let's talk about it.

Here's the car that's changing History

The sales standings of a generation have been changed—by Buick. For Buick today is outselling all other cars in America—regardless of price class—except two of the so-called "low-price three." And each month's sales figures strengthen Buick's new position.

Here's the 3-way Bonus you get in Buick today

1. Advanced styling—styling you know is sure to show up on other cars in the years to come. So you know you have in Buick the car that's sure to stay fresh and new-looking long into the future. And that means you'll be way ahead at trade-in time.

2. Better Buy—for just a few dollars more than you'd pay for one of the so-called "low-price three," you get in Buick a whale of a lot more power, room, comfort, ride steadiness and solid durability—plus the new-day styling that includes the broad panoramic windshield.

3. Top Allowance—with our great and growing sales volume, we can—and do—share our success with you in the form of a higher trade-in allowance on your present car. Drop in, see and drive Buick the beautiful buy—and see for yourself how our volume business means a far bigger allowance for you.

Lawn Renovation

Early September is a good time to start a new lawn or to repair an old one.

• • •

If your lawn is spotty, thin and filled with moss, it's probably low in fertility. Excessive shade can also cause a thin, weak lawn.

• • •

Start your lawn renovation by raking the bare spots or those containing moss with a steel rake. Then apply a top dressing of about 2 inches of good black soil.

• • •

One to two pounds of soybean meal or a 5-10-5 fertilizer per 100 square feet will provide the nutrients necessary for good growth this fall. Each 1,000 square feet of lawn area should receive 1 pound of actual nitrogen. If you were using an 8-10-4 fertilizer, you would apply 12½ pounds to 1,000 square feet. Spread the fertilizer evenly over the lawn area, either by hand or with a spreader. Apply it when the soil is moist but when the blades of grass are dry. Rake the fertilizer in and make the area smooth before seeding. Just after application, water it thoroughly to avoid burning the grass.

• • •

After watering, plant seed on the thin and bare areas. Use Merion or Kentucky bluegrass—about 1 or 2 pounds for every 1,000 square feet. For a shady lawn, Chewings fescue or red fescue is best.

CHILDREN OF GOD

Three things mar the beauty of this picture. DIRT .... POVERTY .... and NEGLECT.

Dirt can be scrubbed away in ten minutes.

Poverty cannot destroy human character. It has bred some of our greatest men and women.

But neglect—for it there is neither cure nor consolation. It is the shadow of evil days to come.

Delinquency, immorality and crime can nearly always be traced to neglect. And not simply to the physical neglect so evident in this picture. Evil lives stem from the neglect of our children's spiritual needs. There are youngsters with clean faces and fine clothes who are being brought up in the soul-stifling atmosphere of a church-less home.

Our children are children of God. It is their sacred right to learn of their Father, and to see Him honored daily in their homes.

Parents, where will your children be on Sunday morning?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

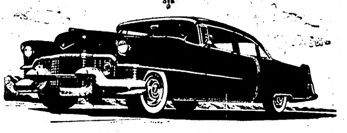
Cadillac



A Ride Is an Education!

There has never before been a time—since the beginning of the automotive industry—when you could learn as much about motor car performance in a single hour as you can today!

All you need do is slide behind the wheel of a new 1954 Cadillac—and head for the open highway.

That great Cadillac engine introduces you to a new measure of power and performance. It takes even the most challenging hills in easy stride—and sweeps you out of a difficult traffic situation with only the slightest pressure on the accelerator.

Cadillac's improved Hydra-Matic Drive is unbelievably responsive and silken and smooth—and takes you from a standing start to your desired rate of speed in one continuous flow of power.

You guide the car with only a feather-light touch on the wheel. It seems almost to follow the weight of your hand around the corners—and it takes you over the winding highway as if it were reading your mind.

Vision is so wide and clear that a single, sweeping glance acquaints you with traffic on every hand. Braking is unbelievably sure and easy. And you ride in such comfort and quiet that you seem to be resting in your favorite easy chair.

Yes, it's an education to take the wheel of a 1954 Cadillac—an education in all the good and wonderful things of motordom.

So stop in any time—slip into the driver's seat—and head for your favorite stretch of highway. You're in for the greatest surprise of your motoring life!

Plowville Features Fertilization

Fertility treatments on corn and legumes will be shown on land just east of Plowville '54 headquarters, Walter Cyriacks' farm near Lake Benton, on September 17-18. Three separate fertilizer treatments went on a legume seeding in 1953. There treatments were made also on a field of contoured corn planted this spring. Yield samples were taken on the first and second legume crops and corn yields will be checked, too. Extension and SCS specialists will explain these treatments to Plowville visitors on the demonstrations tour.

• • •

Tile Clears Field

During 1953's harvest, many acres of small grains were left in south Goodhue county fields. Above-average rainfall made it impossible to operate heavy combines through Floyd soil, found on 80 per cent of the farms in amounts ranging from one acre to entire farms. But Floyd soil can be "gotten around on" if it's drained, so since April 15, area farmers have put in nearly 40,000 feet of tile. They got financial help from the ASC and technical assistance from the SCS. Now, Floyd will be easier to get onto. Tiling will allow harvesting during wet years and also enable the farmers to grow alfalfa in rotation. Before, Floyd wouldn't support legumes — too wet.

• • •

Beef-Grassland Field Day

You can raise beef cattle profitably on rolling, hilly land you don't dare raise row crops on. This is being demonstrated on the 210-acre Beef-Grassland farm at the University's Rosemount Agricultural Experiment Station. Come to the big field day, Tuesday, September 21, and see how 18 Hereford steers are taking to fertilized and renovated pastures.

• • •

Terrace Construction

At Plowville, September 17-18, you'll see terraces built by several methods. Terraces, you know, are effective in controlling soil and water losses on long slopes. Four farmers within a mile of Plowville headquarters have terraced fields. They're mighty handy on Lincoln county's land.

The Building of the Soo

By C. E. Hellquist

The gravel that was used during the construction of the Wheat Line was hauled from the gravel pit at Anita, where there was a station, side track and water tank, about seven miles northwest of Thief River Falls. The station and gravel pit were abandoned several years ago.

On a cold and stormy morning during the winter of 1904-1905, the mixed train from Thief River Falls to Glenwood was proceeding on its way east of Winger, engineer Oliver Lybeck and conductor Cade Ellis. When about one mile east of Winger the engineer felt the locomotive strike some object on the track so he stopped the train. Upon investigation he found womens clothing scattered along the track and several pieces of unmentionables hanging on the front of the locomotive. The crew made a thorough search and found no person injured or killed so they proceeded on their trip. Returning the next day they made inquiry at Winger about what had happened the previous morning. They were told a story about some man who wanted to show his wife who was boss; he had gathered her clothes and placed them in a trunk and set it on the railroad track. This way it was learned why the fancy decorations were on the locomotive.

During the early days of railroading on the Wheat Line during winters of heavy snow the crews went through real hardship while bucking snow with small and inadequate equipment. On one snow bucking trip engineer Ernest Vandervort, fireman Pete Kleth and engineer Arthur Coppersmith, fireman John Tripp were nine days on one snow bucking trip. They had their clothes off only once during that time when they slept at a farmers house west of Conway, N. D. When stalled in the snow they shoveled snow into the locomotive tank, which was melted by steam so there would be a supply of water for the locomotive boilers. Bucking snow is a disagreeable job at any time whether on the railroad or highway.

The line from Plummer to Moose Lake was built during the summer of 1910. There was a large material yard at Plummer where the supplies were stored for the building of the new line. The construction was started early in the summer east from Plummer. The crews who were working behind the Pioneer were engineer Ernest Vandervort, fireman Peter Kolden, James Barnett was conductor on one job and one of his brakemen was Gene Callahan. Engineer Arthur Marcoe and fireman Ernie Benson were on the other job, it is not known who was the conductor and who the brakemen were. Later as the work progressed conductor Barnett and crew were in charge of the steam shovel outfit near Trail. The grade had been built on the frozen muskey swamp west of Trail during the winter. After the steam shovel was cut in and ballast cars loaded two crews were employed hauling gravel out on the muskeg. One crew was engineer Charley Barlett, fireman Paul Harris, conductor Jerry McCarthy, the brakemen were Bill Woolsey and Cliff McLennen. On the other hauling job was engineer George J. (Happy) Holt, fireman Gust Kadupp, we do not know who the conductor and brakemen were on the job.

Hunters, Anglers Pay $277 Million for Sport in 1953

Game and Fish Division Says Average Minnesota Hunter Spent $259.98

Hunters and fishermen in Minnesota spurred trade to the tune of 277 million dollars last year pursuing their favorite sports.

The average nimrod laid out $259.98 which included his expenses for firearms, ammunition, clothing, dogs, boats, transportation, lodging and meals. Equipment and supplies, plus travel and eating cost the average angler $209.83.

The figures, compiled by the state game and fish department on the basis of questionnaires sent out to 600 sportsmen's clubs in the state, showed there were 314,131 licensed hunters and 930,924 fishermen in the woods and on prairies, lakes and streams in 1953.

Broken down, the survey shows hunters spent an estimated $81,667,777 while the anglers were spreading around a whopping $195,003,782. Of this, the state got $593,844 for hunting licenses and $2,805,512 for angling permits.

The report indicates a jump in sporting expenses since 1947 when the last such survey was made. In that year, hunters and fishermen were lumped together for a total expenditure of 110 million dollars, which averages out at $222.35 per man.

A breakdown for last year showed 58 per cent of anglers' money went for boats and motors while nimrods were putting down 44 per cent of their expenditures for firearms.

Traffic Toll Cut in Half in August

39 Deaths During August Sets New Low for Month

Minnesota motorists achieved one of their better driving records of this year during the month of August, according to the state highway department, when they came up with 39 motor vehicle fatalities, as compared with 77 during August of 1953. The month's toll, in addition, was the lowest for any August since the department began keeping fatality records.

Furthermore, this drastic reduction in deaths resulted in this year's toll being reduced to exactly the same total, at month's end, as it was for the first eight months of 1953. This was the first time that current killings equalled those for the comparable date of a year ago.

A total of 18 motorists met their deaths during the month as the result of motor vehicle collisions. There were two multiple death accidents, with two motorists being killed in each.

Fatal accidents in which only single vehicles were involved resulted in 14 lives being lost. There was only one fatal accident at a railroad grade crossing, but it cost four lives. The rest of the deaths were the result of motor vehicles running off the road, hitting bridge abutments or missing curves.

Members of Staff to Hold Annual Workshop in Ev. United Church

It's workshop time for welfare minded Lutherans throughout the State. Rev. Luthard O. Gjerde, executive of the Lutheran Welfare Society and Roger E. Gurholt, field activities, are mapping plans for the annual fall workshops. Twenty of these all day sessions are being held throughout the state in September and October.

The workshop for this locality will be held Tuesday, Sept. 14, at the Evangelical United Church in Erskine, beginning at 9:30 a. m. Rev. Gjerde and Mr. Gurholt together with Henry A. Daum, field activities, and Harold J. Belgum, assistant executive, will form this year's workshop team.

Roy Engh and Mrs. Carl Finstad are the Pennington county chairmen for Lutheran Welfare. They report that in the first 7 months of this year, Lutheran Welfare services have increased about 20% over the same period a year ago.

The local chairmen emphasize that the workshop is open to all welfare-minded people. A noon luncheon will be served by the ladies of the church.

Winners Named in Farm Bureau Dairy Pie Event

The best of nearly 50,000 pies baked in hundreds of Minnesota communities, in local, county, district, and state contests won for Mrs. Clifford Ukkelberg of Clitherall the title of Minnesota Custard Queen at the Minnesota state fair on August 31.

Mrs. Ukkelberg competed there with seven other district contest winners and was crowned by Gov. C. Elmer Anderson at ceremonies held in the Farm Bureau log cabin at the state fair, where the bake-off contest was held.

Third place winner was Mrs. Ukkelberg's daughter, Mrs. Leonard Monke of Nicollet. Mother and daughter were dressed alike and used similar methods. Mrs. Monke is a former Minnesota state champion 4-H pie baker. Second place honors were won by Mrs. L. H. Beckman, of Milaca.

Each of the eight district winners won a prize given by the contest sponsor, the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation. First prize was an electric range. Mrs. M. B. Magnuson of Roseau represented the ninth district.

Algerian Farmer to Spend Month on Polk Co. Farms

A young farmer from Algeria will arrive in Minnesota on Tuesday evening, August 31, to spend the month of September on farms in Polk county.

He is Jean Claude Noel Malvesin, 25, from Alv Tahamimime, French North Africa. He is the fourteenth exchangee to come to Minnesota this summer from other countries under the International Farm Youth Exchange program whose purpose is to promote world understanding at the grass roots level. It gives young people an opportunity to live and work with rural people in another country.

The program is sponsored by the National 4-H Club Foundation, the Cooperative Extension Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the land-grant colleges. It is financed by 4-H clubs, civic groups, rural organizations, business concerns, foundations and individuals interested in world peace.

Malvesin has been in the United States since the end of April. Since that time he has been living with farm families in Virginia. He will be in the United States until November 1.

Insurance Firm Urges Testing of Children's Vision

Unless certain common eye defects are treated before children reach school age, the damage to their sight is likely to be permanent; therefore every child should have a thorough eye examination by age three or three and a half, advises the Northwestern National Life Insurance company.

If a child's eyes are even slightly crossed, or if one eye deviates outward, upward, or downward, normal vision frequently fails to develop in the "off" eye; the same thing often happens if one eye is more nearsighted or more farsighted than the other, says the insurance company's warning bulletin.

The worst handicap to such a child's future chances, it adds, is the well meaning friend or relative who tells the parents, "Wait a while. He may outgrow it."

Children simply do not outgrow crossed eyes or definite refractive impairments, say the insurance doctors. And if treatment is delayed, permanent damage to the sight commonly results—the weaker eye fails to develop normally unless it is put on the right track by the time the child is five or six years old.

The average worker in the United States loses seven and a half days a year because of temporary illness.

It is believed that the disappearance of paper from the modern economy would result in more profound and widespread paralysis than that of any other commodity.

A STATEMENT OF FACTS

This being election year there seems to be a lot of discussion as to how the Register of Deeds office is compensated, and I wish to make this statement in order to Keep the Records Straight.

These are the facts: This office has no salary attached, but subsists only on fees for services rendered, and this is the only compensation. As for clerk hire I have never had any, and have paid the clerks from the income from the fees received, nor have I at any time asked the County for clerk hire, although this is a common practice in most of the Counties of this State.

I trust that this statement will put to rest all rumors to the contrary.

STANDING—left to right: Charles Simpson, President, Minnesota Crop Improvement Association; Arthur Gluek, President, Gluek Brewing Company; Henry O. Putman, Secretary, Northwest Crop Improvement Association; William C. Figge, President, Theo. Hamm Brewing Company; Dr. J. W. Lambert, Division of Agronomy, Institute of Agriculture, University of Minnesota; and John Farrell, Jr., Secretary, Minnesota Brewers' Association.

The State Winners of the Malting Barley Growing Contest were presented with their checks in the above picture taken at the State Fair. A total of $1,000 was awarded these three above named top winners, also eight others in the State Contest. Winners in the 26 county contests received an additional $5,200. Alfred E. Malmberg is a two time Grand Champion having won also in 1951. Gibbons is a repeat winner of the Barley Sweepstakes in the Amateur and Professional Seed Show Class Competition. He will again receive the Barley trophy donated by the Minnesota Brewers' Association.

The winning contestants credit careful seed selection [certified seed], well drained land, careful threshing and good weather for their success in the contest. They all planted Kindred (L).

The purpose of the contest is to increase the quality and acreage of malting barley. During 1953 Minnesota farmers sold about 20 million bushels of malting barley at the terminal market at an average price of $1.50, totaling 30 million dollars. The average premium price paid for top malting barley over top feed barley from August 1953 to August 1954 was 51c per bushel. This means that millions of extra dollars go into the wallets of Minnesota farmers.

The state contest judges were: M. J. Johnson, Officer-in-Charge, Grain Branch, U. S. Department of Agriculture; Donald Bruce, Barley Buyer, Atwood-Larson Company, Grain Exchange; Dr. J. W. Lambert, Department of Agronomy, Institute of Agriculture, University of Minnesota; L. E. Voell, Vice Pres.-Mgr., Kurth Malting Company; and Henry O. Putnam, Executive Secretary, Northwest Crop Improvement Association, all of Minneapolis.

The contest is sponsored by the Minnesota Brewers' Association in cooperation with the University of Minnesota, Institute of Agriculture; Minnesota Department of Agriculture, Dairy & Food; Minnesota Crop Improvement Association, and the Northwest Crop Improvement Association.

The officials of the contest and the Prize Winners were interviewed during State Fair Week on Maynard Speece's 4:45 Friday afternoon show on WCCO and Kal Karstedt's "Farm News Time" on KSTP at 7:15 Friday morning.

50 YEARS AGO

A BRANCH LINE

The Thief River Falls News was back in the railroad building business in dead earnest again in the issue of September 8, 1904. In addition to the usual reports on the progress of the roads being built coming and going, the News this week was back in the rumor business. The rumor had to do with a new line being built by the Soo east or west but anyhow somewhere from Thief River Falls. Under a top-of-the-page headline, Soo To Build A Branch From Here, the News stated:

"The Soo road is going to make Thief River Falls a railroad center. That much seems certain and within a week survey of a new road to branch out from Thief River Falls will be commenced. Just where the new road will run no one knows, but that a branch will be built out from Thief River Falls is certain.

"On Saturday of this week a Soo surveying party will arrive here and work actively commenced. Teams to convey the surveying party have been hired at Red Lake Falls.

"It is quite proable that the new road will be built from this city west toward Warren, Grafton, Park River and other towns in North Dakota about fifty miles north of the Great Northern line and give that section an east and west road, something they have long wanted, the roads there now running north and south

"It is also quite probable that the road in time will be run into Duluth from here as the Soo people are securing property at that place and it may be that the present survey will be to Duluth. It is understood that the present survey will be for a distance of 300 miles but in which direction it will go will not be known until the start is made from this city the first of next week."

Soo Line officials no doubt were anxiously waiting word as to which direction the surveyors took when they left town.

Track Layers Reach Hazel

But the road approaching from the south was not neglected. The track layers had reached Hazel "yesterday" and "by Monday they will be here."

"Work of putting up the iron work of the Soo bridge across the Red Lake river here was commenced the first of the week and it is expected to have the bridge completed by the time the Soo track layers get here. The Soo people have one of the most complete track laying outfits in the country and very rapid progress is being made."

Plans were progressing for the building of the new depot. "Work will be commenced in a short time on the building of the new Soo depot here," the News reported. It will be a duplicate of the Soo depot at Detroit, which is a very creditable one, and will be built of lumber."

There was news about the Great Northern depot too. By unanimous vote the council given final approval to the ordinance giving the Great Northern certain streets and provide a more central location for its depot. Work on this stub and the removal of the depot to its new location would get under way at once.

Failure Predicted

But the News did not limit its reporting to stories about the railroads. Murphy & LaBree had sold a complete new threshing outfit to Gunder Knutson, a farmer living north of town, and the delivery had been made the first of the week.

"It is a fine rig, and the News only hopes there is enough grain in the country to keep it busy from now until it freezes up" was the somewhat gloomy good wish of Mr. Eastman. "However as there are numerous outfits already in the country around here and the crops are not over good, we do not think the threshers are going to get rich this fall," he concluded.

Cranberries Incorporated

The final legal finish of a bankrupt cranberry corporation was noted. "Judge Watts has ordered a hearing in the case of the Cranberry Syndicate of Thief Lake" and in a few weeks there would be the final settlement of its affairs.

"The hearing will mark the last stages of an enterprise of a peculiar nature which was embarked in by a number of Crookston and Warren business men some eight or ten years ago George A. Ralph and N. P. Stone were the prime movers in the enterprise which had for its object the wholesale growing of lowbush cranberries.

"The company was incorporated and steps were taken toward the perfection of a cranberry ranch near Thief Lake in Marshall county. A tract of land was secured that could be flooded from the lake and everything was in splendid condition for the raising of a bountiful crop. But for some unknown reason the enterprise languished and died and now the corporation is being dissolved and the property disposed of."

The merger of two of the largest artificial breeding cooperatives in the area and formation of a new organization to be known as Consolidated Breeders Cooperative, has been announced.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Few Upsets [illegible]evelop in Primary [illegible]ection

A comparatively light vote was registered in the state and locally in the primary election Tuesday, and no major upsets occurred. A total of 1,200 votes was cast in Thief River Falls.

The only local contest on the ballot found the race for second place in the contest for register of deeds still in doubt with Deer Park township unreported at 10:30 this morning. Oscar A. Nelson, incumbent, led the field of three aspirants with 1,173 votes, while battling it out for the second place on the November election ballot were Stan Cockrell with 470 votes and Fred Lorentson with 474.

Coya Knutson, DFL candidate for Congress, received a strong endorsement in Pennington county, polling 710 votes compared to 122 for Thomas Letnes, her nearest rival. Reports received this morning indicate that she won her party's nomination.

DFL ballots led the Republican ballots in Pennington county by a margin of nearly 300.

With about half of Minnesota precincts reporting, P. Kenneth Peterson was leading A. Herbert Nelson for the GOP nomination for lieutenant governor. Kern Olson of this city was trailing statewide, but was given a strong endorsement by his home community, receiving 521 votes compared to Peterson with 97.

On the DFL ticket, Freeman was leading Paul Rasmusson for the governor nomination by a four-to-one margin, and Rolvaag led Fremont Peterson for lieutenant governor two to one.

Congressman Harold Hagen led his opponent, August Duren, in Pennington county by a margin of 726 to 80, and he also carried the Ninth district by a substantial margin.

Specifications Questioned in Knox Contract

Argument Between Low Bidder and School Board Referred to Architects

Appearing at the September session of the Thief River Falls board of education Monday evening, Dean L. Witcher of Minneapolis, who recently was awarded the general contract for an addition to the Knox school, contended that the contract did not include fencing for the new Lincoln high school athletic field.

The board disagreed with Witcher's interpretation of the specifications, and arrangements were made for the contractor to confer with the architects, Toltz King & Day, in an attempt to clarify the issue, and then to meet with the local board again. The item in dispute involves about $7,000, Supt. W. G. Claffy stated.

Other business transacted by the board included calling for bids on a new school bus, the bids to be opened October 11. The district at present operates ten buses.

To complete the school faculty for the current term, Don Wallen of Minneapolis was named to serve as speech and dramatics teacher.

The board also discussed a regional workshop to be conducted in Thief River Falls Tuesday, September 28, under the sponsorship of the Minnesota School Board association.

Duluth Youth Killed in Auto Mishap on 219

Edward C. Saburn Dies 5 Minutes after Being Brought to Hospital

Edward C. Saburn, 17, of rural Duluth succumbed early Sunday morning in Northwestern Hospital to injuries sustained in an automobile accident shortly after 2 o'clock that morning on Highway 219 five miles north of Goodridge in Marshall county.

Saburn, who was a passenger in a car driven by Raymond A. Opland, 17, also of Duluth, died about five minutes after being brought by ambulance to the hospital. Opland was critically injured in the mishap, suffering extended internal injuries and a dislocated left hip, but he is expected to recover. He is confined in the hospital here.

The highway patrol, which investigated the accident, reported that Opland apparently lost control of his car while approaching a spot where a new bridge is being erected on the highway over Ditch 20. Missing the bypass, the car continued along the highway and went into the excavation, about 12 feet deep at that point. The car was wrecked.

The two youths had been working with a crew from Duluth on a Christmas tree cutting project in the Beltrami Island forest area.

Local authorities decided Monday afternoon not to call an inquest to investigate the circumstances surrounding Saburn's death.

Highway patrol officers who investigated the accident credited a group of five young men who arrived at the scene shortly after the Opland car went into the water-filled ditch with saving Opland's life.

Included in the group were Dennis Sabo of Moorhead, Ray McEnelly of Thief River Falls, and Laverne Vraa, Joe Rolandson and Wilfred Stephenson, all of Goodridge.

As they were about to drive past the scene of the accident, the young men heard a cry for help and then discovered the car in the ditch, which had water several feet deep in it. They pulled Opland, who was badly injured, out of the water on top of the car, and Sabo held Saburn's head above water, the latter being caught under the car.

In the meantime, the other youths located a telephone to call the patrol and ambulance, and then returned to aid in directing traffic until the patrol arrived to take charge.

Clarence Edward Saburn was born July 15, 1935 in Duluth. At the time of his death he was a student at Central high school in Duluth.

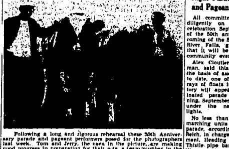
Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence R. Saburn; one sister, Doreen; three brothers, Robert, Glenn and Thomas; his grandmothers, Mrs. Aurora Sandvick and Mrs. Oliver Hay, all of Duluth.

The Johnson funeral home in Duluth is in charge of arrangements for services.

Miss Ivanette Hanson left Wednesday for Bemidji where she will attend teachers college this coming term.

50th Anniversary Celebration Promises to Be a Gala Affair

Pageant and Parade Performers



Following a long and rigorous rehearsal these 50th Anniversary parade and pageant performers posed for the photographers last week. Tom and Jerry, the oxen in the picture, are making good progress in preparation for their acts, a team number in the parade and appearing as singles in the Red River ox cart scenes in the pageant.

Banquet September 24, Night Parade Sept. 24 and Pageant Two Days

All committees are working diligently on details of the celebration September 24 to 26 of the 50th anniversary of the coming of the Soo Line to Thief River Falls, giving assurance that it will be an outstanding community event.

Alex Cloutier, parade chairman, said this week that, on the basis of assurances received to date, one of the largest arrays of floats in the city's history will appear in the illuminated parade Saturday evening, September 25, at 8 o'clock under the new white way lights.

No less than 15 bands and marching units will enliven the parade, according to Dr. O. D. Reich, in charge of that department. Heading the list is the Thistle pipe band of Winnipeg, Western Canada champion, which also performed here in June.

Also taking part will be high school bands from Newfolden, Gary, Fertile, Middle River, Red Lake Falls, McIntosh, Fosston, and Warroad, in addition to the Warroad clown band, Crookston drum and bugle corps, Marching Majorettes, Lincoln high school band, Shrine Oriental band and a Grand Forks Shrine marching unit.

Another event on the three-day program is the anniversary banquet to be held Friday evening, September 24, at 6 o'clock in St. Bernards dining hall. Veteran employes of the Soo Line will be guests of honor, together with members of the board of directors of the Soo Line, who will be holding a business meeting in the city that morning.

The Rev. E. C. Mead is scheduled to serve as toastmaster at the banquet, and speakers will include G. Allan MacNamara, president of the Soo Line, and W. C. Ferguson of Cleveland, Ohio, special representative of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, who will speak for the railroad brotherhoods.

George Werstlein, banquet chairman, stated that an advance sale of tickets for the banquet will be conducted this week-end under the direction of Ole E. Engelstad.

Thief River Falls will be honored by having as its guest Saturday, September 25, Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay, who will be accompanied here by Mrs. McKay. Mr. McKay will deliver an address immediately preceding the pageant in the tourist park Saturday afternoon, and following the spectacle will be inducted into the Chippewa tribe of Indians. The ceremony will be photographed and recorded for broadcast over WCCO-TV, Minneapolis television station.

Rev. R. Brandt to Head Food Appeal

Lutherans Seek Grain Gifts for World Relief

The Rev. Raymond Brandt, of Holt, pastor of the Silverton Lutheran and Silver Creek Lutheran churches was elected to serve as chairman of the Thief River area (Pennington county) for the All Lutheran Food Appeal, at a meeting at Zion Lutheran church here Wednesday evening.

The All Lutheran Food Appeal is sponsored by Lutheran World Relief of the National Lutheran Council with the cooperation of the board of world relief of the Lutheran church—Missouri Synod, and is a program in which farmers are asked to give of the fruit of their fields to help feed the famished persons in hungry areas of the world.

Ingathering dates will be announced within a few days, and it is hoped that a box car of wheat can be made up from the grain received. Milling wheat is being requested from the northern counties of Minnesota, but other grains will be received and sold to buy wheat. The wheat will then be shipped to famished persons in Europe and Asia where it will be distributed to those who need it most by personnel of the churches without regard for profession of faith, race or political affiliation. The food will be distributed solely on the basis of greatest need.

Since the close of World War II, Lutheran World Relief has sent material aid with a cash valuation of more than $34 million dollars to 20 countries and areas of the world. This appeal is being conducted in the agricultural areas of the United States where there is sufficient Lutheran membership to make this program possible.

WCCO-TV to Televise Portion of Pageant

The presentation of the historical pageant, "As the Wheels Turn," in the tourist park Saturday and Sunday afternoon, September 25 and 26, as a feature of the 50th anniversary celebration, is attracting more than local attention.

It was announced this week that WCCO-TV of Minneapolis will send a crew of cameramen and technicians to Thief River Falls by plane September 25 to record scenes from the pageant, as well as the ceremony of inducting Douglas McKay, secretary of the interior, into the Red Lake band of Chippewa Indians, which event will be held immediately following the pageant Saturday.

In the meantime, it was announced at a meeting of pageant committees Monday evening that the men's group has arranged to assemble virtually all of the larger properties that will be needed.

Mrs. Rudolph Sagmoen, casting chairman, reported that the cast of women's characters is nearly complete, but that the cooperation of groups and individuals is necessary to secure the 50 men needed for the various roles. Volunteers are asked to call Mrs. Sagmoen or Miss Katharine Barzen.

The children's cast is now complete, and includes John Stromberg, Rocky and Jack Stewart, Button Emanuel Jr., Leon Borchert, Robin Bredeson, Ronnie Solheim, Dean Bergland, Gail Emanuel, Bonita Borchert and Sandra Skjod.

The pageant, which will be given at 2:30 each afternoon, is directed by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Searls and Hal Searls Jr.

Carlie Johnson Home Is Damaged by Fire Thursday

Faulty Electric Wiring Is Held Responsible for Fire Causing $1,000 Loss

A blaze that originated last Thursday morning at 6 o'clock in the Carlie Johnson home at 623 Horace av. N. caused $800 to $1,000 damage, Fire Chief Roy Langevin reported.

Johnson was awakened by dense smoke, and he roused the Ardel Liden family, living in an upstairs apartment. The fire started in the basement and worked its way up an inside wall to the second floor and then to the ceiling before being extinguished by the fire department.

It required almost two hours to put out the blaze, and the firemen had to use ventilating fans and masks. The department concluded that the fire had been caused by defective electrical wiring, and state electrical inspector Drees concurred in the opinion.

Firemen were summoned Sunday morning at 8:35 to the Jess Merrill home on Oak st., where a fire developed in a partition near the chimney. The fire was out by the time the department arrived at the scene, and damage was nominal.

Northwest Concert Assn. Mails out 1,500 Invitations to Join

The annual membership campaign for the Northwest Concert association got underway this week as fifteen hundred invitations to membership were mailed. This year's campaign will be conducted entirely by mail, without the personal contact that has been used in past years. Memberships will be available until October 8 only by mail to the organization, or at headquarters in the Ben Franklin store, Larson Music Company or the Dave Vaaler agency, all in Thief River Falls.

After the campaign, memberships will not be available. Dave Vaaler, president, pointed out that the association is tax-exempt organization only so long as the audience for each presentation is restricted to members only. Thus it is possible to devote every cent of the membership money, except for the few dollars operating expenses, to bringing outstanding musical attractions to Thief River Falls.

During the membership drive this year, each member is asked to indicate his choice for programs on the 1954-55 series by voting in the space provided on the membership application. When the campaign is closed the board will tabulate those votes and if the budget allows, and a reasonable time schedule is possible, the majority vote will be used as a guide for choosing programs.

The board of directors of the association announced this week that one of the numbers for the series this year has already been arranged. Late in October or early in November, Doc Evans will bring his Dixieland Jazz band to Thief River Falls for a lecture concert of the type that has become so popular at art centers and college campuses throughout the country. The same program was enthusiastically received by a meeting of band instructors last fall in Minnesota.

Other available programs include an opera company of 13 persons who will present "La Boheme" in an English translation with complete costumes and stage settings. The tour has been set for many Minnesota communities, following an emminently successful tour last spring throughout the state. In towns where the company appeared last spring, this was the first program requested for a return engagement.

A two piano team, members of the music faculty at the conservatory of music of Yankton College at Yankton, South Dakota, has purchased grand pianos to tour the area this fall. Enthusiastic audiences throughout the midwest attest to the musical excellence of this group, according to the University of Minnesota Concert Theatre and Lecture Service which has arranged the tour.

A vocal quartet, The Knickerbockers, tenor Eddy Ruhl, Baritone Robert McFerrin, a repeat offering, an instrumental quartet, a theatre company and many other artists are offered to members for their choice this year.

It is hoped, by the board of directors of the association that this year's membership will exceed that of past years. The membership will available for a longer period than ever before and the group feels that this year's presentations offer a wider range of interesting programs than before. Memberships are to accepted through the mail or by calling in person until October 8th only.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Miller of Calvin, N. Dak. visited Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Peterson.

Glorianne Myrum to Represent Pennington

Glorianne Myrum, a member of the Deer Park 4-H club, has won a trip to the second annual state health achievement camp in Itasca State Park September 20-23.

Glorianne was chosen for the honor, according to County Agent William Penning, because of the excellent long-time record she has made in the 4-H activity and work in leadership. More than 100 Minnesota 4-H boys and girls who have made good health records will attend the camp at the University of Minnesota's Itasca forestry and biological station.

Funds for the camp are provided by the Folger coffee company.

One of the important events at the camp will be the selection of this year's outstanding health girl and boy. They will be named at the state health camp instead of during the Minnesota state fair, as in former years.

In selecting delegates for the camp, individual health records were considered as well as the contributions of each 4-H member in making his home and community a more healthful place to live, Penning said. Ability of the 4-H'er to bring back useful health information to his fellow members was also considered in making the choice.

Roland Sundberg Wins Soil Judging Contest at Grygla

Carl Petersen Second and Vernon Howland 3d at Annual Fall Festival

Roland Sundberg, farmer from east of Grygla, was proclaimed first prize judge of soils at the land judging contest held as part of the 3rd annual Grygla Fall Festival. Carl Peterson was second and Vernon Howland, third. Other contestants were Gordon Anderson, Karl Sundberg, Sidney Askeland, Clarence Peterson, Oliver Howland and Thilford Viken. All were farmers from in and around Grygla.

The contest was sponsored jointly by the Marshall-Beltrami soil conservation district and the Marshall County extension service. Orvis Engelstad, soil conservation agent in Marshall county, and John McMartin, work unit conservationist, were in charge of the contest.

The purpose was to evaluate soil resources in the same manner that judging dairy cattle evaluates the productive ability of a dairy cow. Although the idea of judging soils was new to most of the participants, they caught on rapidly and showed considerable knowledge of their soils.

San Agreement Has Been Reached

Local Patients to Move to Sunnyrest Shortly

The proposal of the four counties sharing in the support of Oakland Park sanatorium to contribute on a per capita basis to Sunnyrest sanatorium at Crookston when Oakland Park patients are transferred there has been approved by the Polk and Norman county boards, which alone have supported Sunnyrest in the past.

Dr. Baldwin Borreson, superintendent of the sanatorium here, stated that transfer of patients to Sunnyrest is awaiting submission of formal contracts to be signed by the boards of the counties involved, including Pennington, Red Lake, Marshall and Roseau.

The question of which group is to operate Oakland Park when it is converted into a home for the aged remains to be determined, Dr. Borreson added.

Elaine Hellquist a member of the New Solum 4-H club, has won a trip to the 4-H state conservation camp in Itasca Park September 16-19, County Agent William Penning has announced.

She will be among 100 4-H boys and girls from all parts of Minnesota chosen to attend the camp because of outstanding work done in the 4-H conservation program. A trip to the annual camp is one of the prized awards in 4-H work.

The camp will be held at the University of Minnesota's Itasca forestry and biological station. Nature hikes, a boat trip, a tour of the park and cook-outs will be highlights of the camp. Classes will be held each day in forestry, soil conservation, plant life and outdoor cookery.

The 4-H State Conservation camp was started 20 years ago. It is made possible each year through funds contributed by Charles L. Horn, president of Federal Cartridge Corporation. Alfalfa Needs Month to Winterize"

A month's rest before any possible killing frost helps an alfalfa stand survive the winter far better and have a better stand next spring. I would like to point out that many wise farmers have found it's best to give their stand such a vacation. Some of them found by hard experience that cutting or grazing too far into the fall damaged their stands. The season grazing right up until frost brings trouble is simple: it prevents plants from growing and storing food reserves in their roots. Like hibernating animals, they need such reserves to survive the bitter winter and get off to a good start in the spring.

The University of Minnesota's extension agronomist, Rodney A. Briggs, suggests four weeks of freedom from grazing before any possible killing frost. It allows top growth to build up and helps the plant store away good food reserves.

After a killing frost, however, you can safely graze cattle on alfalfa or cut hay from it. Then, there is far less chance of damaging the 1955 stand because the plants already have stopped growing and that first frost has helped them prepare for winter.

We Could Use More

Although our country is the largest milk-producer in the world, it isn't among the top milk users. USDA specialists say we use only a little more than half as much milk per person as — guess? No, not Norway or Holland. But, way down under in New Zealand. The U. S. even puts away 60 pounds less per person than England, which ranks ninth in the world. In use of fluid milk, we rank seventh. In cheese-eating we rank 11th, in butter consumption 12th.

"U" Farm Needs Twins, Triplets

If you happen to have twin bull dairy calves, you may be able to sell them at a good profit — if they're identical. The University's dairy specialists are on the lookout for identical twin and triplet bull calves for use in feeding experiments. Because twins' physical makeup is identical, dairy specialists can get far more accurate tests results with a new feeding formula or experiment. Call or come in to our office if you have a pair or trio. A University specialist will come out and look them over and make you a good price.

Good Work Tip

Ever have to fight your way through heavy, stinging wind to the barn or milk house in below-zero weather? Well, University foresters have found that shelterbelts do an astounding job of cutting down wind and making it "walk" around your place. That's one of the many benefits of properly planned trees. Many wise farmers now are planning new shelterbelts or improving their old ones. We have free booklets on shelterbelt planning and planting. We will also be ordering trees this winter so plan for your order now.

Are you busy making jelly now? Here is a hint for you to make your jelly making easier, from Mrs. Calvin Toomey of Rocksbury. Mrs. Toomey suggests that when you make jelly, do not bother to melt the paraffin for sealing. Merely place a piece of paraffin in the bottom of the sterile jar and add the hot jelly. The heat of the jelly will melt the paraffin and since it is lighter than the jelly, the paraffin will float to the top. Mrs. Toomey adds that this time-saving method does not hold for jam.

One of the 4-H demonstrators from Pennington County created quite a sensation at the State Fair. She is Doris Belange of rural Thief River Falls, a daughter of Joe Belanges and a member of the Rocksbury 4-H club. Doris demonstrated the fine art of making lefse. She had her picture in the St. Paul Pioneer Press with an accompanying article on lefse, and was asked to present her demonstration again on Labor Day. Only blue ribbon demonstrations of special interest are chosen for Labor Day, when the number of visitors to the 4-H Building is extremely large. Doris has brought a great deal of publicity to the county. Many folks who watched her demonstrate how fine it was to see this favorite food made by a 4-H'er. Doris has generously passed on her recipe to the column this week.

5 large potatoes
½ cup sweet cream
1 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons butter
Flour to roll thin

Boil potatoes, mash, add cream, butter and salt. Let cool. Add flour. Roll dough thin as for crust. Bake on lefse baker or griddle turning frequently. Place between clean cloths when baked.

This recipe makes 10 lefse. And . . the calories value of EACH one is in the neighborhood of 180 calaries.

Cub Pack Outing Draws Sixty Boys and 50 Parents

Sixty boys and 50 parents participated Tuesday evening in the first meeting of Cub Pack 60 of the fall season, taking the form of a picnic in Tindolph park, Millard Nelson, cub master, reported today. He added that two new cub dens have been organized, and that any other boys ages eight to 11 wishing to join should contact him. The dens meet once a week, and the cub pack once a month.

Correction—

The Times last week quoted a news item from another paper which erroneously stated that under the terms of a new law signed by President Eisenhower a pension of $350 per month was provided for railroad workers, whereas in fact the present maximum pension is something over $150 a month. The new law provides that rail workers shall be taxed on $350 per month of their earnings for pension purposes instead of $300 per month as was formerly the case.

400,000 hens can't be wrong!

They proved it. . . .

Archer-fed hens lay 25.4% more early eggs than national average

WHO SAID THERE'S NO DIFFERENCE IN EGG FEEDS? Here's how:

Four hundred thousand Archer-fed hens proved there's a tremendous difference. Here's how:

More than 1,500 farm flocks went on test for a 90-day period. Every flockowner kept accurate daily records. And the results showed: 25.4% more early eggs produced by Archer-fed hens than the national average. What's more, these extra eggs were high-profit ones. They came in October, November and December when egg prices are at their peak.

Why shouldn't you enjoy the extra income this year that goes with MORE EARLY EGGS? Put your flock on Archer Poultry Booster Feeds.

Sid Vraa Sparks Prowlers to 39 to 0 Victory over Warren

Sparked by the 20-point performance of their talented quarterback, Sid Vraa who scored three touchdowns and added a pair of conversion points on placekicks, coach Ralph Skjod's football Prowlers opened their 1954 schedule by defeating the Warren Ponies, 39 to 0, in a 31st district game played here on Friday night.

This week, on Friday night, Sept. 17th, the Prowlers will travel to Red Lake Falls for a district game against coach John Miller's Red Lake Falls' Eagles.

Friday night's opener against the Warren Ponies found the Prowlers defending the east goal as they accepted the kick-off. Four first downs carried from the locals' 37-yard line to the Warren 8-yard stripe, where a Prowler fumble halted the drive on the 3-yard line. Warren's Ray Burwell picked up 4 yards at left guard, and on the next play a Pony fumble gave the Prowlers possession on the 9-yard line.

Vraa gained 6 yards at left tackle; Vraa recovered a fumble for a yard gain, and on the next play he rambled through left tackle to score standing up. On the conversion point, the Prowlers scored twice, but once an offside, and another time a holding penalty nullified both plays. On the third attempt, from the 23 yard line, Vraa tossed a pass to Mark Bjorkman, completed in the end zone to give the locals a 7 to 0 lead.

Three plays later the Prowlers had another touchdown, with Jim Hall recovering a Warren fumble on the Ponies' 46-yard line to set up the score. Vraa, on a fumble, lost six yards; and then, with the ball on the Prowlers' 48-yard line, Bjorkman broke through left tackle for a 52-yard touchdown sprint. A fumble halted the try for the extra point.

The Prowlers added their third touchdown when, early in the second period, Vraa gathered in Russ Melgaard's punt on the Prowler 30-yard line and advanced to the Warren 43-yard line. Three downs carried the ball to the Warren 5-yard from where Vraa, on a slashing off-tackle drive, crossed the goal-line for a td. Sid's placekick gave the Prowlers a 20 to 0 first half lead.

Warren made a threat to score late in the second period when Cliff Anderson recovered a Prowler fumble on the Thief River 47-yard line. Burwell, taking a lateral pass, skirted left end for a first down on the Prowler 21-yard line. A Pony pass was incomplete, and then a Warren fumble was recovered by the Prowlers.

The Prowlers scored early in the second half when Pete Froehle broke through to block Melgaard's fourth down kick, giving the locals possession on the Pony 12-yard line. Jim Sauve rattled off right tackle for the 12 yards and the touchdown, but the extra point was missed.

A recovered fumbled punt gave Warren the ball on the Prowler 31-yard line, and a 6-yard gain by Melgaard and 5-yard plunge by Marlin Fillipi gave the Ponies a first down on the locals' 20-yard line. A 15-yard holding penalty, a 10-yard loss on a pass play, a 5-yard penalty, and a pair of incomplete pass plays, moved the ball back to midfield.

After the Prowlers had a touchdown called back on the opening play of the fourth period, because of a clipping penalty, the locals had the ball on the Ponies' 34-yard line. Vraa circled out around right end, and then reversed his field to shift through the secondary for a touchdown, and when he placekicked the point, the Prowlers led, 33 to 0 (the ball was booted out over Arnold avenue, and when it was "lost" the game was held up for several minutes until another ball was brought into the game). The Prowlers closed out the game's scoring when Jack Quesnell, from the Warren 17-yard line, cut out around left end for a touchdown, and when the extra point try was smeared, the Prowlers had their 39 to 0 total.

Warren, just before the game's end, put together a pair of first downs, with Melgaard's 27-yard run off left tackle being the big gainer, to carry to the Prowler 18-yard line. Melgaard added a pair of yards at left tackle; Burwell, on a pair of plays, was held for no gain, and on his third try he picked up five yards, giving the Prowlers possession just as the game-ending whistle was blown.

Edlund, Williamson Lead Local Batters

While Dick Edlund, the Thieves' capable utility player, posted a season's average of .409, the leading batter among the Thieves' "regulars" was Al Williamson. Williamson, the longstriding outfielder of the locals, compiled an average of .381, having sixteen hits in forty two trips to the plate.

Joey Poole, who finished the season with a .328 average, scored the most runs, 18, and also banged out the most hits, 20. Derwood Swede Lund won the runs-batted-in honors, driving seventeen scores across the plate. Jack Hoppe also had a fine runs-batted-in mark, the southpaw swinger driving in thirteen runs on fifteen basehits.

Results of Sept. 9th matches: Times, 116, vs. Johnson Bros., 109; Baumann-Oen, 121, vs. Wilson Bros., 120; The Pharmacy, 118, vs. Northern Chevrolet, 114.

The city trap shoot league concluded a successful season of competition on Thursday evening, and Stan Wilson's Wilson Bros., squad, although losing their final match to the Baumann-Oen squad, 121 to 120, won the league title. The Wilson's concluded their schedule with a total of 14 points, having a one-point margin over the runner-up Baumann-Oen team.

In defeating the Wilson's on Thursday evening, the Baumann-Oen scored a pair of 25's, by Roy Oen and Chuck Dablow, a pair of 24's, by Dr. Jim Diase and Orvis Olen, and a 23 by Dr. Paul Wendt. For the league-champion Wilson's, Si Schantzen and Bob Peterson had 25's, Stan Wilson and Howie Brandt had 24's, and Ed Fischer had a 22.

The league statistician and secretary, Erling Torgerson, has compiled the actual-bird averages of the league shooters and the following are the ten high average shooters: Dr. Jim Diase, 22.8; Mel Hyland, 21.51; Ray Johnson, 21.8; Hank Storhaug, 20.4; Walt Jung, 19.9; Rudy Sagmoen, 19.8; Henry Granum, 19.5; Ole Ekeren, 19.4; Clarence Mattson, 19.2; and Harold Elofson, 19.

With the upland game-bird season scheduled to open on Saturday, Sept. 18th, arrangements are being completed for a Hunter's Special trap shoot to be held on Friday afternoon, Sept. 17th.

Seek to Protect Canada Geese on Mud Lake Refuge

Mud Lake refuge personnel are concerned over the welfare of the Canada geese which leave the refuge each morning to feed in adjacent fields. These birds are the breeding stock for the future flocks which will provide better goose shooting for local hunting enthusiasts.

The geese are relatively tame and will allow a man to approach within gun range before flying. To assure having as many as possible of these geese on hand for the next breeding season, refuge personnel are attempting to "educate" the geese.

Early morning patrols are being carried out to locate fields being used by the geese. After locating a flock, the person approaches as close as possible on foot and then fires a gun in the air. It is hoped that this will make the geese more wary of man and hence save the lives of the breeding stock.

Any farmers in the refuge vicinity unharvested grain fields which are being used by ducks are urged to contact the Refuge manager. Refuge personnel will aid the farmer in setting up devices to disperse the ducks from the unharvested field.

Chicken Shoot

As a result of several personal excursions into grouse-hunting areas, and from conversations with expert "chicken" hunters, we've developed a sour outlook with regard to the upland game-bird season that opens on Saturday. It is the consensus that the sharp-tailed grouse population has declined since last year, and this decline has been blamed on the late and wet spring that this area experienced.

Gene Sjoberg, who has been an upland game-bird hunter ever since his dad, the late Dick Sjoberg, decided he was old enough to carry a gun, was out on Sunday on a "scouting" trip. Gene used dogs, and he trudged through the cover in the same style that he would employ if he was hunting "chickens," and only twenty birds were flushed. Last year, working the same cover, he flushed about one hundred and fifty birds.

Bob and Clarence Mattson were up around Karlstad on Sunday, covering territory that produced some fine hunting last season, and which had numerous birds for carry-over into this year, and they, using a pair of dogs, moved only about ten chickens.

There are a few smug individuals strutting around town and making big plans for Saturday's opening, and the reason for their smugness is that they have pin-pointed a covey or two of birds.

The partridge season opens on Saturday, too, but that, because of the heavy foliage, is pretty hopeless. We won't know how this year's partridge hatch is until a killing frost cleans off the trees. It's probable that the partridge season will be more of a success than the sharptail grouse season.

About the wisest course, perhaps, is to go out to the trap shooting range and participate in the "chicken shoot." They will have plenty of chickens out there.

Organization Completed

While there wasn't an overabundance of fans at the two athletic meetings held in the Auditorium last Wednesday and Thursday evenings, the accomplishments at the meetings were considerable. The senior hockey group held their gathering on Wednesday night, and the important business at hand was the election of four directors, for three-year terms, and the following were chosen: Lloyd Spray, Carl Wennberg, Charlie Smith, and Swede Hendrickson. This quartet will join the carry-over directors — Bill LaFave, Len Goulet, Chuck Krause, Art Dicken, Orrin Hall, and Harry Hendrickson—in conducting the senior hockey program for the 1954-55 season.

The Thieves baseball organization held their meeting on Thursday night, and they elected the following officers and directors: president, Len Goulet; vice president, Charlie Smith; secretary-treasurer, Harold Stroble, and directors, Elmer Poole, Irv Wilson, Ole Vraa, and Berdeen Nornes. Now that the baseball group is organized for the 1955 season, they'll be able to go ahead and make definite plans for bolstering the Thieves lineup, and perhaps arrange a tentative exhibition schedule against some of this region's top-ranked teams. We'll have an A-1 ball park next year, and we're sure the fans will support an A-1 ball team.

Stan's Champs

While it was somewhat embarrassing for Stan Wilson's trap shooting team, the league champions, to lose their final match, being out-pointed by the High - scoring Baumann - Oen squad, 121 to 120, the Wilson's weren't humiliated by that loss.

In their last eight matches of the ten-match league season, the Wilson squad—Stan Wilson, Cy Schantzen, Al Tonder, Ed Fischer, Henry Granum, Howie Brandt, Bob Peterson, and Hank Storhaug—shot at a 120.7 point average. It's no wonder that those boys nailed down the league title! In their first two matches, on May 20 and June 3rd, the Wilsons scored a 106 and a 112, but since that time they never had a score below 119.

Snowball Special

"Neither snow nor sleet, etc., etc.," will keep this region's golfers from attending the "Snowball Special" shortstop golf tournament scheduled for the local course on Sunday. Since its inauguration a number of years ago, this late-season golf tourney has found much favor with the golfers, and it brings the local golf season officially to a close.

With its late September date, the "Snowball" is a frigid affair, and the golfers come well-prepared to battle both the elements and the course. There have been occasions when overshoes, wool-lined caps and mittens have been standard equipment. We can recall one time when snow flurries plagued the golfers during the playing of the shortstop, and the mixture of snow-in-the-face and leaves-on-the-green made three and four-putt greens the rule. But the golfers claimed they had fun; and they'll perhaps have fun on Sunday.

Eagles vs. Prowlers

Coaches Skjod and Mrkonich have been busy this week preparing the football Prowlers for their traditional tussle against the Red Lake Falls Eagles. The game this year will be played under the lights on Red Lake Falls' Riverside Park, on Friday night, and judged by their opening game performances—the Prowlers defeating Warren, and Red Lake Falls edging out Fosston—the two teams will enter the game pretty even.

The Eagles have a standout backfield performer in Duane Bozo Emard, and it was on a long run by Emard in the final minute of play that the Eagles scored their win over Fosston. The Prowlers flashed a capable backfield in trouncing Warren, 39 to 0, here last Friday, but it remains to be seen if the Prowler offensive line can operate against the Eagles, who will field a bigger line than the Ponies had, and if the line doesn't give the Prowler backs any protection, the blue-and-gold will have their troubles on Friday night.

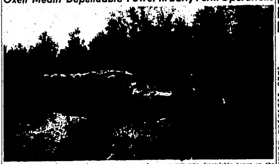
Oxen Meant Dependable Power in Early Farm Operations



Oxen will be a novel sight for many who attend the celebration here next week but many old-timers have a clear recollection of the time when ox-power was dependable power on the farm. The above picture of Mr. and Mrs. Christ Nessen making hay was taken in Star Township on the farm they homesteaded in 1912.

Former EGF Man Is Proposed for Federal Judge

Federal Judge Matthew Joyce Friday announced that he intends to retire Oct. 11 after 22½ years on the federal bench.

Simultaneously, Sen. Edward J. Thye disclosed that he will recommend Edward J Devitt, St. Paul, to succeed Judge Joyce. Devitt currently is Ramsey County probate judge.

Judge Devitt, 43, a Republican is a former municipal judge, assistant attorney general, law instructor, and went to Congress from Minnesota's fourth district from 1947-49.

He is a native of St. Paul. His mother moved with the family to East Grand Forks, Minn., when Judge Devitt was 10. He became municipal judge there at the age of 24, the youngest man to hold that elective position.

He entered the Navy in 1941 as a lieutenant (jg), after being granted a leave of absence from the attorney general's office. He resumed his duties after discharge, but resigned in 1946.

Social Security Payments to Rise

Increases to Commence with September Checks

Congress has passed a law raising the payments to every family now getting federal old-age and survivors insurance, according to Walter D. Kistler, district manager of the Grand Forks social security office. The increases will start with the September checks mailed in early October.

You need not apply for this increase, Kistler stated. The Social Security Administration has already started to convert the payments of beneficiaries already drawing payments and are working day and night in order that the increased checks can be mailed on schedule. Kistler also stated that if in October your individual check shows no increase, and an increase is due, the delay will be temporary. A later check will make up the difference.

Kistler again emphasized that this increase is automatic for persons receiving checks. Beneficiaries are requested not to write letters regarding this increase at the present time, since the heavy work load in the social security offices would only cause delay in processing the claims of those individuals who are filing applications for social security benefits.

16 New Cases of TB in County Since '48

Two Deaths Are Reported During Five-year Period

Pennington county had 16 new cases of tuberculosis and two TB deaths reported to the Minnesota department of health during the five years ending 1953.

The county's tuberculosis death rate per 100,000 population is 3.1 and the new case rate is 24.7, making it 18th among Minnesota's 87 counties, according to information in the summer issue of the Christmas Seal magazine, "Everybody's Health", now being distributed.

Pennington has cut its tuberculosis deaths to one-seventh the number reported a decade ago, the Christmas Seal release states. In the same period, the number of cases has been cut to one-half. Great progress has been made, but tuberculosis is still a problem in the county.

Tuberculosis—an unnecessary disease—last year killed 212 Minnesota people and a total of 24,195 people in the nation, the Christmas Seal release states. Minnesota had more than 2,000 new cases reported. The United States had more than 100,000.

REPETITION AND REPUTATION

Minnesota has a reputation for being unfriendly to business. So we read week-in and week-out as each mail brings bundles of generalizations that tend to establish such a reputation. We must repeal the personal property tax, we are told, in order to create a healthy climate for industry.

If it is true that our taxes compare unfavorably with the taxes of other states we of course should do something about it. Industries and payrolls should be encouraged.

There may be justification for the charge that our personal property tax, imposed on materials in the process of manufacture, places some industries at a disadvantage with competitors operating in other states. If that is true then corrective legislation probably should be adopted. In terms of tax revenues that would not be a problem.

But, as taxes go, the personal property tax is as fair as any of them. It has its shortcomings. Nevertheless it does bring in more than fifty million dollars a year, practically all of which goes to the support of local units of government. To drop this tax would be to shift this burden to other classes of property, relieving some taxpayers of their only direct contribution to the cost of government and adding further to the burden of others, many of whom are already paying their full share.

The real purpose of this attack on the personal property tax is of course to speed up the adoption of a general sales tax which would be offered as a replacement tax. All new taxes come as replacements, but they do not replace.

And there is no reason to believe that Minnesota would attract more industry by shifting the tax load through the adoption of a general sales tax. Our neighboring state of North Dakota has a general sales tax but we notice that industry moving into the Red River Valley is not opposed to locating on the Minnesota side of the river. Three sugar beet plants and a score of smaller industries testify to this fact.

It occurs to us that one way to help Minnesota overcome its reputation of being unfair to business would be to quit talking about it. Let's quit telling industry that we are unfair. Let's start telling them all the nice things that can be said of our state and its people, truthfully, and over a period of time we probably will get our share of new business.

WE ARE INTERESTED TOO

Minneapolis and St. Paul are agreed that they should join forces in an effort to secure a major league baseball franchise but they are having difficulty in agreeing on a location for their Twin City ball park. Folks out here in the hinterland have an interest in their problem too. Many of us would like to see major league baseball played a little closer to us and hope the Minnesota cities will be able to adjust their differences.

Unless they can agree there probably would be little chance for a successful operation. And they have been able to get together on a few other matters to their mutual advantage. Their joint operation of an airport is an example of what can be accomplished. And the more they get together in matters of this kind the happier we all will be.

In 1930 the state of North Dakota reached its population peak. Since that time there has been a steady decline in population—until a couple of years ago when the long and discouraging trend started to reverse itself. Now the U. S. Census bureau has announced that for the year ending July 1, 1953, the state's population increased approximately 18,000, and that is good news for all of us. This growth is attributed to the new industrial activity in the western portion of the state. We have a very direct interest in that development.

A million dollars has been allocated by the Department of Agriculture to provide hay for drouth-hit farmers in Kansas and Missouri. Kansas and Missouri will get the hay. The million dollars will go those who have hay to sell. Some of those dollars may find their way into our community.

A survey conducted by the U. S. Rubber Company comes up with the conclusion that good drivers get up to six times as much wear out of their tires as poor drivers. Bad driving habits are the biggest single factor in reducing tire mileage. And that probably applies to more than tires too. Some drivers and operators get much better service from their automobiles and machinery because they are better drivers and operators.

Even the weatherman cooperated on Saturday for our big Fall Festival, and if the number of hot dogs consumed is a good indication, the day was a success. The village of Grygla and the Falls Festival committee sincerely appreciate all the help and support from the local people and the many neighboring towns. It's the big Success today

You can read it in the sales figures—Buick's the car that's climbing to a phenomenal public preference. For Buick today is outselling all other cars in America—regardless of price class—except two of the so-called "low-price three." And every month strengthens Buick's new leadership position. It's the "hot" car for style, for power, for performance—and, most emphatically, for value.

It's the Beautiful Buy right now

Any way you look at it, Buick's the buy of the year, hands down. For Buick prices start close to the lowest—just a few dollars above those of the "low-price three." But those few more dollars you pay for a Buick buy you a lot more power, room, comfort, style, ride steadiness. And get this: with our tremendous sales volume right now, we can offer you a really top allowance on your present car. That's the added bonus you get from our big volume.

It's the "High Resale" car for years from now

No Wonder—

With Buick's year-ahead beauty today, you'll be driving a car that's right up front in the style parade of tomorrow. And when you're ready to resell your Buick, it will still be fresh and new-looking, with the modern features the others will adopt in the coming years. And that means you're bound to get a higher resale price when you do trade it in. Drop in and see this beautiful buy right now.

State Drivers Prove They Can Be Careful

"Minnesota motorists have proven to themselves, and to the nation," said Earl M. Larimer, director of highway safety, "that they can be safer drivers than they permitted themselves to be during the first half of 1954."

Larimer based this remark on two outstanding traffic safety records achieved within recent weeks.

"Traffic deaths during last month were held to an all-time low for August when only 39 fatalities resulted from accidents on Minnesota streets and highways. This was a reduction of 38 under the toll of 77 in August of 1953 and represents a decline of almost 50% in fatalities."

He pointed out that this fine achievement was followed up with a death-free Labor day, although there were eight fatalities earlier on the holiday weekend. This, too, set a record for holiday driving in Minnesota.

"Of course," Larimer stated, "it is difficult to give credit to any one single thing for these two excellent records. But I am certain that some of the chief contributing deterrents which have been felt by motorists include greater vigilance on the part of all enforcement officers from the state highway patrol down to and including municipal and county forces, a growing awareness on the part of the judiciary that more severe penalties must be assessed, realization on the part of motorists that violation of traffic laws is more likely to land them in difficulty, and an all-around better regard for the driving rights of others."

A continuance of these attitudes, Larimer concluded, is the only way that traffic accidents, and their attendant deaths and injuries, can be curbed during the remainder of this year. He voiced his hope that the better driving practices apparently being observed will be maintained or improved upon to further reduce the traffic toll on the state's streets and highways.

Less than 12% or 641 of the estimated 5,500 coal producing companies in the U. S. last year mined close to 391 million tons of bituminous and lignite, or 86.3% of the total of 453 million tons.

Plebiscite Shows Stand in November Election

Chief Justice Roger L. Dell and Associate Justice Oscar R. Knutson of the Minnesota State Supreme Court have been given overwhelming support of the lawyers of the state in a plebiscite conducted by the Minnesota State Bar Association.

The straw vote was taken by secret ballot and tallied September 8 by the judicial selection committee of the bar association, of which Hon. Rollin G. Johnson of Forest Lake is chairman. The results of the poll were made public by Sidney P. Gislason of New Ulm, president of the bar association.

The straw vote gave Chief Justice Roger L. Dell a preference of 2250 votes to 122 for his opponent, E. Luther Melin, Minneapolis. Associate Justice Oscar R. Knutson received a vote of 2184 while his opponent Allan L. Johnson received 173 votes. All practicing lawyers in Minnesota were contacted in the plebiscite.

In announcing the result of the poll, Gislason said, "The legal profession feels that it has a public duty, because of its knowledge and familiarity with the candidates and the law, to indicate its preference when justices of the Supreme Court are to be elected or appointed.

Gislason said that the fact that more than 2300 lawyers voted does indicate the strong interest Minnesota lawyers take in giving the public the benefit of their experience.

Education to Be Topic Oct. 8-9

Painter, 4817 Fremont Avenue S., Minneapolis, general chairman of the citizens committee. Subject of the meeting will be "The Layman and His Schools."

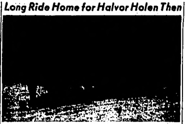
Long Ride Home for Halvor Holen Then



Highway Appreciation was the theme of Grygla's fall celebration Saturday and old-timers of the Grygla community agreed that the automobile and good roads have made living a lot easier. Halvor Holen, who homesteaded his beautiful Reiner township farm in 1906, settled in the Grygla community in 1903, and he remembers how far that was from Thief River Falls by horses.

The picture above was taken of Mr. Holen in front of what now is the Red Owl corner. With him on the sled is Arne Roseland, one of his early neighbors.

THE MINNESOTA STORY

Prepared by the
Minnesota Historical Society

JOURNALISTIC ADVENTURE

The early newspaper men of Minnesota were not only pioneers. Many were adventurers always seeking a frontier. All of them worked under difficulties.

The first newspaper, the Minnesota Pioneer, appeared at St. Paul in April of 1849. Its publisher was James M. Goodhue, a lawyer who had moved westward through Wisconsin.

This paper was started in a shanty and Goodhue once complained that the hogs, then free to run the streets of the city, made writing difficult by their constant rooting under the floor of his establishment.

Joseph R. Brown, one of the most ingenious among the pioneers of Minnesota, took up newspaper ownership and work together with his other greatly diversified undertakings.

Sam Whiting was a journalist at Winona in the 1850ies. Another adventurer was Parker French of the Northern Herald at Little Falls. Both of these men were widely versed in ventures of various kinds. French was secretary of state for William Walker in his Nacaraguan filibuster. Whiting was the founder of the first newspaper in Panama in 1849. These men had spanned the weather map in their activities on two greatly contrasting frontiers.

The first woman publisher in Minnesota was Jane Grey Swisshelm who was editor of the Visiter at St. Cloud. The issues of the 1850s were highly controversial. Jane Swisshelm was not at all restrained in her discussion of such matters as slavery and rights for women. One night a mob of disgruntled people tore her printing plant to pieces.

THE RIVER BOATS

While the covered wagon may be symbolic of the early settlement of Minnesota, the greatest element in early progress were the waters of the state. These included the Mississippi which brought people to the head of navigation of that great river. They included the Minnesota which took new people to new lands. They would also include all of the rivers and the lakes where, with dugout, canoe and rowboat, men found and developed their homes.

In the decade before statehood the only way to get to Minnesota was by river. Roads overland had not been cut out through prairies and woods. Men had to take to the water.

In 1844 there were 41 arrivals of river boats at St. Paul. In 1850 there were 104. In 1856 there were 837 arrivals at the docks at St. Paul. As the years went on not only the number of arrivals increased but the boats were larger and were always crowded to their limits with goods and people. Navigation usually closed in late November and from then on to April Minnesota had to live on the goods transported in the summer season.

A report for 1856 indicates that no less than seventy boats were operating on the upper river. There were 212 arrivals at St. Paul from St. Louis, 228 from Galena and 136 from Dubuque.

In 1856 ten boats were operating on the Minnesota river. They were credited with 216 arrivals at St. Paul.

THE FRONTIER SUGAR

Maple sugar was the staple sweet for a large number of years in early Minnesota.

The Indians who lived in the timbered country made large quantities of it. It was the sweet of the Chippewa wigwams. There were large "sugar bushes" in many places and trees, particularly in Northeastern Minnesota, still bear the evidence of the Indian industry of sugar making.

The early white people were also sugar makers, by necessity. While maple sugar is now a delicacy, at large cost, many of the pioneers did not like it and would trade maple sugar, pound for pound, for cane sugar when that commodity first came to the frontier.

One of the largest maple sugar camps in Minnesota was at Grand Portage. Here there were many Indians who liked sweets and also a large number of men, and later families, at the great fur trading post.

The sugar maples were found in large numbers near the portage. In late March or early April almost the whole Indian population on the lakeshore moved up into the woods. Wigwams, left from the previous years, would give shelter to the tribe.

A sharp axe would put gashes into the maple trees, some very large and others down to six inches in diameter. A cedar chip would guide the flowing sap into pails made from birch bark, skillfully folded and tied together with thongs of willow bark. The sap would be made into sugar.

An Indian family, staying in the woods until early May, would make from five to six hundred pounds of sugar a season.

TO THOSE WHO BUILD

This sturdy structure was built, not to prevent storms, but to withstand them. Every known device was used to make this building safe from the winds and rains that beat upon it.

So we should build for our children! Nothing parents can do will prevent a child from facing the realities and storms of life. All too soon he will face evil influences; all too soon he must make his own decisions.

But parents can help. As this ancient castle was constructed to withstand storms, so the spiritual life of the child should be fashioned to withstand the temptations and passions that will beset him. His character should be fortified with faith so as to meet the problems of life courageously, successfully and happily.

Every child should be taught to love God and his fellowman. He should learn to know the great personalities of the Bible who draw their strength from God. He should experience the strength that comes from prayer and be ever receptive to God's gift of grace.

It is the duty of adults to bring their children, and if need be their neighbor's children, to church school and worship services. For nothing is so important in a child's education as a true knowledge of the way of life as taught from the pages of the Bible.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

50 YEARS AGO

"The Soo Has Came"

"The Soo Has Came" was the lead story of the September 15, 1904, issue of the Thief River Falls News. "The Soo track layers reached Thief River Falls Sunday," the News stated, "and a large number of people witnessed the track laying through town." So in terms of track laying the Soo arrived officially on September 10, fifty years ago.

On September 15 they were working north of town and were expected to reach Emerson in forty days. "They have one of the most complete track laying outfits in the country", the News commented, "and it is quite a sight to see the work."

But while the track layers were here on the 10th, "the surfacing crew was quite a ways behind and will not reach here before ten days. In about two weeks the road will be doing freight business here and in about a month will put on passenger service. It will not be much before Christmas through train service is established between Minneapolis and Winnipeg over this road."

A Division Point?

And in that issue of September 15 came the first mention of Thief River Falls becoming a division point on the new line. It received only casual mention in a story telling of present and contemplated surveys for lines running east and west. The News was more specific about the survey to the west which was then under way.

"As announced last week in the News, the Soo surveyors arrived here last Saturday and on Monday commenced a survey from this city west. The line branches out from here just north of where the Soo crosses the Great Northern north of town and goes west and a little to the north.

"The road will go near to or pass through Warren and will extend through the northern part of North Dakota and connect with the main line of the Soo at or near Portal and will meet the surveying party that comes from this city about half way.

"Work on the new road will be commenced next spring and extending as it does through the northern part of North Dakota will open up a fine country and it means much to that section. It will pass through the cement and coal fields of North Dakota and also through a rich agricultural country."

Building to the East

Then followed a rumor of another survey to be started the following year to the east. "Next year, it is said, a survey will be made along the southern part of the Red Lake River and Red Lake to Duluth, which would give Winnipeg, the northern part of North Dakota and the Canadian northwest direct communication with head of the lakes and make the shortest route to Duluth from this section."

Now, fifty years later, the head of the lakes is coming into its own as a seaport and western Dakota is on the threshold of a new development with the harnessing of the Missouri and the discovery of oil.

Talk of extensions west and east brought new rumors of retaliation by the Great Northern whose territories would be further invaded. The St. Paul Dispatch carried a story about "War in the Valley" and the News of course gave it space.

Rumors of War

"According to the St. Paul Dispatch it is said that war has been declared between the Soo and Great Northern, the latter not taking kindly the invasion of its territory by the Soo, and has endeavored to have them stipulate to keep out of certain territory, but without avail.

"Now, according to the Dispatch, the Great Northern is going to build a road from Alexandria paralleling the Soo line of the east side. It is said the road will cross the Fosston Extension at Lengby, run from there through Lambert and to Thief River Falls, and from here go on the west side of the Soo through Marshall county and to the boundary line.

"It is a well known fact that the Great Northern has been watching the Soo people very closely and for a number of weeks a Great Northern man has been here watching the movements of the Soo."

Grand Opening

But not all of the news had to do with the facts and fiction of railroading. The Golden Rule Department Store was to have its grand opening on Friday of that week in the New Evenson Block now occupied by the J. C. Penney Company store. It was a two story building at that time and the Golden Rule was a big department store. A 14 piece orchestra from Red Lake Falls was to play a concert during an evening inspection program. A 15% discount on all purchases featured the invitation to shop and save.

There was a train robbery on the Canadian Pacific, the holdup men getting away with $10,000. A hundred residences were destroyed by a flood in Texas and eight persons drowned in the Delaware river when a river steamer crashed into a launch. Three columns of the patent insides told of the Russian-Japanese war.

In the local column there was mention of a special train having arrived "yesterday" over the Soo Line, bring general manager Pennington and a number of men who will be employed here. And the city jail was well filled Monday night, there being seven on the guest list.

FARM LAND PRICES HAVE LEVELED OFF

From 1945 Minnesota, South Dakota, North Dakota, and Montana land prices climbed steadily and rather sharply until mid-1950, then leveled off in Minnesota, slumped a bit in neighboring states and climbed sharply again for two years. When North Dakota prices leveled in '53 the other three states fell; when they leveled in 1954 Montana land prices continued to rise slightly. Minnesota and South Dakota are about on a par in comparison with established norms, with North Dakota below and Montana on the bottom. Wisconsin leads in comparative value of farm buildings, Minnesota second, South Dakota considerably lower, North Dakota and Montana following; the larger farms of the west account, at least in part, for lower comparative building values in that area.

More than one-fifth of total annual output of U. S. bituminous coal is so-called "captive tonnage"—coal not sold on the commercial market, but mined and directly used by steel companies, railroads, utilities, chemical companies, etc.

By C. E. Hellquist

By C. E. Hellquist

One morning in the early days of Soo Line railroading east of here engineer Holt and fireman Krupp hauled a train load of gravel to be unloaded on a stretch of muskeg. When the train stopped the locomotive tipped over into the bog. The frost had gone out from under the fill and the track gave way on one side.

The conductor and brakemen hurried forward to see what happened and they found the fireman but engineer Holt was nowhere to be seen. They of course concluded that he was *under the over-turned locomo*tive and there was nothing that they could do but report the accident to the train dispatcher.

After some time however (Happy) Holt appeared on the scene cool and calm and when asked where he had been explained that when the locomotive laid over on its side there was nothing more he could do so he had walked over to a floating dredge that was operated in the vicinity.

He was interested in that kind of machine and thought that it was a good time to inspect it. What seemed like a fatal accident had a happy ending and (Happy) Holt liked to tell his friends that the report of his death was slightly exaggerated.

Efforts to lift the 154 out of the muskeg failed because the fill was too soft to hold wrecking machinery. It was therefore decided to dig out the muskeg down to the hard clay. Jacks and blocks were placed on solid footing and the locomotive was finally lifted onto the tracks.

After the debris of this accident was cleared away the work progressed satisfactorily until the deep and long cut west of Leonard was reached by the Pioneer outfit. This cut had not been cut through and the grade was not completed which caused a delay of operations from the west end.

A track laying outfit was also working from the Moose Lake end of the line so this *new line of railroad was com*pleted that fall. Fireman Paul A. Harris, Gust Krupp, Joe Holmes and Henry Arhart worked on the various jobs of construction during the summer.

Syphoid fever was prevalent among the men who worked on construction jobs that summer. Engineer Ernest Vandervort, firemen Paul A. Harris and Gust Krupp were stricken with the fever while at work. Fortunately they were relieved in time to get medical care and they all recovered after a long illness.

This new line was a busy railroad for several years hauling the valuable timber products from the forest adjacent to the line and in addition the grain on its way to the large terminal elevators from the fields of North Dakota and western Minnesota.

Editor's Note—Mr. Hellquist calls our attention to a typographical error in last week's column. The "Kad-upp" referred to should have been Gust Krupp.

TRF to ote 50th Year Since Coming of Soo Line

Historical Pa ant in Tourist Park 2:30 Saturday and Sunday

An historical pageant to be presented in the tourist park amphitheatre Saturday and Sunday afternoons, September 25 and 26, at 2:30 will re-create the past history of this area, leading up to the coming of the Soo Line railroad to Thief River Falls in 1904.

A cast of more than 100 men, women and children will take part in the spectacle, which will be presented under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Searls and son Hal of Bemidji. Mr. Searls Sr. will serve as narrator.

The Saturday afternoon presentation will be preceded by an address by Douglas McKay, secretary of the U. S. Department of the Interior. Following the pagent, Secretary McKay will be inducted as an honorary member of the Red Lake band of Chippewa Indians.

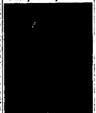
Pageant spectators will have the rare opportunity of seeing "The Feast Dance," a Chippewa sacred ceremonial that will be presented as a part of one of the historical episodes. Six drummers and 12 dancers will participate in this dance of thanksgiving. Baptiste Taylor, a 70-year-old member of the Red Lake Band, is directing the dance.

Symbolic of the abundance of the harvest, a kettle of meat is placed in the center of the dance arena with six dancers in line opposite each other. There are ten short songs in the ritual and food is presented to the dancers on the end of a quill. All of the participants are members of the Red Lake Band.

The pageant will be divided into five episodes, starting with an Indian motif and leading up to the naming of the city. Next will be depicted the arrival of Count Beltrami, Italian adventurer, at the site of Thief River Falls in 1823 and his travels up Red Lake River to the outlet and the site of the present Red Lake agency.

Another scene will show an old Red River oxcart at a campfire. The fourth episode will picture the arrival of the first white settlers in this area and the first wedding. The pageant will conclude with the arrival of the Soo Line and the accompanying celebration.

Banquet Speaker



W. C. FERGUSON

Special representative of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers of Cleveland, Ohio, who will speak for the brotherhoods at the 50th anniversary celebration banquet to be held at the St. Bernard's church parlors Friday evening.

Luncheon Planned Saturday in Honor of Douglas McKay

A luncheon is being arranged for Douglas McKay, secretary of the department of the interior, to be served by the Eagles Auxiliary at the Eagles Hall Saturday noon. Special guests will be Peter Graves, secretary of the Red Lake Band of Chippewa Indians and four chiefs of the tribe.

Luncheon tickets will be available at the local drug stores but are necessarily limited and must be purchased before Friday noon.

4-H Stock Show to Be Staged at Fair Grounds Friday

The 4-H market livestock show will be held at the Pennington county fair grounds, Friday, September 24, County Agent William Penning stated today. The public is invited to watch the judging of this fat livestock at 1:30 in the afternoon. Carl Spong of the Central Livestock Commission company will be the judge, and again this year the Civic and Commerce association will award handsome trophies to the top individual in the beef, sheep and hog classes. A trip to the Jr. Livestock show held in So. St. Paul will also be awarded to the best animal in each class, Penning said.

Proud Chippewa

PETER GRAVES

Proud patriarch of the Red Lake Band of Chippewa Indians, who will preside over the adoption ceremony following the pageant Saturday when Douglas McKay, secretary of the Department of the Interior, will be adopted as an honorary member of the band. Mr. Graves is secretary of the council of the Red Lake Band. He recalls vividly the negotiations over a period of years that preceded the opening for settlement of the eleven townships of the reservation east of Thief River Falls in 1904, and in recent years he was helpful in working out a satisfactory adjustment of the problems involved in the improvement of the Red Lake River channel and the establishment of better control works at the outlet of the Red Lakes.

Zion Church to Be Dedicated Next Sunday

Dr. T. O. Burntvedt, President of Synod, to Dedicate Edifice

The handsome new edifice of Zion Lutheran church on Main av. at Fifth st., which was completed in 1953, will be formally dedicated in services next Sunday morning at 10:30, it was announced today by the Rev. Walter M. Pedersen, who has served as pastor here the past eleven years.

Principal speaker at the rites will be Dr. T. O. Burntvedt, president of the Lutheran Free Church synod, who will be assisted in the services by Rev. Pedersen; Rev. John Parbst of Fergus Falls, a son of the Zion congregation; and Rev. J. O. Hoyum.

Zion church was organized January 7, 1890, by the late Rev. August Bredeson. It has been served by the following pastors: Elias Berlie, Hans J. Villesvik, Peter Steen, Anton Larson, George Larson, E. L. Tungseth and Walter M. Pedersen.

Shortly after Pastor Pedersen came to Thief River Falls in 1943, plans were laid to build a new church because the congregation grew so rapidly that the church building could not contain the regular Sunday worshippers. When Zion began the present building, for which ground was broken in June, 1948, it had shown a growth from 250 souls to 700. Today it is a congregation double that number.

During the dedicatory service recognition will be given to the memorial gifts. The chancel furnishings in the church are made up entirely from memorial gifts. Fifteen European-blown art glass windows, in addition to the large window facing the highway, will be installed shortly. At the time of dedication 8 of the large art glass windows will already have been installed by the Universal Studios of Winona, Minn.

"It is proper and fitting as the city of Thief River Falls celebrates 50 years of progress that Zion consecrates her church," said Rev. Pedersen. "Progress cannot be properly considered as marching forward without evidence of spiritual growth in a community. Therefore we are proud to link our festivities with the celebration of 50 years of progress in Thief River Falls."

The public is invited to witness the impressive service.

Interior Secretary Douglas McKay Will Speak Here Saturday

Douglas McKay, secretary of the Department of the Interior in President Eisenhower's cabinet, formerly of Oregon, will arrive in Thief River Falls by private plane Saturday noon, and will deliver an address at 2 o'clock that afternoon in the tourist park preceding the first presentation of the historical pageant, "As the Wheels Turn."

Following the pageant, Secretary McKay will be inducted as an honorary member of the Red Lake band of Chippewa Indians, with the ceremony being under the direction of Peter Graves, tribal patriarch. The Indian tribes are under the jurisdiction of Mr. McKay's department.

The secretary, who will be accompanied to this city by Mrs. McKay, will leave late in the afternoon for Minneapolis en route to Washington.

Mr. McKay is the subject of a recent exhaustive article in Time magazine, which states that "As Interior secretary, he is the nation's biggest landlord, greatest giver of light and water, master of forest and range, controller of minerals and oil, and boss of 56,000 people and a $519 million budget.

"Once we make a crutch of the government," he believes, "we are on our way to becoming political cripples." He wants—at the right time and on the right terms—independence for the Indians, statehood for Alaska and Hawaii, private initiative on electric power and more private ownership of public lands.

According to his definition, "Conservation means wise use. Natural resources are not worth a thing unless you put work into them."

Speaks Saturday

DOUGLAS McKAY

Secretary of the Department of the Interior in Washington, D. C., who will speak Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the tourist park in Thief River Falls preceding the presentation of the pageant, "As the Wheels Turn."

Janice Hanson will leave Sunday for Minneapolis where she will attend the Northwest School of Medical Technology.

Minneota Pastor Has Accepted Call to Serve Trinity

Rev. Otto L. Dale Will Begin Service in City on January 1st, 1955

The Rev. Otto L. Dale, since 1951 pastor of a Lutheran church at Minneota, Minnesota, has accepted a call to serve as pastor of Trinity Lutheran church in this city, and will take over his duties here January 1, 1955, it was announced today by Robert J. Lund, chairman of the Trinity call committee.

Mr. Dale will succeed the Rev. G. S. Thompson, who resigned last fall after 12 years of service and left in January to take over a pastorate in Eau Claire, Wisconsin. Trinity church has been served during the past six months by the Rev. J. J. Jacobson of Hendrum, acting as interim pastor.

Mr. Dale, the son of Rev. and Mrs. Stephen Dale, was born in Brinsmade, N. D., October 4, 1922. After attending St. Olaf college and Valley City state teachers college, he received his BA degree at the University of Tampa in 1948.

Graduating in 1949 from Luther seminary in St. Paul, he was ordained in that year and served a church in Milbank, S. D., before going to Minneota in 1951. He is married and the father of four children.

Hospital Puts off Formal Opening of Its New Addition

Board of Trustees Now Expects Completion Date to Be Late in October

A committee of the board of trustees has decided that the finishing work on the new Northwestern Hospital addition has not progressed far enough to warrant opening of the addition to public inspection on Friday and Saturday of this week, as had been originally planned.

It has been difficult for the contrators to make an accurate prediction as to the time of the completion of the building since coordination of the work and materials of many subcontractors toward the end of complex construction of this kind is very difficult, the board stated.

It has been decided, therefore, to postpone the opening of the new addition until it is entirely complete and all furnishings have been put in place. It is probable now that this completion cannot be expected until toward the end of October. Laying ceramic, floor and acoustic tile and painting within the building is well along. Glaziers have practically completed their work.

Yesterday, the American Laundry Machinery Company mechanic arrived to complete the new laundry set-up. It is expected that the new hospital laundry will be in operation very shortly. This will lead to the dismantling and removal of all present laundry machinery and use of that area for central storage purposes.

Pageant, Night Parade, Banquet on Program Friday Thru Sunday

Pageant Spectators Asked to Provide Blankets and Pillows

Pageant spectators are urged to bring blankets and pillows for their seating comfort. The Pageant is an outdoor spectacle, presented in a natural amphitheatre facing the Red Lake River, in what has been known as the Tourist Park, and seating is provided on the slope of the hillside below which the action of five historical episodes will be staged.

The formerly steep banks of the park have been cut down to a gradual slope that will provide a full view of the action to thousands of spectators for whom it would not be practical to provide bleacher or grandstand seating. Blankets and pillows are recommended as a most satisfactory solution.

Illuminated Parade to Be Held Saturday at 8; Banquet Friday Evening

Throngs of people from throughout this area will assemble in Thief River Falls Friday, Saturday and Sunday to help the community celebrate the 50th anniversary of the coming of the Soo Line to this city in September, 1904. The three-day festival will pay tribute to the railroad which provides Thief River Falls with its largest industrial payroll.

Included in the varied program of events Friday are a banquet at 6 p. m. honoring veteran employes of the Soo Line, followed by dances in the National Guard Armory and the municipal auditorium.

Scheduled for Saturday at 2:30 is the first presentation in the tourist park of the historical pageant, "As the Wheels Turn", with a cast of more than 100 arranged by the Woman's club. Preceding the pageant will be an address at 2 o'clock by Douglas McKay, secretary of the Department of the Interior, and following the spectacle he will be inducted as an honorary member of the Red Lake band of Chippewa Indians.

A crew of technicians from WCCO-TV in Minneapolis will be on hand to record the ceremony for later television broadcast.

A highlight of the Saturday program will be a gala illuminated parade at 8 p. m. under the new white way lights, with the procession including scores of attractive floats and 15 or more bands and marching units.

Heading the list of musical groups is the Thistle pipe band of Winnipeg, which this year won the Western Canada championship.

Also taking part will be high

Cummings Lauds Youngsters for Heeding Curfew

Police Chief Elton Cummings today commended local children on their excellent cooperation in obeying the curfew law since school opened. The curfew hour is 10 o'clock each night in the week with the exception of Friday night when it is extended to 12 o'clock, the chief pointed out, and it applies to all children under 17 years of age, whether they live in Thief River Falls or out of town. He added that in case planned activities make it necessary for youths to be out after 10 o'clock, a half-hour is allowed for them to reach their homes.

White Way Lights Will Be Finished Ahead of Parade

Local residents who have seen some of the new white way lights in operation the past few nights have expressed their satisfaction with the brilliant, far-reaching light produced. Most of the lights are scheduled to be in operation by Thursday evening, and, with favorable weather, the entire installation will be completed before the hour of the 50th anniversary celebration parade Saturday evening at 8 o'clock.

A 17-year-old girl, brought into juvenile court Saturday by the sheriff's office and local police, pleaded guilty to a charge of delinquency arising out of the theft of several small items of merchandise from a local store during the Labor Day holiday. She returned the stolen articles. Disposition of the case was deferred by Judge Herman A. Kjos pending further investigation.

Canvassing Board Finds Few Errors

Lorentson Edges out Cockrell 492 to 473

The close contest between Fred Lorentson and Stan Cockrell for a place on the November 2 election ballot in the race for the office of register of deeds resulted in Lorentson winning by a margin of 492 votes to 473, it was announced following a check by the Pennington county canvassing board last week-end. Few discrepancies were found.

Lorentson will oppose Oscar A. Nelson, incumbent, who led the ticket with 1,206 votes.

In the contest for the DFL nomination for Ninth district representative in Congress, Mrs. Coya Knutson of Oklee scored a decisive victory over her four opponents. She will be opposed in the November election by Harold C. Hagen of Crookston, incumbent, who won the Republican nomination by a wide margin over August J. Duren of Fergus Falls.

Serving on the canvassing board were C. W. Rodekuhr, county auditor, Henry Stothaug, clerk of court; Mrs. W. W. Prichard, Mrs. Agnes Israelson and Mrs. Stuart McLeod.

A total of 2,201 ballots was cast in the primaries in Pennington county last week, substantially below the 2,904 cast in the 1950 primary election, and little more than one-third the 6,101 ballots cast in the general election in 1952, which set an all-time record with 6,101 ballots.

Disregarding spoiled ballots, 859 voted the Republican ticket last week, and 1,190 DFL ballots were cast.

Miss Ketterling Becomes Bride of Gunder Hanson

Miss Delores R. Ketterling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ketterling of Napoleon, North Dakota, became the bride of Gunder R. Hanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Hanson of Trail at the Peace Lutheran church in Napoleon, Sunday, August 22 at 2:30 in the afternoon. Rev. A. R. Walth prompted the exchange of vows at the double ring ceremony. Vases of white pom pons and baskets of white gladioli formed the background for the ceremony. The bridal aisle was marked with bows of nile green and orchid.

Presiding at the organ was Dennis Wentz of Napoleon, with Floyd B. Ketterling, brother of the bride, singing "O Perfect Love", and Dianne and Marion Stevahn of Ray, Minnesota, cousins of the bride, who sang "I Love You Truly".

Given in marriage by her father the bride was attired in a gown of chantilly lace and nylon tulle. Chantilly lace formed the basque bodice which was fashioned with long sleeves and a low scalloped neckline, enhanced with a yoke of pleated tulle. The bouffant skirt, cut en-train, was of nylon tulle edged in chantilly lace and a ruffle of nylon tulle. Her fingertip veil of French illusion fell from a cap of lace trimmed with seed pearls. She wore a double strand of pearls and matching earrings, gifts of her parents, and carried a white Testament, topped with pale pink and white roses and streamers scattered with forget-me-nots.

Attending the bride were Miss Maxine Anderberg of Dubuque, Iowa, as maid of honor and Miss Janice Swanson and Mrs. Leo Schann of Devils Lake as bridesmaid. Miss Anderberg was gowned in orchid, and the bridesmaids wore nile green. They wore identical formals of nylon net and chantilly lace were accented with Bertha collars of lace and matching pleated taffeta. They wore Juliet headpieces and carried bouquets of yellow pom pons. The pearl earrings they wore were gifts of the bride.

In a gown of chantilly lace and nylon net over satin, Pamela Hanson, was flower girl for the couple, Donald Hanson served as ringbearer.

Clayton Ketterling, brother of the bride was best man. Other attendants were Floyd B. Ketterling, another brother of the bride and Leo Schaan, friend of the groom. They all wore white dinner jackets. The ushers were James Allen Ketterling, brother of the bride and Alfred Hanson, brother of the groom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Ketterling chose a light russet taffeta with accessories of black and white. Her corsage was of white and pink roses.

About 250 guests attended the supper and reception held in the school gymnasium. Mrs. Sigurd Nelson of Glendale, California, aunt of the bride, cut the cake. Miss Charlotte Owens and Miss Joan Zral were in charge of the gift table and the guest book.

For their wedding trip to points in Minnesota and the Dells in Wisconsin, the bride was attired in aqua with white accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Hanson will make their home in Hazen, North Dakota, where Mrs. Hanson is employed as a registered nurse at the Memorial hospital in that city. She is a graduate of Napoleon high school and of the School of Nursing of the St. Luke's hospital in Fargo. Mr. Hanson, vocational agriculture instructor at the Hazen high school, is a graduate of the Lincoln high school of this city and also of the North Dakota Agricultural college in Fargo.

Concert Assn. Signs Over 100 First Week

The 1954 membership drive of the Northwest Concert Association went into its second week today as more than one hundred memberships had been received for the current concert season. The association is accepting memberships through the mails and at headquarters in Thief River Falls only this year. No personal solicitations will be made in the area.

It is hoped, said Dave Vaaler, president, that expenses of operation can be reduced in this way in order to provide even more musical attractions and group appearances in the series each year. Early response to the plan seemed to indicate to the board that the system was being accepted by residents of the county, but final returns won't be available until the campaign closes on October 8th. Headquarters were established this week at Larson's Music, the Ben Franklin and Dave Vaaler's insurance office, and memberships may be purchased at any one of the three any time. Memberships are also available by addressing the association in Thief River Falls.

The new members of the association, which means everyone who joins this fall are being asked to indicate their favorite attractions as they join the association. In addition, each member is asked to indicate any kind of program which might be offered in the coming years, and the kind of music that artists should present when appearing here.

First returns in the popularity poll indicate that the Knickerbockers are among the top favorites this year. The group was specially organized in New York for tours in the area, and early fall appearances have already shown a strong public response. Other leaders include Doc Evans and his Dixieland band, the two piano team of Hanson and Dedell, the Mannes Opera Company and tenor Eddy Ruhl. The sampling will increase as the balloting comes and some changes on this list of favorites will probably take place.

Memberships will be available until October 8th only.

DALE CARNEGIE

CARNEGIE

HOWARD C. RYMER, 6415 N. Claremont Avenue, Chicago, Illinois, says that five years ago he was the most worried man in the entire world. He was so worried that he was on the point of going to see a psychiatrist. He couldn't sleep. Night after night he would go to bed at a reasonable hour and lie there awake, one hour, two hours, three hours. Then he would get up, walk the floor, smoke, read and perhaps after two or three tries finally drop off to sleep from exhaustion. He was worried because he was becoming a physical wreck.

Then he stumbled across a magazine article written by J. P. McEvoy, entitled "How to go to Sleep."

The entire premise of Mr. McEvoy's system of going to sleep was based on the theory that a person cannot think of two things at one time. So evolved a method whereby you must consciously think of relaxing. By doing this you cannot think of whatever may be troubling you. Howard tried this and found that it worked. He lies on the bed and "makes himself feel like a dishrag." Hands lying heavily on the bed he drops his head back and allows the muscles of his jaw to drop, as well as the muscles of his entire body. His thighs, his legs, his feet, each member is relaxed. The first thing he knows—or rather doesn't know—is that he is asleep. Some time the next day he thinks of it and says to himself, "Well, what do you know! It worked." And all he does is to relax!

Harvest for Quality

For best eating quality, both fruit and vegetables must be harvested at the right stage of maturity. For example, muskmelons are likely to be hard and poor in flavor when picked too soon. So don't harvest your muskmelons till they're ripe. When a muskmelon is ripe, it will separate readily from the stem if you roll it on the vine.

• • •

Winter squash and pumpkins should also mature fully on the vine. They are mature when it's hard to puncture the skin near the stem end with a thumb nail.

• • •

Potatoes can be harvested for immediate use any time after they've reached a fair size, but if they're to be stored, the tubers should be mature and the vines dead.

• • •

Most fruits are highly perishable. That's why it's important to exercise care in harvesting and handling them.

• • •

Many gardeners pick tomatoes with the stems on. When placed in a basket, the stems puncture the adjoining fruits. You'll be ahead if you pick tomatoes when they're ripe — a uniform red color — and remove the stems before placing the fruit in the picking container. Often a simple twist of the wrist when picking the fruit will leave the stem on the vine. Handle the tomatoes with care, since they bruise easily and will start to break wherever they're bruised.

• • •

If you have winter apples, you'll be storing some for later use. Successful storage starts with careful harvesting. Windfalls don't keep because they've been bruised in falling. And remember that careless picking can bruise apples also.

The first section of the giant coal-to-oil plant near Johannesburg, South Africa has begun operations and other sections of the $84 million project soon will be operative. When complete, the plant will produce about 55 million gallons of gasoline annually, plus 4½ million gallons of diesel oil, and more than one million gallons of fuel oil, in addition to countless chemical by-products.

Lincoln PTA Plans Year of Service; to Meet October 5

Rev. W. P. Clausen, Head of Association, Lists Some of Its Objectives

With the first of the 1954-55 Lincoln High School PTA meetings scheduled for Tuesday evening, October 5th, the Rev. W. P. Clausen, president of the organization, states that people have been asking as to the objectives of the group. He summarized some of these as follows:

He stated that if the people of our community would understand the purpose of the PTA to serve youths, parents, teachers and the school administrators, the community and varied local needs, the Lincoln PTA could well enroll five hundred members in a few months.

In charge of the musical portion of the program for the October 5 meeting is Miss Mary McNeills. Serving as the lunch committee will be Mrs. Justus Larson, Mrs. Lloyd Spray, and Mrs. Chas. Schneider.

Many Features at Festival Slated at St. Bernards

Hobby Booth, Farmers Market and Barbecued Beef Will Be Offered

At St. Bernard's Fall Festival on October 2nd and 3rd, one of the special attractions will be the hobby booth.

That the women of St. Bernard's parish have many hobbies will be seen in the variety of articles that will be displayed and offered for sale.

Work on a round dozen of decorative throw and scatter rugs was begun more than a year ago with Mrs. Otto Johnson the originator of the idea. Mrs. Alex Cloutier, the chairman of the project, says the nimble fingers of Mrs. Mary Snyder and Mrs. Art Belland are now making the rugs.

Mrs. Ray Maxon and Miss Elizabeth Giefer have assisted with the rug designs, no two of which are alike.

Miss Christine Giefer is arranging winter bouquets using the Silver Dollar plant. She says the flowers produce purple blooms early in the spring, often before the snow is off the ground.

Something new in the hobby display will be tatted ear rings. Among the hundred of gift items will be lace-trimmed handkerchiefs, pillow cases, and exquisite book marks. Two of the women who are now preparing these articles are Mrs. Lars Hylden and Mrs. Dennis Connors.

St. Bernard's Fall Festival will be a two-day event that will feature barbecued beans and beef, a chicken dinner, games for children and adults, and a Farmer's Market. The latter will offer for sale garden produce in season.

Pastor of St. Bernard's is Father Keough Patnode. General chairman for the Fall Festival is Mrs. Glenn Bernstein, president of St. Bernard's Guild.

He asked the CAB to allow North Central Air Lines to continue its service to the first three cities on ground that the trial period on that leg of North Central's route has not been long enough.

Thye urged the CAB to act favorably on an application by North Central for an exception order to continue service after Nov. 7.

The other message to the commerce department's undersecretary for transportation asked that allocation of money be earmarked by congress for improvement of airports at Grand Rapids and Eveleth-Virginia.

150 Bankers Attend Clinic, Banquet Here

More than 150 bankers from thruout this section of the state, as well as the Twin Cities and Duluth, shared in a banquet Thursday evening in the Legion club rooms that climaxed a regional clinic sponsored by the Minnesota Bankers association.

Wm. G. King of Grand Rapids, MBA president, presided over the evening dinner program, which included group singing and addresses by W. W. Finke, assistant to the president of the Minneapolis-Honeywell Co., and Ralph Keller, executive secretary of the Minnesota Editorial association.

Finke stated that Minnesota stands on the threshold of great economic opportunity, but that its population has not increased in recent years in proportion to that of the nation as a whole. The solution, he said, lies in establishing a climate favorable to business, and overhauling what he termed the obsolete tax structure, which results in taxes being substantially higher in Minnesota than in adjoining states.

Ralph Keller declared that we should strive to make democracy safe for the world, and said that American citizens are not living up to their obligations. He stated that we should not abuse freedom of speech by indulging in pessimistic and intolerant talk. He also counseled his hearers to make a more thoro study of the teachings of the Bible.

Floyd W. Larson, executive secretary of the MBA, presided over the clinic held in the afternoon, in which numerous speakers discussed a wide variety of banking problems.

P. R. Kenefick of Mankato, MBA savings bond chairman, stressed the importance of encouraging the purchase of U. S. savings bonds as a means of promoting personal and government financial stability.

George D. Richard, Jr., Chicago accountant, discussed the value of an internal audit program for large and small banks.

Cal B. Howard, special agent with the Minneapolis office of the FBI, told of methods by which bankers can be of assistance to the FBI.

With numerous bank robberies in recent months, he cautioned his hearers to be on guard. He also reported an increase in bank embezzlements and check forgeries.

Richard Tousley, Minneapolis accountant, analyzed features of the new federal income tax law of special interest to bankers.

C. C. Sommer of Minneapolis, chairman of the MBA bank promotion committee, stressed the importance of a broad program of public relations. He also introduced Don Waage, who recently took over the duties of public relations director for the association.

Waage, formerly of Thief River Falls and a graduate of Lincoln high school, spoke briefly, telling of the importance of creating a favorable climate for the banking profession.

Robert Johnson of Stephen called attention to the fact that Amendment No. 2, providing for the cancellation of double liability on stock in state banks, will be submitted to the voters in the November 2 election, and he said its adoption will be in the public interest.

Wm. E. Drenner, Memphis Tennessee, banker and livestock authority, discussed the livestock situation, pointing out that the market for fat cattle has improved in recent weeks. Meat, he declared, is still cheap in terms of food value. He added that dairymen who keep cost records make the best credit risks.

As an accommodation to those waiting to view the parade, local stores will remain open until 7:30 Saturday evening.

Following the parade a dance will be staged in the Armory, with modern music to be supplied by Vern Byers and his orchestra from Omaha, Nebraska. There also will be numerous street activities during the day.

The second and final presentation of the pageant will be given Sunday afternoon at 2:30.

Preparations are being made to accommodate up to 400 persons at the anniversary banquet Friday evening at 6 o'clock in the St. Bernard's dining hall. Included in the gathering will be nearly 100 veteran Soo Line workers, in addition to about 150 present employes and members of the Soo Line board of directors, who will spend Friday in Thief River Falls.

The Rev. E. C. Mead, who was scheduled to serve as toastmaster at the banquet, has been ill and will be unable to serve. Substituting for him will be L. W. Bullen, local attorney. He will introduce as principal speakers G. Allan MacNamara, president of the Soo Line, and W. C. Ferguson of Cleveland, Ohio, special representative of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, who will speak for the railroad brotherhoods.

Political Roundup

By Arthur Naftalin

Republicans and Democrats alike are taking a long, searching look at the results in last week's Minnesota primary elections. The Republicans were jolted by the size of the Democratic-Farmer-Labor total, which for the first time in the DFL's history was larger than the Republican primary vote.

The DFL'ers, as might be expected, were jubilant over the outcome, and their state leaders are now confidently predicting that the size of the DFL primary vote is the forerunner of major victories in the November 2 general election.

The primary vote is at best only one indicator of the prevailing trend, but this taken together with the election of a Democratic Governor in Maine and other reports of Republican defections strongly suggests that the GOP is in serious trouble in both state and nation. In short, the Minnesota state elections promise to be the closest they have been in years.

Explaining the DFL Vote

There are many theories that attempt to explain the upsurge in DFL voting in the primary. DFL'ers, of course, claim that it results from a major shift in public sentiment, that voters were registering some kind of protest against both state and national Republican leadership.

Republicans, on the other hand, insist that the DFL polled more votes because there were livelier contests for nomination in the DFL column than on the GOP ticket, in particular the clash between Orville L. Freeman and Paul A. Rasmussen for the party's gubernatorial nomination.

Actually, an objective analysis of the primary results would suggest that the DFL total was due to a combination of factors and that they add up to making Minnesota a genuinely two-party state, with both parties heading into the general election in a dead heat.

Humphrey as a Factor

One major factor in the DFL primary vote was the role played by United States Senator Hubert H. Humphrey. For the first time in the Party's history the DFL had the election's leading figure as its pace-setter. In earlier elections the state GOP was paced by former Governors Harold Stassen, Edward J. Thye, or Luther W. Youngdahl, and in 1952 by both Governor C. Elmer Anderson and Senator Thye.

This year, with Anderson unopposed and with many of the statewide offices lacking incumbents, there were virtually no statewide personalities of note contending for Republican nominations. There were, however, about an equal number of major contests in the two columns, which means that Republican [illegible] that the DFL vote was due to greater internal interest are difficult to substantiate.

DFL Organization Growth

Another factor to be considered is the extent of the organizational growth of the DFL Party. Since the fusion of the Democrats and Farmer Laborites in 1944 the new Party has been fighting an increasingly successful battle to re-incorporate in its ranks the partisans of the older Parties.

That this appears to be the case is substantiated by the fact that every endorsed DFL candidate, for both statewide and national office, won by large margins. It means, for one thing, that the DFL has succeeded in developing an effective campaign organization, because where in earlier primaries many candidates opposed to the organization leadership have won by good margins this time they made little ingression.

Still Many Unknowns

Any prediction concerning the outcome in November would, at this point, be a foolish gamble, because there are still many unknown factors in the picture. For example, opinion polls have consistently shown that there are more voters who regard themselves as DFL than there are who regard themselves GOP, and it may very well be that this primary proved nothing more than that the DFL succeeded in activating a greater potential of its normal vote.

And the DFL normal vote is not sufficient to give that Party the election. It still needs a big chunk of the so-called "independent" vote and traditionally this vote—on statewide offices—has gone in larger measure to the Republicans.

Another unknown in the picture is the strength and extent of disaffection with the national Republican administration. DFL'ers claim there is a mounting protest that was reflected in this year's primary, but the GOP replies that there is no evidence to suggest that, whatever the nature or extent of such protest, it carries over to the state Republican administration, and they point, in particular, to the fact that Governor Anderson received a "courtesy" vote almost as large as that given Val Bjornson, the Party's nominee for United States Senator. Anderson's name was on the ballot, but he was unopposed for the nomination.

A Quick Campaign

However one analyzes the primary, he must concede that there will be many close battles for statewide office. With only five weeks remaining from next Tuesday before the general election, the campaign will be a quick one, allowing hardly enough time for much shift in voting sentiment, which means the die may already be cast.

With the County Agent

Pennington Co. Agent

Beware Rabid Skunks

Farmers and sportsmen should be on the lookout for signs of rabid skunks, reports County Agent William Penning. Just recently on a farm in Kratka township a skunk affected by rabies attacked three dogs and had to be killed by a shotgun blast. Dr. Twete, the local veterinarian, states that any animal suspected of having rabies should be reported at once. If the animal must be killed be careful to shoot it in the heart section to preserve the brain tissue. The brain tissue is used for positive laboratory examination.

Dr. Twete also said that in the past year some cases of rabies were reported in farm animals. These animals, it was reported, had been bitten by rabid skunks.

A successful vaccine for rabies is now available and can be used with the help of the local veterinarian. This is especially important for hunting dogs and other animals that have a good chance of coming into contact with rabid wild animals says Penning.

Parasites in Sheep

How are your sheep? Internal parasites cause heavy losses every year to Pennington county sheep raisers. The largest loss is in the market quality of lambs they raise. With our climate so favorable to hay and pasture growth early lambs with a little creep feed and then good pasture should go on the market in early fall fat enough to get "top price." Are your lambs still on the thin side? If so, and you have had plenty feed for them, it's a very good chance your sheep are troubled with worms. There are three types of worms, stomach worms, nodular worms, and tapeworms. Unfortunately this area is troubled with all of them. Recommended treatments include the phenothiazine and arsenate of lead mixture and the copper sulfate-nicotine sulfate combination drench. Either of these mixtures will give very good results of administered properly.

Every sheep on your farm should be wormed before they go into winter quarters. After the first heavy frost is when many sheep raisers worm their flock and move them to the winter quarters. I have some excellent bulletins in my office on worming sheep and I also have a 4 oz. drenching gun that will be loaned free of charge to any sheep raiser in this area. Come in and use them.

Oil Stoves Cause Most Deaths

Deaths in farm and home fires were due to improperly cared for oil-burning equipment according to the National Fire Protection Association, the United States Department of Agriculture, and state agricultural extension services.

More than half of the victims of such fires were children under fourteen according to a report on oil-burning equipment fires by the NFPA, sponsor of Fire Prevention Week, October 3-9.

To stop this loss of life and cut damage to farm property, the NFPA urges observance of these suggestions for oil heater operations:

Locate a heater where it is not likely to be tipped over where a possible fire will not block escape from bedrooms. Make sure the burners are level. Keep curtains, bedding and other combustibles away from the burner. Remember an oil stove or heater should not be tended by children.

When refilling a heater, be sure it is off and cool. In pouring oil, use a funnel and a metal container with a pour spout. Keep equipment clean and use the proper grade of oil for your burner.

Once the heater has been turned on, make sure the burner is burning steadily before leaving it. Have a skilled maintenance man make all repairs.

Each day on the average 33 people are killed by fire. One-third of them are on farms. Take time during fire prevention week, from October 3 to 9, to make your farm and family safe from the menace of fire. Remember this year's slogan: "Let's grow up—not burn up!"

CHATTING with your HOME AGENT

Marge Olson

This week I would like to talk about new appliances on the market. In the fall we usually plan for the equipment to buy during the winter.

There are many different models and brands in appliances on the market, so the choice is wide. Decide what you want the appliance to do for you and then select the one that has the features that will fit your needs.

To get the most out of any electrical appliance, it should be used often and stored within easy reach. With frequent use, you will find many extra ways that your appliance can serve you.

There are many new coffee makers on the market—tall and slender, short and round. Most models brew from two to nine cups with perfect results, either by the percolator or vacuum method.

The blender has had many recipes developed for using it, thus increasing its popularity. Packaged mixes, spreads, salad dressings, soups, baby food, puddings, sauces and meat loaves can be mixed in the blender. It is fine for pulverizing vegetables, blending cheese or grating bread and cracker crumbs. Most mixing jobs are completed in one or two minutes. In some makes, blades are removable for cleaning and two speeds are available.

One of the most popular new appliances is the automatic electric frying pan. These handsome units may be used both for cooking and for serving at the table. The temperature range permits frying, braising, baking and casserole cooking, as well as for chafing dish cookery. They are easy to care for, and one model may be immersed in water up to the dial on the handle for cleaning.

Table and rotisserie broilers have introduced a very casual method of cooking into many homes. The appetite, tempting sight of meat or poultry sizzling on a slowly turning automatic spit adds interest (to say the least) to meal preparation. Combination models may be used for broiling, barbecuing, frying, grilling and roasting. They may be placed on a table or portable cart for use in and out side the house. Most take a medium sized chicken or 8-pound roast. Large models hold a 20 pound roast or turkey.

The new combination fryer-cookers have larger capacity and a greater range of temperatures than the early models. These versatile units are convenient for deep fat frying, stewing, braising, steaming, and even for baked beans. They are available in round, square or oblong shapes. Some have draining spouts to filter the fat as it is poured off. Others have to be tilted. Sturdy handles on either side make them easy to handle and move and all have wire baskets to hold and remove fried food.

Next week, we will begin a two week series of columns, discussing the care of various appliances.

LOCAL MAN STATIONED AT LACKLAND AIR FORCE BASE

Now completing their Air Force basic military training course at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas, are Robert Sculthorp, Darold Dalton, Glen Tunheim, Milton Hanson, Robert Carlson, Gordon Kappedal and Wallace Evenson, all of Thief River Falls.

Surface mining methods last year accounted for the production of more than 8¾ million tons of bituminous coal by 166 companies in West Virginia.

A stained glass window in an English church dating from 1642, shows the likeness of a bicycle. First modern machine of that kind dates from 1816 Germany.

The 33 million dollar Greater Pittsburgh Airport, opened about two years ago, is the world's second largest.

School News

1st and 2nd grade: There are fifteen boys and sixteen girls enrolled in Sunnyside. We are happy to have our desks refinished. Thanks to the craftsmanship and energy of Mr. Carlson.

Wednesday we had our first fire drill. The students conducted themselves like trained soldiers and cleared the room quickly and in an orderly manner.

2nd and 3rd grade, Mrs. Stennes: We have 28 pupils registered in our room this term. The room is very cheerful as it has been painted a pastel blue and we have border decorations of squirrels, acorns and colored leaves on the south wall. The north wall is decorated with sunflower faces.

On Thursday afternoon Loretta Kerwin brought angel food cake, candy and balloons to the room. The occasion was her birthday so we had a half hour party. Mrs. Wawryzniak visited our room Thursday and Mrs. Grebowski visited on Tuesday. Dennis Chwialkowski has been absent all week. These people had 100 in spelling this week: Betty, Marlys, Janet, Daniel, Ruth, Gerald, Mary Ann, Eugene, Robert T., Curtis, Luella, Kay, Wayne, Carol, and Dennis W. We read the story of "Snow-white and the Seven Dwarfs" in language class.

Grades 4-5: There are 29 eager workers back in this room this year. Joan Klegstad is a new member of the fifth grade class. We are glad to welcome her with us. The fifth grade are studying insects in science. We certainly have fun bringing different insects to school and watching them. The fourth grade are making an Indian tepee. We are studying about Indians in history.

Grades 6-7: There are 17 girls and 10 boys in our room this year. Albert Blazyiwski entered the sixth grade on Monday. The following had a perfect spelling lesson this week: Tern, Janice, Judy J., Sharon, Shirley W., Jerry, Anna, Eileen, John, Don, Richard, June, Mark, Ina Lou, Camilla, Arlene, Allen, Judy, Robert, David, Ivadell and Douglas.

Grades 7-8: There are 18 pupils in grade 8. There are 11 boys and 13 girls in our room. Most of us were happy to be back in school. Our room was painted, the floor varnished and waxed, so we have a nice place in which to work. We also think the hall is cheerful. For art the girls framed and put up pioneer and fall pictures. The boys take Industrial arts with Mr. Waterworth as teacher. This week we have enjoyed a fine exhibit consisting of articles from foreign countries, antiques, potted plants, cut flowers, local vegetables and fruit, etc. The girls had charge of the decorations as art work. Those who had 100 in spelling were Joyce A., Robert B., Herald C., Joan C., Harriet H., Ione K., James L., Marie K., and Marlene R. On the first day of school we learned the new "Pledge to the Flag."

Father: How did Robert do in his history test?

Mother: Not very well, but it wasn't his fault. The teacher asked about things that happened before he was born.

Grade 8 elected class officers on Friday. The following were elected: President, Joyce Adils; vice Pres., Betty Kasprowicz; secretary, Marlene Rud; treasurer, Ronald Donarski. We decided to have our next meeting Oct. 1st.

The first local hunting accident of the fall season resulted in one very upset hunter, one dead grouse and several pellets permanently placed in the body of the victim.

Joe Urbaniak and his brother Tony, hunted grouse, together with a group of local hunters on Sunday. Joe, who is an experienced hunter and careful with firearms, saw a ruffed grouse light in a narrow strip of roadside willows. As he approached the willows the partridge flushed and Joe shot and got his bird. Brother Tony must have had the same idea and approached the willow strip from the other side and happened to be directly in line of fire. Four pellets struck him in the face and two penetrated his wrist. One pellet missed an eye by a fraction of an inch. Tony was taken to the Karlstad hospital where one pellet was removed. The others were too deeply seated to remove. Tony was released and returned to his home in Minneapolis.

Potato season is here again and the Soo Line has installed an electric outlet for those who use electric loaders. They have also filled in on the east side of the tracks so just as Mrs. Paulson gets her geraniums blooming it will look like a park. I don't see why we couldn't get some potato chip factories, warehouses, etc. in these smaller communities where we have just as many conveniences at our command if we care to use them. We usually have all season roads and I believe the railroads also contribute their share of taxes to each county.

Easy on the pocketbook

The more grain you can feed to your hens, the less out-of-pocket cash is needed for egg mash.

That's why the Archer Poultry Balancer feeding plan makes such good sense. Here's a plan that's really easy on the pocketbook. For example, with a 20% mash, you need two parts grain to two parts egg mash. With Archer Poultry Balancer you need only one part Balancer to THREE parts of grain.

In other words, you need only about half as much supplement when you buy Archer Poultry Balancer. Buy a supply. It's economical . . . and it's a work-saver because it's made for free-choice feeding.

Prowlers Defeat Red Lake Falls 40-12; E. G. Forks Here Friday

Coach Ralph Skjod's Prowlers, although playing without the services of fullback Pete Froehle, who was side-lined because of an ankle injury, possessed too many weapons of attack for coach John Miller's Eagles on Friday night, and the the result of the district football game played at Red Lake Falls was a 40 to 12 victory for the blue-and-gold. The Prowlers meet another district "toughie" this week when coach Harold "Snooks" Sullivan brings his East Grand Forks club over here for a game against the locals under the lights on Lincoln field.

Only in the opening minutes of Friday night's game were the Eagles able to make any consistent gains, rolling up four first downs, after accepting the game-opening kickoff, to carry to the Prowlers' 11-yard line, where the attack sputtered to a halt and the locals held for downs. The Eagles had the services of the their hard-running fullback, Duane Bozo Emard, during this first period drive, but the plucky Eagle backfielder, suffering from asthma, saw only limited service during the balance of the first half, and he did not play in the second half.

The Prowlers, from their own 11-yard line, moved down to the Eagles' 29-yard line, with Mark Bjorkman breaking loose for a pair of groundgaining runs. Sid Vraa, on a cut back, picked up 8 yards at left tackle; a pair of Prowler 5-yard penalties moved the locals back to the 37 from where Vraa tossed a pass to Evan Jones, who made the catch on the eight and sprinted over the west goal-line for a touchdown. Bjorkman plunged the line for the point, and the Prowlers had a 7 to 0 first period lead.

On the first play from scrimmage in the second period, from the Eagles' 4-yard line, Vraa circled left end for a td, and Jim Sauve hit right tackle for the conversion point. The Prowlers had set up that score when Sauve had plucked the ball out of Tony Schmitz' hands as the Red Lake Falls back was returning the kickoff from his 2 yard line to the Eagles' 25-yard line, giving the Prowlers possession. A pass, Vraa to Sauve, was complete for a first down on the 10; and Larry Jorgenson drive over left guard for six yards as the period ended.

The Prowlers gained another cheap touchdown in the second period when Page fumbled a kickoff, with the Prowlers recovering on the Eagles' 27-yard line. The Eagles held for downs, stopping Vraa on a sneak on fourth down, to take over on their 17-yard line, but on the first play, Jim Hall intercepted a Red Lake Falls pass on the 20. Jack Quesnell made five yards at left tackle; Sauve added four at right tackle; and Bjorkman plowed over left tackle to the Eagles' 3-yard line. Sauve made a yard on a plunge, the Prowlers were penalized five yards for backfield in motion, Bjorkman circled right end to the 1-yard line, and then Sauve knifed through the line for the score. Vraa placekicked the extra point, giving the Prowlers a 21 to 0 lead at the intermission.

Three plays after receiving the second half kickoff the Prowlers had their fourth touchdown. Sauve on a nifty return, carried the ball from the Prowlers' 10-yard line to mid-field; Vraa sifted through the defense on a sweep around left end to the 12-yard line; Vraa was held for no gain on a try at right end; and then Bjorkman slammed through left tackle for a touchdown. Vraa's placekick try for the conversion was to the right of the goal-posts.

Rod Collins gave the Prowlers another touchdown in the third period when, from the Red Lake Falls' 27-yard line, he intercepted a pass and sprinted across the east goal-line for a td; and Vraa's placekick added the point to give the prowlers a 34 to 0 lead.

The Prowlers "second string", with a backfield consisting of Jack Quesnell, Chip Strand, Rod Collins, and Ron Reese, notched the locals' final tally, scoring early in the fourth period after five straight first downs had carried from the Prowlers' 40 yard line to the Eagles' 3. Quesnell dove through center for the score. The try for the point was void because of a Prowler penalty.

The Eagles came back to score their two touchdowns on well-conceived passing plays. With the ball on the Red Lake Falls' 30-yard line, Norm Pastir found end Ernest Berry with a pass at mid field, and the rangy Eagle flanker outraced the Prowler secondary to score. The try for the conversion, on a kick, was blocked.

Minutes later, when a Prowler fumble had given the Eagles possession on the locals' 30 yard line, a pass Schmitz to Page, was completed for a score, with Page being in the clear on the Prowler 10 yard line when he gathered in the ball. Again the try for the point, on a place-kick, was blocked and the game score read: Thief River Falls, 40; Red Lake Falls, 12.

21 Boys Trying out for Places on Plummer Eleven

Herb Arndt, coach of the Plummer Cardinals, high school football team, has been grooming his boys for what is believed to be one of the stiffest seasons of recent years. Last years' graduation took a heavy toll as far as experienced material is concerned. Arndt has had to whip up a new line and build a new backfield around Dale Craft and Duane Nelson, the only players who had seen any amount of action last year.

The following boys have reported for football practice: Derold Carpenter, Dale Craft, Duane Craft, Rolland Gagner, Dwight Howard, Floyd Howard, Roger Howard, Russell Huotari, Patrick Laniel, Verl Leckron, Duane Nelson, Wayne Page, Vern Paradis, James Peterson, Tommy Peterson, LeRoy Sabourin, Eldon Vigstol, Lee Vigstol, Harold Waldal, David Westerlund, and Billy Morinville.

The Cardinals got off to a good season's start by downing Erskine 22-6 in a Tri-County League game played at Erskine on September 17th.

Carl Hovie Sees Big Bear in City

While driving into this city from the south on Highway 59 last Thursday evening at dusk, Carl Hovie, rural mail carrier, was surprised to see a 300-pound black bear on the highway near the T-59 Motel. When Hovie sounded his horn, the animal ran by the Mel Zitzow home west of the highway, and then made its way into the woods to the south.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Yes, East Side.

The most attractive game on the Prowlers home football schedule will, perhaps, be the district tussle here on Friday night between Snooks Sullivan's Little Green Wave and Ralph Skjod's Prowlers.

Regardless of their previous record, and East Grand Forks will be coming here after taking a top-sided whomping at Bemidji last Friday, the Green Wave is always "up" when they meet the Prowlers. Since 1919, when the Prowlers scored a 92 to 6 win, the two teams have played thirty-four games with the locals winning nineteen, losing fourteen and tying one. Except for the series with Crookston Central, which has been continuous since 1920, the Prowlers vs. East Grand Forks has been enduring feud. The two clubs have played scheduled games every year since 1921.

It is reported that the Green Wave will be coming here on Friday night with a crippled lineup, being without the services of their hard-running backfielder, Bob Glimsdahl. Glimsdahl, in the second period of the game at Bemidji, suffered a severe gash in his leg, the cut necessitating seven or eight stitches. With Glimsdahl out of action, as seems probable, the bulk of the East Grand Forks offense will be carried by fullback John Cash, who has been converted from a guard to a backfielder this season.

If the Prowlers win Friday night's tilt, and they are favored to do just that, coach Skjod's squad will have taken a long stride in defending their 31st district football championship.

Bearskin 'Ev.

Who's this member of the local rifle club, an expert rifleman and a veteran of international competition, who backed away from a bear on Sunday? This individual was hunting partridges north of Winner when he came upon a black bear that was scrounging around for roots and nuts. With his shotgun loaded with bird shot, trap loads, in fact, the hunter made a hasty and strategic retreat, and then re-loaded his gun with number twos, and stalked back to the attack.

The bear, in the meantime, had sniffed out the hunter and reared up on his hind legs, the better to make his observation. When the hunter came within range he saw this up-reared bear, towering at least seven feet and with a hide that looked like armor-plate. Vision of wife and family, parents and brothers, appeared before the hunter, and, in a lightning-like decision, he decided that the bearskin looked better on the bear than as a bearskin rug, and he withheld his fire and stole silently away. Argl further, it wasn't a cinch that the bear would become a rug.

The hunter is alive to hunt bear another day; and the first purchase he made on Monday morning was for several shotgun slugs.

Chicken and Dumplings

From all reports, there appears to be more sharptails than ruffed grouse in this vicinity. Although miserable hunting conditions prevailed, with rain and cold weather causing much discomfort, there were more successful "chicken" hunters than the pre-season reports had indicated.

Frank Rinkel, Russ Embury, Tony Dorn, Doc Starekow, Dave and Milo Wilde had a limit shoot on Saturday morning while hunting northeast of town. That term, "northeast of town," certainly can take in a lot of territory, but the guess is that they were around the Mavie-Gatzke country. And Dr. Jim Disse, the city's ranking trap shot, was out on Saturday and helped his gang fill their limit on Sharptails.

Kern Olson, Banker Pete, Joe Rinowski and their party had made careful pre-season plans spotting several coveys, but when they came into these locations on Saturday they were able to flush but two "singles," and Pete bagged one of those.

The partridge hunters, though all report a scarcity of birds, but they won't give up hope, believing that the heavy foliage is hiding the ruffles. A killing frost is needed, and then it is probable that the partridge will make their appearance, although it is agreed that the ruffed grouse are in a "down" cycle.

All Good Things Come to an End:

With the wagers that those Yankee enthusiasts — Bobby Carlson, Garf Benson, Red Hoppe, Shorty Perkins, and others —are reported to have lost when the Cleveland Indians won the American League pennant on Saturday, arrangements should be made, perhaps, for Gi Thieves to play a benefit game for those boys. And these "die hards" will probable cheer for the New York Giants in the World's Series.

Because we haven't received the latest quotations from Harold Eide, who is an authority on American League play, excepting the Yankees, of course, we can't predict the outcome of the Series.

G. Forks Golfer Wins Snowball Special Event

Jack Hilber Plays Par Golf to Defeat Stan Larson 3 to 1 in Finals

Jack Hilber, an efficient shotmaker from Grand Forks, played par golf to defeat the local club's Stan Larson, 3 to 1, in the finals of the "Snowball Special" shortstop golf tournament played over the local course on Sunday.

Hilber, who played out of Fargo before moving to Grand Forks and, who is rated as a state championship contender in North Dakota amateur golf, defeated Bob Ulsaker in a first round match on Sunday morning, and then eliminated Winger's Hal Aaseth in the semi-finals. Larson, in reaching the finals, shot par golf in his first round match against Les Hanson, and then scored a win over Marv Pederson in the semi-finals.

The local club's Rudy Mehlhoff won the championship flight consolation honors by scoring a 1-up win over Grand Forks' Cliff Yagla in an extra hole finals encounter.

In the championship flight finals, Stan Larson jumped into an early lead, winning the first hole with a par four while Hilber was carding a bogie five; and when Larson, scoring a birdie three, won the second hole, the local club champion held a 2-up lead.

Hilber, scoring pars on the 3rd on the 4th holes, evened the match, and when Larson marked up a bogie five on the long fifth hole, Hilber moved into the lead by scoring a par four. The 6th hole was halved with birdie treys; but Hilber moved 2-up by winning the 7th hole with a par 4. Hilber closed out the match on the 8th when his tee shot was on the green, thirty feet from the pin. Larson was short of the green with his drive, and his chip shot approach was past the pin. Hilber rolled his approach putt to within a foot of the cup, getting a conceded three to end the match.

Par	444 344 435—35
Hilber	544 343 435—35
Larson	435 453 545—38

New Policy Boosts License Suspensions

More drivers' licenses were suspended during July and August of this year for negligence resulting in traffice accidents than in the entire 18 months previous, according to Earl M. Larimer, director of highway safety. A total of 250 suspensions were invoked during the two-month period, as compared with 229 from January 1, 1953 through June 30 of this year.

"This certainly indicates excellent cooperation on the part of both enforcement officers and the courts in bringing to the attention of the drivers license bureau the fact that drivers have been arrested and convicted for offenses which contributed to accidents," Mr. Larimer said.

In a recent letter to every judge in the state, Mr. Larimer asked that the state drivers license division be informed of every conviction resulting from a law violation or where a motorist was negligent in his driving. This has made it possible to more fairly enforce the state law which provides for suspension of driving permits of those drivers involved in accidents in which their wrongful driving was a chief contributing factor.

"It is this kind of cooperation," Larimer concluded, "which is enabling the state's traffic law enforcement agencies to protect the public against the type of drivers who are mainly responsible for an unreasonably large proportion of our traffic deaths, injuries and wrecked automobiles. I believe that this enforcement policy has served to bring home to the people of the state the fact that, if they commit a careless act which contributes to an accident, they are almost certain to be in trouble."

4 Men Nominated for Two Red Lake Co. Board Posts

Contests for two Red Lake county commissionerships furnished the only local interest on the county ballot in the Sept. 14 primary election, says the Red Lake Falls Gazette.

In the second district, Ted Clement of Terrebonne was high with 59 votes and Adrian Brule of Lake Pleasant was second with 53 and the two will battle it out at the general election. Jos. W. Ste. Marie was third with 41; N. W. Christopherson fourth with 38 and Felix Desotel last with 16.

County Commissioner Lloyd Green in the third district was high man in a three cornered contest. He polled 212 votes to 136 for Wilfred Rahier, while Vern Lindquist who ran third with 101 is eliminated from the race.

Beef Is Plentiful in Lower Grades

'U' Economist Reports on Fall Market Outlook

Consumers will have no difficulty getting all the beef they want from now on through the fall, Mrs. Eleanor Loomis, extension consumer marketing agent at the University of Minnesota, said today.

Supplies of all beef will be plentiful during the fall. However, there will be especially good supplies in the moderately priced grades because the marketing of grassfed cattle—the cattle raised on pasture and range—has started to increase and will continue to gain thru the fall. Beef from this grassfed cattle is mostly in the intermediate grades which carry less fat then the higher grades.

In retail markets the beef from grassfied cattle is largely in the commercial and good grades, occasionally some in the higher grades, Mrs. Loomis said, and can be just as flavorful if properly cooked.

The low and moderately priced grades of beef make excellent stews, casseroles and meat pies, hamburger and other ground meat dishes. Long, slow, moist cooking is the secret of making such meat tender, according to Mrs. Loomis. Braising, that is, first browning in fat and then cooking slowly with moisture, makes for fine flavor, attractive brown color and tenderness. The less tender beef may also be cooked successfully under pressure, in a much shorter time.

'U' Potato Trial Plots in Valley to Be Dug Shortly

Growers in Minnesota's principal potato regions will soon have an opportunity to see how new potato varieties are doing in University of Minnesota test plots in their area.

According to O. C. Turnquist, extension horticulturist at the University, "open house" days will be held at the test plots and farmers are invited to come in and see the new varieties harvested and ask questions.

Monday, September 27, a potato field day begins at 12 noon at the Herman Skyberg farm near Fisher.

Tuesday, September 28, farmers are invited to inspect the potato harvest at the Northwest School and Experiment Station, Crookston.

GOOD PAST AND GOOD FUTURE

The 50th anniversary of the coming of the Soo Line provides the community with a good excuse to celebrate. It was the Soo Line, with its branches eastward to Duluth and across the prairies of Dakota to the west, that established Thief River Falls as a commercial center of more than local importance. The company's present payroll of more than a million dollars a year helps in a very material way to maintain the city's economic stability. The large number of Soo Line employees are a progressive segment of home-owning, tax-paying citizens who assume their full share of the responsibility of giving direction and support to community activities. If there must be an excuse for a celebration none better could be found than the golden anniversary of the coming of the Soo Line.

In celebrating fifty years of progress however, it is well to extend our horizon beyond the limits of the city of Thief River Falls. We have made progress as a city largely because the great area we serve has made progress. And we will make progress in the future only as that area around us continues to go forward.

The fifty year period that we are celebrating has been in many ways the most remarkable half century of development the world has experienced. No single generation has had the privilege of seeing so great an advance in living standards; so many revolutionary changes in methods of production, transportation and communication. The progress we are celebrating, however, is the progress that has come to our community in the transformation of an undeveloped brushland territory into a highly productive, diversified and substantial area of the state.

Thief River Falls has gone forward because Northwestern Minnesota has gone forward and it will continue to make progress only as this corner of the state makes progress. We have reason to celebrate the progress of the past. We have reason too to look forward to the future with confidence.

A MOST DISTINGUISHED GUEST

Our community will entertain many distinguished guests during the progress celebration this week, but by all odds the most distinguished will be Secretary of the Interior, Douglas McKay. As a member of the President's official family he represents the top level of our national government.

Time magazine did an excellent job of introducing Mr. McKay to us a few weeks ago when he was pictured on the front cover and considerable inside space was given to him, his background, and the vast scope of his present responsibilities. On the strength of that introduction we recommend him as one well worth meeting and hearing.

According to Time, "Doug" McKay definitely is not a stuffed shirt. He came up the hard way and was successful both in business and in politics in his native state of Oregon which he served with credit as governor. Except for a flat nose, the result of being thrown from a horse, he resembles Harry Truman in appearance and, we are informed, he has some of Truman's mannerisms. "He has a talent for off-the-cuff oratory and off-the-cob jokes," Time observed, and he is "jaunty, friendly and folksy."

As Secretary of the Interior he is the nation's biggest landlord, controlling the economic activity on 750 million acres of ranch, forest and mining lands. Important tivities of his department are the Reclamation Bureau, the Bureau of Indian Affairs and the Fish and Wildlife Service.

Unfortunately the Weather Bureau is not in the list of departments over which he has authority, but his speech is one part of the program that will be presented rain or shine. It can be moved up to the Auditorium if necessary. Come and hear him.

WANTED, FAIR WEATHER

Alex Cloutier of the firm of Alex Cloutier & Company, parade producers, has only one worry in regard to the parade to be presented under the new lights Saturday night. He and his department heads and their scores of lieutenants agree that as parades go it will be the best ever. Their one worry is about the one thing over which they have no control, the weather.

And the weather is the one thing the pageant producers are worried about too. If the weather is good they are sure the pageant will be good. If the weather is real bad then the pageant, along with the parade, will have to be plowed under as another crop failure.

But, after all, ours is a farming community and we are accustomed to weather worries. The producers of parades and pageants need not be concerned about army worms or rust.

We are sure the pageant that will be presented Saturday and Sunday will be worth seeing, but bring along some pillows and a blanket for your hillside seating comfort. And, incidentally, the park board gang has done a peach of a job in rebuilding the park for such uses. The old unused tourist park has a long life of useful service ahead of it as it is now being developed.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Slugger Wins the "Home" Game

Slugger White, the home town's star hitter, dropped by the other day to talk baseball, and to "tell one" on himself.

Seems Slugger had been baby-sitting. "I was doing just fine," he said, "until it was time for a 'change.' I called Mom for advice. Still didn't get it right. Then Dad set me straight."

"'Place the diaper like a baseball diamond with you at bat,' he said. 'Fold second base over home plate, and pin first and third base on home plate.' That did it—with no errors!"

From where I sit, Slugger's Dad had the idea. Often, like his Mom, a lot of us tend to give advice in our terms without considering the other fellow's way of doing things. Even in choosing your favorite beverage, it's best to think of your neighbor. If you like tea, and I prefer a temperate glass of beer, we should both "play the game" and try to understand each other's point of view.

GULLY . . .

By Mrs. Arnold Brovold, Gully

Mrs. Ray Brekke and children and Mrs. Henry Berg drove to Oklee on Sunday afternoon and visited with their sister and daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Berry.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Husel, depot agent at Gully left on Saturday for their vacation.

Farmers in this area are really getting anxious about their harvesting, and are hoping each day that the next day will bring sunshine, perhaps there isn't really so much rainfall but it rains so often that it doesn't get a chance to dry out enough to thresh or combine, and perhaps its only the surplus, which seems to be such a worry for some, that is being taken care of now.

Mrs. A. I. Kroll was pleasantly surprised on Sept. 13 when some of her friends came to visit her at her home and wish her a happy birthday. These were Mrs. Bonnie Carlson, Bron and Nancy, Mrs. Harold Stiele and Ricky, Mrs. Hilda Kvale, Eunice and Rodger, Mrs. Geo. Ness, Mrs. Irvin Thorson who was unable to come joined with the others in presenting a gift to Mrs. Kroll. The self invited guests also brought lunch including a birthday cake made by Mrs. Hilda Kvale.

Mrs. Toppy Gunderson and two children, Sandy and Allen left for Everett, Wash. on Sept. 9 and on Monday, Sept. 13 she underwent major surgery. Mr. Gunderson plans to leave for there as soon as possible. Mrs. Arnold Brovold will manage the Co-op Store temporarily. Mrs. Ray Brekke will send in the news from Gully during this time, so will you kindly cooperate with Mrs. Brekke in giving her the news early, with the papers being printed earlier the news needs to be sent on Monday.

We hope it was the unpleasant weather that cut the vote in Gully down to only about two-thirds of the possible vote at last Tuesdays election.

Peter Halvorson, well known in this community and now of Clearbrook, passed away suddenly last Wednesday after a short illness. He is survived by his wife and three sons and 4 sisters, and two brothers, Ted of Clearbrook and Alfred of Gully, Mrs. Thea Johnson of Mentor, Mrs. Hulda Johnson of Chicago and Mrs. Rosie Johnson of the West Coast.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Brovold, Carol and Gay and Mrs. H. T. Hanson attended services and the dinner at the Nazareth church on Sunday and visited at the Orland and Mervin Rindahl homes in the afternoon, also at the Mervin Rindahl home were Mrs. Orland Rindahl and children, Mr. and Mrs. Edvin Berg and Geraldine and Mrs. Thora Brovold of Gully.

The Lund Ladies Aid met at the church on Wednesday afternoon. Bible study was led by Mrs. Bennie Carlson and devotion by Rev. Landvik. Hostesses were Mrs. Claud Knudson, Mrs. Orville Calhoon, Mrs. Wally Mattson, Mrs. Claus Clausen and Mrs. Archie Bauman.

Farmers Union Local will meet at Gully Hall Friday evening, Sept. 21. Coya Knutson speaker. Music and lunch. Everyone welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Zweig, Mr. and Mrs. Harlen Zweig, Mrs. Elsa Zweig and Waldemar of Alexandria were dinner guests and visited Sunday at the Peter Rutkowski home.

CINDERELLA METAL DOES STRANGE THINGS

A generation ago vermiculite was only a geological curiosity. Now it rivals lumber or wool in the comfort it offers humankind. A Montana lad, playing in the late 20's with this mica-like stuff he found underfoot everywhere, noticed that heat made the little particles expand and take on fancy shapes. Ten years later two tons of vermiculite valued at $68 were shipped from Libby, Montana. Now the vermiculite volume is around $20,000,000 a year. Scientific methods expand this odd mineral to 15 times its normal size, so that a cubic foot of its "crystals" weigh only about five pounds. We now know it by its trade name after the expansion process, Zonolite, sold most everywhere as a light, durable, and highly efficacious insulating material. It also plays an important role in making lightweight concrete products and fireproof plaster.

A mobile, extensible belt conveyor for use with continuous mining machines, said to be capable of increasing coal mining productivity by as much as 50% without adding to the working force, has just been made available to the industry.

Of Pennsylvania's 29 bituminous coal producing counties, only one—Greene County—last year produced no coal by surface mining methods. More than 11½ million tons were deep mined in Greene County.

Social Security for Farmers Explained by Grand Forks Agent

The amendments to the Social Security Act which President Eisenhower signed into law on September 1, are of particular importance to both farm operators and farm workers, Walter D. Kistler, manager of the Grand Forks Social Security district office, said today.

The new law extends social security protection to almost all farm families after this year. Nationwide, about 3,600,000 self-employed farm operators will be covered for the first time in much the same way as other self-employed persons already under the program. Approximately 2,100,000 more hired farm workers will start building old-age and survivors insurance protection for themselves and their families on January 1, 1955.

This means that by the time they have worked through two more crop years, elderly farm people may be insured, so that they can receive monthly social security checks after age 65. A farmer's family will be protected, too, so that if he should die, at any age, the widow and young children would receive monthly payments. For a retired farmer and his wife, the payments will be from $45 to almost $163 a month, depending upon his earnings, while the family of an insured worker who dies will receive from $45 to $200 a month.

The amended law does away with the complicated "regularly employed" test whereby a worker had to be continuously employed by a farm operator before his work started to count toward social security. Also eliminated is the provision that he must then be employed by the same farm operator on a full-time basis for at least sixty days during the following quarter. The amended law replaces this test with the requirements that, beginning January 1, 1955, an agricultural employee will be covered by social security in any calendar year in which he is paid as much as $100 in cash by one farm employer.

While this amendment to the Social Security Act will bring coverage to many more farm workers, the new law does not cover the most intermittent or short time workers, and does not impose on the farm employer the burden of reporting small amounts of wages. However, the farm operator who employs farm help will have an obligation to report the employee's covered wages and remit the social security tax (two percent deducted from the worker's cash wages; two percent contributed by the farm operator.) The farmer will send the report and the taxes for his employee to the District Director of Internal Revenue.

Kistler pointed out that the farm operator will earn social security credits in the same way as all other self-employed people who are under the program, with one notable exception. For farm operators whose gross income is less than $1,800 in a year, there is a special simplified reporting procedure. The farm operator will report his income for social security and pay his first social security self-employment tax on his 1955 earnings. The social security tax is a three percent tax which is due, with the social security income report, at the same time the farmer pays his income tax. This date is April 15, 1956.

Farm operators and workers who have never been in employment or self-employment covered by social security and have never had a social security account card, or have lost their card, should get in touch with the nearest Social Security District Office, Kistler declared. The social security office in Grand Forks is in the post office building. If it is not convenient for a farmer or farm worker to visit that office, he can get an application blank at the post office and mail it to the above address.

Our Old-Timers Were Young Rails at That Time

Among those who will be honor guests at the celebration banquet Friday night will be several old-timers in the railroad service in this city who will remember when this picture was taken in 1910. It was the meeting when a local division of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen was organized.

At that time the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers was already organized in Thief River Falls, Division 768 having been chartered December 6, 1908 with 19 charter members headed by J. E. Malthouse. Alfred Johnson, present secretary-treasurer, has much material on the history of the organization, much of which has been assembled by Charles Hellquist.

Co-op Month to Be Observed in State in October

C. Elmer Anderson, governor of Minnesota, has signed a proclamation declaring October as "Cooperative Month". The proclamation recognizes the contribution of cooperatives to the economy of the region. The month's activities will be highlighted by the annual meeting of the Minnesota Association of Cooperatives on October 5 and 6 in St. Paul. A special feature of the program includes an address on the problems and development of rural electric cooperatives by Clyde Ellis, manager of the Rural Electric Cooperative association, Washington, D. C.

J. K. Stern, president of the American Institute of Cooperation, Washington, D. C. will be guest speaker at the annual banquet on October 5. Stern is in charge of public relations and educational work for agricultural cooperatives in the United States.

Born in 1917 in Nebraska, Mr. Lundberg attended public schools at Red Oak, Iowa, Little Falls, Minn. and Thief River Falls. He is a graduate of the University of Minnesota's Institute of Technology with a degree in mechanical engineering.

Minnesota 'U' to Open Term Monday

Ten Per Cent Increase in Number of Freshmen Seen

There will be approximately 10 per-cent more new freshmen students than last year in University of Minnesota classes when the 1954-55 academic year opens Monday, Sept. 27, predicts R. E. Summers, dean of admissions and records.

Summers explains that the rise in new freshmen students is the first indication of collegiate population swell resulting from the birthrate rise which began during the last half of the 1930's.

The dean estimates that there will be a total enrollment for the three campuses, Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth, of approximately 19,500 students, between 3 and 5 per cent more than last year.

Approximately 4,500 new students began getting acquainted with each other and accustomed to campus life during the University's traditional Welcome Week Sept. 19-26.

University President J. L. Morrill will deliver his annual opening convocation message to students and faculty at 11:30 a. m. Thursday, Sept. 30, in Northrop Memorial auditorium.

Marshall County Agent Resigns

Frank Forbes to Take Supervisory Position

Frank W. Forbes, Marshall county agricultural extension agent during the past 10 years, submitted his resignation to the county extension committee recently to accept a position as supervisor of county extension agents in 20 Northwestern Minnesota counties.

Mr. Forbes will take over his new position on October 1 but will continue to make his home in Warren for the remainder of the school year after which he and his family will move to the St. Paul area. His offices will be at University Farm St. Paul.

A successor has not yet been named, although the extension committee is endeavoring to appoint an experienced, qualified agent who is familiar with the Red River Valley type of farming operations.

Mr. Forbes came to Warren in 1938 as a vocational agricultural instructor in the Warren high school. He served in this capacity during the next six years, when he was appointed as county agent for Marshall county succeeding R. A. Reierson, now of Fosston.

NATURE NOTES

September 1 found an apple tree on the Lionel Boldthen farm near Le Sueur, in full bloom.—Used to talk about "a chicken in every pot," then "two cars in every garage"; now they've got together: a hen on the Vernon Lapp farm near Austin laid her egg on the oil cap of the family auto.—R. L. O'Brien, International Falls philosophically sacrificed a big pail full of luscious fresh blueberries to a hungry bear.—Conrad Schumacher was looking for a miscued golf ball on the Little Falls course when he thought he might have found the world's champion pearl; but it turned out to be only another golf ball on which an ambitious clam had tightly clamped.

Report on Viking News of the Week

By Mrs. Orville Peters, Phone [illegible]

Some of our local hunters had a little excitement on Sunday afternoon when they spotted a large black bear roaming the prairie, after some chasing Dennie Carpenter of Numedal shot the bear, close to Kulseths pavilion. It was reported that they were certain the bear came a little early with intentions of staying for the dance and instead of getting "half shot" was completely shot.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Anderson returned home on Sunday evening from a 4,073 mile trip. The points of interest were the Green mountains of Vermont, the white mountains of New Hampshire, the Birkshire hills of Mass., the Adirondacks mountains in New York. They also saw the 1000 islands in the St. Lawrence River. They toured the coasts of Lake Ontario and Huron Lake, Michigan. Cities of interest were Bay City, Mich., Port Huron, Mich.; Sarnia and London, Ontario; Saratoga Springs, New York. While they were here they attended the Harness races at a noted race track. They also ran into some of the "Carol" and "Edna" hurricane in the east. The Andersons reported to be happy to be back in the Mid-West.

Mrs. Frank Hansen entertained the following women to a coffee party in honor of Mrs. Elmer Sherman on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Alton Sackett, Mrs. John Peters, Mrs. Edel Samuelson, Mrs. Albert Kagg, Mrs. Harold Kagg, Mrs. Hans Olson, Mrs. W. W. Barr, Mrs. Axel Jacobson, Mrs. Hjalmer Stokke, Mrs. Egbert Malberg, Mrs. Albert Peterson, Mrs. Art Walter, Mrs. John Ellingson, Mrs. Earl Erickson and Vicky, Mrs. Melvin Grandstrand. The afternoon was spent socially and lunch was served. The group presented Mrs. Sherman with a gift.

Mr .and Mrs. Clarence Tangquist and Paul, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Larson, Paulete and Kay Lynn left Saturday for Moorhead where they spent the week at the Lloyd Rafteseth home.

Mrs. Gordon Skejerven was hostess to a party on Friday afternoon. Her guests were Sophie Sundby, Mrs. Marie Kjorvestad, Mrs. Maybelle Green of Thief River Falls, Mrs. Ed Skjerven of Grafton, N. Dak., Mrs. Earl Erickson and Vicky, Mrs. Alton Sackett, Mrs. Arnold Skjerven, Judy and Dennis, Mrs. Orville Peters and Sharon. A very enjoyable time was had. A delicious lunch was served at the close of the afternoon.

The Building of the Soo

By C. E. Hellquist

By C. E. Hellquist

The summer and fall of 1911 was exceptionally dry. During the fall there was danger of forest fires on the Duluth line. Train and engine crews were kept on duty to protect the new bridges in the Gonvick area, where fires had done considerable damage.

During the winter of 1906-1907 snow was a problem on the wheat line. Bridge and building Foreman Albert J. Berg (now retired) was employed at Garrison, N. D., with a large crew of men. There had been several blockades so the food supplies in the new towns were dwindling fast. Fortunately the storms had abated for a few days so train service was re-established for a few days and thirty workers who had been laid off left on the last train before the final blockade.

Foreman Berg and the remaining 13 men of his crew remained at Garrison for three weeks when food and fuel supplies were so low they decided to walk to Velva, N. D., a distance of 52 miles. They hired a man with a team of horses to haul their personal belongings over the trackless prairie.

After they had traveled several miles they saw what looked like two wolves and upon further investigation they discovered the home of two bachelors living in a dugout in a hill. The dugout was covered with snow and so were the other buildings on the homestead. The bachelors had a cow however so the hungry and tired men had a meal of bread and milk and the farmers were very much pleased of having so many unexpected visitors.

The hikers arrived at Max, N. D. about 2:00 o'clock in the morning where they waited until daylight and after breakfast they proceeded to Velva. The weather was favorable so they made the trip in 28 hours. At Velva they found trains running and they were soon on their way to Minneapolis. Mr. Berg remembers the names of some of the men that were with him on this memorable hike; including C. W. Nelson, superintendent for the Northland Elevator Company, Albert Nordin now living at Karlstad, John Havel, Louis Hanson, Magnus Schodin and George Bailey.

The branch known as the Fordville-Drake line was built during the summer of 1912, 132 miles long. This line is a connecting link at Fordville from the Wheat line to Drake on the Minnesota Division.

The work of laying rails was started on May 10, 1912 at Fordville. Conductor was Dad Ford and engineer John Griffin and fireman Ernest Huhnke were in the cab of the engine behind the Pioneer on the morning that the laying of rails was started. Engineer James Turner, conductor Harry Carew and brakeman Jack Kjelty were switching cars in the material yard at Fordville. Conductor Helmer Vanganess, engineer James Porter and fireman Knut Melby, locomotive were hauling material to the Pioneer at the front. Engineer Clayton Russell worked on some of the jobs of construction.

From the west end of the line at Drake engineers Fred M. Roberts and Louis W. Inglehardt worked behind the Pioneer but we do not know who the conductors, fireman or brakemen were. The construction work made steady progress from both ends. The rails were connected near Ramsey, N. D. about the first day of September. On the day the rails were connected engineer Porter, conductor Vangsness and fireman Melby with locomotive 206 hauled a train over this line to Drake with superintendent W. A. Barnard's private car on the rear end.

The new skeleton track was rough and it was feared the equipment would not stay on the rails. New cars, being too rigid, were not run over this line until the track had been surfaced.

This is the last story of our attempt to tell about the building of the Winnipeg line, the lines west from Thief River Falls and the Plummer-Moose lake line. I am grateful to all friends who have contributed information written or oral to this series of Building the Soo. I am especially indebted to G. H. Frissell, Ernest Vandervort, James V. Porter, Knut Melby, Frank Bickle, C. F. Russell, H. H. Arhart and A. J. Berg. There are no doubt many more interesting stories about the early days, and I am sorry that we have not been able to get the names of all the men who pioneered in building the SOO.

Brake and Light Training Schools Set at Dunwoody

Two schools for the training of automobile brake and light adjusters have been announced by the Minnesota highway department, with classes to be held at Dunwoody Institute, Minneapolis. The course for brake adjustors will be given October 11 through 15, while the lamp course will run from October 18 through 21. Evening courses will also be arranged if there is sufficient demand. Fees are $12.50 and $10.00, respectively.

Each course, open to applicants 21 years of age or older, will qualify students as official lamp and brake adjustors. Applicants for the brake course must have four years of shop experience; two for the lamp course. Students will be given classroom and practical instruction, interpretation of motor vehicle laws, in addition to inspection, service and adjusting procedures.

Mechanics desiring to enroll for these courses are asked to apply through the Minnesota Highway Patrol, 1279 University avenue, St. Paul.

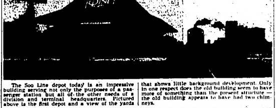
Before the Depot Became Division Headquarters



The Soo Line depot today is an impressive building serving not only the purposes of a passenger station but all of the other needs of a division and terminal headquarters. Pictured above is the first depot and a view of the yards that shows little background development. Only in one respect does the old building seem to have more of something than the present structure — the old building appears to have had two chimneys.

THE MINNESOTA STORY

Prepared by the

Minnesota Historical Society

THE FIRST LAND DEAL

One of the first real estate transactions in Minnesota land was in 1805 when the Great White Father purchased a substantial area at the south of the St. Croix, the outlet of the Minnesota and adjacent to the Falls of St. Anthony. The sellers were the Sioux. The intermediary was one Zebulon Pike, a lieutenant in the United States army.

Pike came up the big river in September, 1805. He ate breakfast on the 21st with the Kaposia band of the tribe who lived near Dayton's Bluff, below what is now St. Paul. He visited with J. B. Faribault, an early trader, and camped at night on an island where the Minnesota and Mississippi meet.

On the 23rd Pike met with the Sioux and made an effective sales talk. He told them what he wanted. He explained that traders would come with goods, gave a present of some tobacco and promised a drink when the papers were signed.

Quite a number of chiefs of the Dakotahs were present but did not sign the deed. Only two of them put their cross marks on the official documents. One was Little Crow, of a long line of chiefs, and the other was Rising Moose.

The consideration was not set down in the document. The United States Senate filled that in at two thousand dollars. That was cheap land, a few pennies an acre, for the site of future great cities and the control of three great rivers.

EARLY MISSIONARIES

One of the hardest missionary efforts in the history of the United States was, undoubtedly, that found in early Minnesota and having as its principal duty the Christianizing of the Sioux or the Dakotah Indians. These original people were very hard to deal with. Many religious sects avoided this undertaking where the fruits of religious efforts were most meagre.

The principal work among the Dakotas was done under direction of the Presbyterian Board of Missions. A hundred years ago, particularly in 1851, there were earnest missionary efforts along the Minnesota and Mississippi.

Furtherest to the west at Lac qui-parle, were found S. R. Riggs and M. N. Adams as missionaries and Jonas Pettijohn, his wife, Mrs. Riggs, Mrs. Adams and Miss Sarah Rankin as assistants. At Traverse des Sioux were Robert Hopkins and Alexander G. Huggins and their wives.

On the Minnesota nearer to Fort Snelling were the Ponds, Samuel and Gideon, and their wives. At Kaposia lived Thomas S. Williamson, who combined missionary work with the activities of a frontied physician and his wife and daughter.

Down the Mississippi at Red Wing were to be found John F. Alton and Joseph Hancock and their wives. Virtually all of the missionaries were ordained Presbyterian ministers, some of them with advanced education and with experience in large churches in the eastern states.

Through the foresight of the founders of the earliest government in Minnesota there was a most successful effort to preserve the newspapers of the territory and the state.

The newspaper collection of the Minnesota Historical Society is one of its greatest possessions. It now consists of more than 24,000 volumes and represents more than 30 million newspaper pages. Here the seeker after the story of the past can find a record that was written at the time of great events.

There have been many foreign language papers in Minnesota, scores of them. They appeared in several languages. But they all suffered from the same general eventuality. Their readers died. In their places came generations that were not interested in the languages of their forefathers. Such papers were doomed from the days of their founding and, one by one, they disappeared, primarily thru the methods of consolidation. Minnesota was the last stand of many foreign language papers, published not only in this state but throughout the whole Northwest.

The Scandinavian people were among those first in the state and were largest in number. The papers which the oldsters read have all gone with but one exception, the Skandinav at Duluth. The Finnish people came in large numbers at a somewhat later date. Their papers, with their readers in a more closely confined area of the state, seem to have survived better than some in other languages. There are two such publications in Minnesota, one at New York Mills and the other at Duluth. The Nowiny Minnesockie is a Polish newspaper in St. Paul and that city also has had two German language newspapers.

The U. S. Government, thru its Foreign Operations Administration, is financing the purchase of 10 million tons of coal for shipment before the end of next June to friendly countries overseas.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Veterans with personal problems or questions should consult Leo L. Haley, Contact Representative, Room 210-211 Post Office Building or Box 875, Grand Forks, North Dakota.

Q—I am a "peacetime" veteran, and I want to get into a VA domiciliary home. One of the requirements, I understand, is the lack of adequate means of support. I have an income of around $100 a month. Is that considered adequate?

A—No. Your $100-a-month income would not bar you from VA domiciliary care, so long as you meet all the other eligibility requirements. An income of $125 or more a month, however, is considered adequate means, if the veteran uses it to support only himself.

Q—Recently I needed emergency medical treatment in a non-VA hospital for my service-connected disability, and there wasn't time to get VA's authorization in advance. Woul it be possible for VA to reimburse me for the expenses?

A—Yes, it is possible, but only if all four of these conditions existed: (1) the treatment was for a service-connected disability or for some ailment that was aggravating a service-disability; (2) treatment was given in a medical emergency; (3) Government facilities were not available; (4) delay would have been hazardous.

Q—I'm a disabled veteran taking Public Law 16 training. I received a serious injury during my training. Could I receive additional compensation for my training injury?

A—Yes, it is possible for you to receive additional compensation for your injury, providing you can show that your disability resulted directly from some essential training activity.

Q—A friend of mine has been receiving VA compensation because of two disabilities. One is permanent and the other isn't. VA asked him to report for a physical examination for his non-permanent disability, but without any good reason he failed to show up. Will VA stop his entire compensation?

A—No. VA will adjust his compensation so that he will be paid only for his permanent disability. He no longer will receive payment for his non-permanent disability.

Florian
INVITES YOU TO ITS FALL DINNER and BAZAAR
Sunday, Sept. 26th
12 P. M. — 8 P. M.

"It's fun going to dinners and bazaars," a man remarked the other day at a church-dinner. "You get good meals for a very reasonable price. You meet old friends and make new ones. You enjoy various games and entertainments. In short, it's a wonderful Sunday recreation."

Through the years, the folks of Florian have endeavored to make their annual Fall Dinner and Bazaar a friendly get-together of neighbors and a pleasant adventure for people from near and far. Their motto has always been: "Have fun. Eat to your heart's content. Remember us kindly in the future."

This year, as they have pledged themselves to continue this policy, the folks of Florian have prepared a more attractive dinner and program than ever before. They will serve three entrees at the dinner: a) Roast of Prime Beef with mashed potatoes, gravy, peas and carrots, and desert, b) Spaghetti with meat balls, sauce, and genuine Parmesan cheese; c) Pickled Roast Beef with sour cream gravy, parslied potatoes, vegetables, and desert. While they are aware of the fact that two of the dishes sound exotic and new, they think you will love them if you try them.

They will offer also a great variety of games and entertainments beginning at 1:30 P. M.

As the folks of Florian remember your kind presence at their previous dinners and bazaars, they wish to thank you for your patronage in the past, and invite you cordially to be with them again on Sunday, September 26th.

Florian is located 12 miles East of Stephen, 14 miles South West of Karlstad, 18 miles North East of Argyle, 22 miles West of Middle River, Minnesota.

HOLIDAY!

Everybody needs "time off"—even your telephone. Especially if you're on a party line, it's important to leave a brief "holiday" between phone calls —so that incoming calls can reach you; so that other people on your line may use the telephone. Some other tips for good party-line service: hang up quickly and quietly when the line is in use, replace the receiver carefully, give up the line for emergency calls. Remember, party-line courtesy is catching. Northwestern Bell Telephone Company.

WHY? WHY? WHY?

It is such a little word, yet she uses it so often . . . particularly when she is alone, and thinking to herself. For it seems, then, as if there are so many questions and so few answers.

She tells herself that she isn't unhappy. She is young and attractive, has a family and friends, and enough material things to satisfy her wants. Yet there is something lacking, something that makes her restless when she should be at peace, enjoying the bounty of some of the best years of her life. Why, she asks herself. Why?

The answer is a simple one. There is something lacking in her life . . . there is a void. She hasn't found the basic faith that can answer her questions. She needs the spiritual background that the Church alone can give her. And until she finds this—she will still be asking, "Why?"

Do you ask yourself "Why?" too?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

WELL, WHAT WOULD YOU HAVE DONE?

A picnicking Redwood Falls boy took his honey on the hoof when a bee resentful at being flicked from his nose took flight down the boy's throat—When his tractor started to a blaze on a Rochester street a farmer of that vicinity calmly drove it to the fire station and got expert first aid—Edina postoffice employees are proudly rearing a new set of tax exemptions—Carabelle, a stray cat brought six babies into the world among their bags and letters and packages—Headlines in a Range newspaper "Embarrass Man Faces Auto Theft Count"—"Embarrass Man on Probation"—the town seems well named.

GROWING WITH YOUR CHILD

Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota

Peace At Your House?

"Get away from here, pee-wee, I'm setting up this farm."

"I'm no pee-wee."

"Hey, you knocked down the fence. You don't know anything."

"I do, too, and I can play here if I want to."

"Scram, brat, while you can still move."

"I'm not afraid; you're not my boss."

Will those boys ever stop quarreling and teasing each other, Mrs. Jamison sighed in desperation. I always planned that my children would be kind and get along with each other.

Every mother with more than one child has probably felt the same way many a time. It may be easier for parents to be patient if they understand that some dissension is almost unavoidable. It frequently results because the children are together so much of the time, because each child wants to prove himself superior, and because the children are rivals for the love and appreciation of their parents.

The frequency of quarrels may be reduced by removing the source of friction when this is possible, and by preventing physical or emotional exhaustion. If possible, a non-intervention policy is best, since fights tend to end more quickly when children are allowed to settle them themselves, and resentments are not driven underground. Teasing and squabbles in the family are often cushions for the struggles which will take place later in our competitive society.

By listening to teasing it is often possible to detect its cause. Some of it may have its roots in jealousy, or be a release from too heavy demands placed upon the child. Rivalries can be reduced by giving each child satisfactions appropriate to his age.

If the quarreling and teasing diminishes under favorable conditions, and the general tone is really not bitter, the children are probably working out a satisfactory relationship and a basis for friendliness.

50 YEARS AGO

FIRST FREIGHT SEPT. 26

The Soo Line reached Thief River Falls on September 10, 1904, in terms of track laying. A week later the surfacing crew arrived building up the grade and putting on the finishing touches before regular train service could be established. A special train brought general manager Pennington here on September 14, and no doubt there were many work trains back and forth during the following weeks before regular schedules were established. Several dates no doubt could be selected as the arrival time of a "first" train over this new road, the anniversary of which is being celebrated this week.

The first regular train schedule however was started on September 26, there being a small notice in the News in its issue of the 22nd soliciting business. "Commencing on September 26 the Soo Line will operate a daily freight service into Thief River Falls and solicits a share of your business," the short announcement stated. Passenger service was started October 2. "The train leaves the city at 6:30 in the morning and arrives in Minneapolis at 8:40 in the evening. Owing to the fact that the road is not in the best of condition as yet the train is not always on time."

NEWFOLDEN REACHED

The track layers were expected to reach Newfolden "today" and the "boarding cars" had been removed to the first station north of here, Aneta.

And the survey party locating the new line to the west was also making progress. "The Soo surveyors who are making the survey from the new line to run west from here have crossed the Great Northern about half way between Warren and Argyle. It is not probable that they will go through either of these places," the News predicted.

In its issue of September 22, 1904, the Thief River Falls News was no longer excited about the arrival. That had been announced the previous week when the track layers moved through the city.

There were two petitions before the city council according to the News, one in favor of having three streets vacated across the Soo tracks north of Third Street and another opposing this proposal. "Considerable interest is being taken in the matter," the News reported, "and when action is taken by the council it is expected that a large number will be present." When the council finally acted four streets were vacated, leaving Eighth Street as the only crossing north of Third.

Upland bird hunting was not good fifty years ago. State treasurer J. H. Block and his two sons had hunted in the Germantown country and although "Mr. Block is one of the best wing shots in the Northwest he succeeded in knocking down only a few birds."

"They are not very numerous and are quite wild just at present," the News commented and today's hunters may get some consolation that hunting wasn't always good in the good old days either. With ducks it was a different story that year. "Attorney Campbell of Crookston, who has been up here visiting friends and hunting, returned to Crookston Monday. In company with Charles Schuster he killed 200 ducks up at Mud Lake last week and took a large number back with him to distribute among his friends down there."

And the Germantown news that week contained an item concerning one of the remaining pioneers in that community. "John Phillip has commenced to build a new dwelling house and after it is finished something will happen. Watch out for it."

The opening of the new Golden Rule store was a tremendous success. "The special bargains offered for that day brought out so many buyers that the large force of clerks employed in the store found it difficult to wait upon all of the people."

Spectacular [illegible]arade Saturday Night Attra[illegible] Record Crowds

Parade Including Sixty Floats and 15 Bands Gets Under Way Right on Time

With ideal weather for the occasion, the 50th anniversary parade, staged in this city Saturday evening under the bright new white way lights, attracted the largest night crowd in the history of Thief River Falls, estimated variously at from 15,000 to 20,000 persons. All the downtown streets were lined with spectators, and parking space was at a premium.

The spectacular parade, divided into seven sections, comprising well over 100 units including 15 bands and other musical groups, required more than an hour to pass the viewer. The difficult task of organizing the parade was well handled under the direction of Alex Cloutier, grand marshal, and his assistants, and it got under way east of the Third st. bridge promptly at 8 o'clock.

Heading the procession was the Lincoln high school band, followed by cars bearing city and county officials, Soo Line officials and rail brotherhood representatives. Then came more than 40 cars carrying veteran employes of the Soo Line followed by a highly realistic locomotive.

More than 60 attractive floats, some of them highly elaborate, were in the line of march, reflecting a great deal of hard work, artistic taste and ingenuity on the part of their creators. Among the out-of-town floats were those entered by the Crookston Chamber of Commerce and the Grygla community, which also was represented by a group of twirlers. Crookston also sent its National Guard company to march in the parade. Other units appearing were the Roseau and Middle River drill teams, and the Red Lake Falls clown fire department.

A novel entry was supplied by the Thief River Square Dance club, which engaged in dancing on the huge platform pulled thru the streets. Other notable entries were included in the final section, which depicted various modes of transportation, including oxen, mules, donkeys, horses pulling a variety of equipages, and winding up with a Soo box car. In charge of the section were Joe Solney, Kenneth Halldin, and Leonard Furuseth.

Other section marshals included Dick LeMoine, Olaf Eide, Dick Meyers, Harry Solberg, Morris Howick and Elmer Andersen.

Musical organizations in the parade included the Thistle pipe band of Winnipeg, Kem Temple drum and bugle corps of Grand Forks, Crookston drum and bugle corps, Shrine Oriental band and Bridgeman's Halfpints of Thief River Falls, and high school bands from Red Lake Falls, McIntosh, Fosston, Middle River, Newfolden, Warroad and Gary.

"Oldest" Old-Timers at Reunion

Two of the oldest of the old-timers who attended the Soo Line employee reunion here during the 50th anniversary celebration were G. J. Holt of Big Fork and George W. Nicholson of Minneapolis. They had many things to talk about as both of them recalled the time, fifty years ago, when the Soo Line arrived at Thief River Falls.

Mr. Nicholson was conductor of the track-laying train that built the road through here and Mr. Holt fired for the train that supplied the materials to the track layers. Mr. Holt now publishes the Itasca Progressive at Big Fork.

Also present at the reunion was Wm. Roffis of Minneapolis, who served as fireman on the first train.

Nearly 7,000 Witness Staging of Pageant on Saturday and Sunday

Favored both days by ideal weather, with the mercury reaching the 75-degree mark, the historical pageant, "As The Wheels Turn," presented Saturday and Sunday afternoons as a feature of the celebration of the 50th anniversary of the coming of the Soo Line and the opening of the Eleven Towns to settlement in 1904, attracted a total attendance of nearly 7,000 persons. By far the greater number was present at Sunday's performance.

The pageant, an entertaining, colorful and instructive production, was presented under the direction of Harold Searls and his son Hal from a script written by Mrs. Searls Sr. The cast of more than 100 persons was assembled largely by members of the Woman's club, with a large group of men assisting in assembling the necessary properties.

The amphitheatre developed this summer and fall in the tourist park under the direction of the park department provided an ideal setting for the spectacle.

Those who attended the pageant Saturday got an extra dividend in the form of an address by Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay and his induction as an honorary member of the Red Lake band of Chippewa Indians. Mr. McKay was introduced by Judge Paul A. Lundgren.

Mr. Searls Sr. served as narrator for the pageant, describing the action as it proceeded, starting with the legend of the origin of the name Thief River in the days of the Indians. Next came the arrival in 1823 of Count Beltrami, Italian adventurer seeking the source of the Mississippi River.

The third episode showed Red River ox carts making their way toward St. Paul with loads of furs. The next section depicted the arrival of the first wagon train and the selection of a camp site along the river, followed by the first white wedding of white persons in the community.

The fifth episode recounted the story of the negotiations with the Indians for the transfer to the white people of a portion of the Red Lake reservation, with the Indians giving a feast dance to show their conformity.

The sixth episode told of the arrival of the first Soo Line train in this city in 1904 and the attendant celebration, including a lively square dance, while in the distance is heard the sound of the approaching train.

The pageant closed with the recessional, in which the members of the entire cast passed

418 Persons Share in Tribute to Soo Line at Banquet on Friday

A nostalgic mood prevailed among the 418 persons who attended the banquet last Friday evening in St. Bernards dining hall, arranged in tribute to the Soo Line on the occasion of the 50th anniversary of the coming of the railroad to Thief River Falls.

In attendance were approximately 100 retired veteran employes of the Soo Line from thruout the state and nation, in addition to a large number of present employes and members of the board of directors and other high officials of the Soo Line.

L. W. Rullen, who presided ably as toastmaster in charge of the program, presented the pioneer employes to the audience in a group, and singled out for special attention George W. Nicholson of Anoka and Wm. Roffis of Minneapolis, who had served respectively as conductor and fireman on the first train to enter this city on the Soo Line in September 1904.

G. Allan MacNamara, president of the Soo Line, introduced members of the board of directors, and E. A. Hamerski, division superintendent, presented visiting officials of the company.

Speaking for the Thief River Falls community, Robert J. Lund expressed the gratitude of local citizens to the Soo Line for its invaluable contribution to the advancement of this area. He said that when the Soo Line came to this city in 1904, it took up the slack resulting from the closing later on of the sawmill, until then the leading industry here. He added that Soo employes have been good citizens of this community, serving in a wide variety of civic activities.

Mr. Lund pointed out that this country was named in honor of Edmund Pennington, former president of the Soo Line, and he suggested that the company undertake to supply a portrait of Mr. Pennington to be hung in the new court house now under construction here.

Mr. MacNamara expressed the company's appreciation of the splendid tribute given it by community, thanking especially the Civic and Commerce association and its members, who had handled the arrangements.

He also praised the services rendered by the veteran employes of the system. More transportation progress, he declared has been made in the past 50 years than in all previous history, and at the same time competition with other modes of transportation has become much keener.

Mr. MacNamara said the Soo Line is rapidly completing its conversion from steam to Diesel locomotives, and that the board of directors, at its session here earlier in the day, had tentatively approved the purchase of 54 more Diesel units.

Over 150 Have Signed for Concert Series

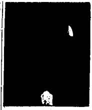
The board of directors of the Northwest Concert association announced this week that response to the new campaign procedures was much larger than expected. More than 150 memberships have been returned by the end of the second week of campaigning. Where the idea had been tried previously, fewer than 50 memberships had been returned in the same time period. Because of the response, the directors are hopeful that the system will be a complete success. If it is, a considerable saving of money can be used in bringing more programs to Thief River Falls.

In the past memberships in the association has been about 500 persons or fewer. The goal for this campaign was set at 700. If that goal is reached five programs can be provided this year, whereas only four has been the case in the past.

The campaign continues until October 8th, only. After that day membership applications cannot be accepted and no single admissions are ever sold. Memberships are being returned to Box 480 or accepted at three places in Thief River Falls.

Throughout the campaign each member is asked to assist in the choice of attractions by indicating favorites from the list of available artists. Eddy Ruhl, (pictured above) is among the top five favorites. He has been a favorite in Europe for many years and has only recently returned to the United States. One of his first appearances since his return was at the Miami Opera Company where critical acclaim was unusual. His personality and his voice are great favorites everywhere he goes.

Leader in the poll is Doc Evans and his Dixieland band with their "History of Jazz." Next in line is the Mannes Opera Company with "La Boheme" in English with a cast of 13, the Knickerbockers, a mixed quartet and the Harp Vocal quartet, an instrumental group.



EDDY RUHL

The returns from this poll of favorites usually changes during the campaign, however.
